Prominent North Pole Citizen Arrives

With a "Ho, Ho, Ho!" and a "Ha, Ha, Ha!" The Old Gentleman himself arrived in Victoria today, his cheerful grin and beaming face shiny through the drizzling rain which failed to dampen the excitement of hundreds of youngsters who mobbed him on city streets. Santa Claus will be in residence here until the Big Day comes, checking on the records of good little boys and girls, and listening to their requests for Christmas. He turned up first at 8.45 a.m., and at 11 a.m. visited City Hall, where he was introduced to Mayor Claude Harrison by Uncle Ed Farey. (The Mayor said Santa needed no introduction). Later, in his sleigh pulled by six reindeer, the jovial saint toured the city, with two small guests from Protestant Orphanage, nine-year-olds Skipper and Barbara. Good-behavior graph of boys and girls is rising rapidly. (Times Photo.)

Socred Sues Gregory Over Pemberton House

Langley Demands Inquiry; Marshal Denies Arson

Harry Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road, prominent district Social Crediter, has filed a writ in B.C. Supreme Court here charging "negligence" of the law firm of Clearihue and Gregory in the matter of disposal of property in which he had an interest.

The writ was delivered to Liberal by-election candidate George Gregory personally by Mr. Langley, 15 minutes after the court registry office closed Friday.

Joseph B. Clearihue, QC, former senior partner in the firm, is now a County Court judge.

The action is brought in connection with the sale of the Pemberton Estate, located at 617 Foul Bay Road, destroyed by fire March 25 this year.

In a statement delivered personally to the Times today, Mr. Langley also demanded an investigation into destruction of the Pemberton residence by the blaze.

MARSHAL QUERIED

Fire Marshal W. A. Walker of Vancouver today told the Times that the situation "does not warrant further inquiries."

In his statement, the Socred party member said he was not so much interested in "who actually set the fire, but who employed and instructed this man to do the job."

Loss of the house was unofficially estimated at $50,000.

"The police are informed who set this fire, which was described by the fire chief and fire marshal as deliberate arson," Mr. Langley charged.

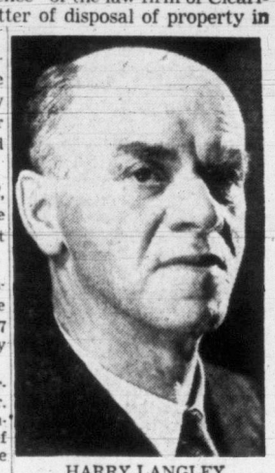
NO EVIDENCE

However, today the marshal said "there is nothing to indicate arson occurred there, but he (Harry Langley) keeps on pestering me."

He said an investigator from his department had come to Victoria and had "got all the facts." Mr. Walker said he could not go into details because his records were in his office and the affair happened so many months ago.

The marshal did say, however, that if Mr. Langley had any information about who started the blaze, he should "take it to the police."

Police Chief Blackstock, when told of the Langley statement, said "of course we don't know who set the blaze. If we did he'd be locked up."



HARRY LANGLEY
. . . sues Gregory

Gregory Replies

Mr. Gregory said when asked about the writ served him by Harry Langley:

1. Mr. Langley had a letter in the paper only yesterday supporting the Social Credit party.
2. I am the Liberal candidate in Tuesday's election.
3. Mr. Langley's claim relates to something that is supposed to have occurred in July, 1949.
4. Mr. Langley apparently could not find even a Social Credit lawyer who saw any merit in his case, for he issued the writ in person.
5. The writ was served on me by Mr. Langley personally yesterday 15 minutes after Court Registry closed for the week-end.
6. The public can decide whether Mr. Langley issued the writ to obtain justice or political advantage.

TRANSIT STRIKE TIES UP MONTREAL

Workers Hold 'Continuous Meeting'

MONTREAL (BUP) — Some 3,000 streetcar and bus drivers quit work today for a "continuous meeting" that tied up public transport for more than 1,000,000 persons on the busiest day of the year.

An official of the city-operated Montreal transportation commission said "there isn't a thing moving, and we don't know when we'll resume operations."

Meanwhile organizers of Montreal's annual Santa Claus parade decided today "the show must go on" regardless of a streetcar strike.

A spokesman for the T. Eaton Company department store announced that the parade, planned almost since the one last year ended, would be held regardless of a strike of streetcar and bus drivers that crippled public transportation in the city.

"WILDCAT"

The MTC called the tieup a wildcat walkout. However, members of the AFL Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees who have been negotiating for several months for a 10-cent hourly pay boost, said it was "simply a continuous meeting." They are forbidden to strike under Quebec law.

Montrealers who usually travel by streetcar or bus got to work by assorted methods. Most took taxis. Many teamed in car pools. Some firms announced over radio stations they had arranged for their trucks to pick up employees at designated places. Motorists turned good Samaritans for the day and picked up people hitching rides.

The strike was sparked by a dragged-out dispute over the union's demand for a 10 per cent general pay increase and shorter hours. The commission said that would cost $6,000,000 and it could not provide it without raising fares for the third time since the war. Tickets now are three for 30 cents, or 12 cents cash per ride.

Motormen and conductors now get basic pay of $1.41 an hour.

O'Brien Tells How Toronto Goes Crazy Over Grey Cup

Canadian football is taking the nation by storm and the goal of it all is the Grey Cup game, which takes place next Saturday in Toronto.

In Weekend Picture Magazine today, Andy O'Brien describes the fun and games behind this "pigskin Mardi Gras," as he calls it.

In today's installment of Winston Churchill's "Triumph and Tragedy," contained in Weekend, some of the human touches apart from the great strategy of the war years are described.

TWICE AS FAST AS SOUND

1,327 MPH Hit By U.S. Pilot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Research pilot Scott Crossfield power-dived the Douglas Skyrocket twice the speed of sound Friday, it was announced today. Crossfield attained a speed of 1,327 miles an hour which the national advisory committee for aeronautics said was actually 2.01 times the speed of sound. This is the fastest man has ever flown.

Only last week it was disclosed that Crossfield flew the Skyrocket 1,272 miles an hour Oct. 14 for a world speed record.

The previous mark was set by the same Skyrocket airplane, with Douglas test pilot William Bridgeman at the controls in Aug., 1951, with a speed of 1,238 miles an hour.

The record set Friday beats the previous mark by more than 50 miles an hour and is almost 100 miles an hour better than Bridgeman's mark.

The needle-nosed Skyrocket, now nine years old, also holds the world's altitude record of 83,235 feet, set by Marine Lt. Col. Marion Carl last Aug. 21.

Five Inches Of Late Snow Hits Prairies

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Prairie dwellers donned fur coats and snuggled under heavy quilts today as pelting snow took a stranglehold on Manitoba, while lashing blizzards boomed down from the Rockies.

Heavy snowflakes floated down from leaden skies to smother Manitoba and northwestern Ontario under more than five inches of snow early today. It was the first big snowfall listed west of the Lakehead this fall.

The weather office here said an intense cold air mass nudged along by swirling blizzards was moving up from the northwestern United States and would pounce on Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario tonight.

Colorado, Montana and southern Alberta shivered under 10 degree temperatures and were punished by whipping blizzards from the Rocky Mountains.

"The snow's coming down . . . at last," a local weatherman said." Its almost a month behind schedule, and indicates a very late spring."

Pearson Says Cabinet to Make Decision on Gouzenko Request

OTTAWA (BUP)—The second request of United States Senate investigators for permission to question Igor Gouzenko in connection with the Harry Dexter White case, was tossed today into the lap of the Canadian Cabinet for a decision.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said "everything" the former Russian cipher clerk had told of Soviet spying since he fled from the Russian Embassy here eight years ago "has been made available to United States authorities."

But he said the second request from the Jenner sub-committee on internal security for permission to interview Gouzenko would be "considered by me and my colleagues." He told a hastily called press conference that a reply would be sent to Washington "probably sometime next week."

Pearson's announcement was taken to mean that the case had been lifted out of the hands of the external affairs department for a review by the full cabinet. Pearson and Justice Minister Stuart Garson conferred on the matter this afternoon.

One such request has been rejected by Canada. Pearson warned reporters today against "speculating" on what the decision on the second request might be.

(A news story in the Chicago Tribune today quoted the former Soviet clerk as saying he could not understand "why United States officials could not come here to interview me. I believe I can give advice which, if properly put into effect, would have good chances of bringing the exposure of present Soviet spy rings in the United States in a comparatively short time.")

Pearson pointed out that Gouzenko is a Canadian citizen "with all the rights and privileges of a citizen." He can go where he wishes and talk to whomever he pleases, the minister said.

MONKEYS OUT OF SCIENTISTS

Prehistoric Piltdown Man Revealed as 40-Year Hoax

LONDON (UP)—The British Museum said today someone used the jawbone of an ape to make monkeys out of scientists.

Museum researchers said most of the skull of the Piltdown Man, long studied in world textbooks as a prehistoric specimen, is the "deliberately faked" jawbone of a chimpanzee or orangoutan.

"The hoax appears to have been so entirely unscrupulous and inexplicable as to find no parallel in the history of paleontological research," the researchers said.

The museum's spokesmen said the unknown pranksters planted the lower jawbone and canine tooth of a modern ape in the gravel pit at Piltdown, England, where parts of a thick, apparently human skull were found in 1912.

"I expect some changes will have to be made in the textbooks now," a museum spokesman said. "It is a major discovery."

Queen, Duke Dance On Eve of World Tour

LONDON (AP)—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh danced until 3 a.m. today in a final fling before their departure Monday night for a trip around the world.

With some 40 close friends, they celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary at a secretly-planned dance in the ballroom of Clarence House, their former home, now the residence of Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. Between dances, the party laughed at cabaret acts by stage stars Noel Coward and Peter Ustinov.

Then the royal couple went off to Windsor for a last visit with their children.

The Queen will leave the fogs of Britain Monday night for sunny southern islands and a trip around the world.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will be away six months on a trip designed to give thousands of her subjects a glimpse of their 27-year-old monarch. It will be the first time a British sovereign has made an around-the-world tour.

They leave London Monday night in the stratocruiser Canopus, piloted by Capt. Anthony Loraine. They will fly through the night via Gander, Nfld., to Bermuda, where they are due at 10 a.m. Tuesday. The next day they fly to Jamaica.

The Queen and the duke arrive in Australia Feb. 3 to spend two months.

Homebound, the sovereign will include in her tour war-famed Tobruk in Africa, Malta, Gibraltar and such tiny outposts as Aden.

30-Mile Trek Faces Man and Wife

Stricken with blood poisoning in her hands, Mrs. Gerry Wellard, wife of the West Coast Carmanagh lighthouse keeper, began a 30-mile trek on foot Friday over a rugged trail to Port Renfrew in order to receive medical assistance.

The woman is accompanied by her husband and is expected to reach Port Renfrew this evening.

Tom Morrison, department of transport agent, said the couple will have to cross canyons and ford swift moving rivers to get to their destination. "They will no doubt be exhausted by the time they get to Port Renfrew," he said.

Mrs. Wellard could not be taken out by boat because there are no harbors on that part of the coast.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

Ed Green — Cliff Briggs — Glen Sheane — Mrs. D. Jones — Roy Cameron — Mrs. J. Rowlands — John Palmer — Mrs. J. Ford

With campaigning in the provincial by-election here nearly over, the Times' weekly feature "What's Your Opinion?" today deals with views on the electioneering from the man and woman on the street. What is your opinion of the conduct of the campaign?

★ ★ ★

Ed Green, Del Monte Road, Hudson's Bay Company employee:

"It would have been a better campaign if there had been less mud slinging. We have an intelligent and informed public. They'd understand the issues if they were put to them properly. Resorting to mud slinging loses votes for candidates."

Cliff Briggs, 2705 Cook Street, Mc and Mc salesman:

"It's been a pretty smeary campaign and I'd just as soon not say who is responsible. I think the other parties should have been sportsmanlike and allowed Mr. Gunderson the seat by acclamation. The by-election has put the people to a lot of unnecessary expense."

Glen Sheane, 135 Bushby Street, engraver, Flynn's Engraving:

"I think the campaign has been about normal. They all get a little hot. The Socreds and the Liberals are making a good fight out of it. They seem to be the only ones really in it. I'm not concerned about the campaign's conduct."

Mrs. Doris Jones, 855 Phoenix Avenue:

"The campaign has been dirtier than usual with altogether too much mud-slinging. They're just pulling each other apart. The people don't want this sort of campaign. The candidates should stick to the issues so the people can vote intelligently next Tuesday."

Roy Cameron, 508 Cecelia Street, retired:

"My ears and head are aching from listening to all that election talk on the radio. There's been a lot of hot air. I wouldn't say the campaign has been so dirty, but it's been more intense than usual. I'm glad I'm not a candidate taking all that abuse."

Mrs. James Rowlands, 2981 Qu'Appelle Street:

"I think it's been a fair campaign. They always get a little heated as election days get close. I think that's to be expected. I'm not alarmed about the conduct of the campaign. It seems fair."

John Palmer, 1221 Lyall Street:

"No, this isn't a dirty campaign. It's a good lively one. It's good to see. We should feel fortunate we live in a country where campaigns like this are held. It's a political game and it's fought right to the end. What's wrong with that?

Mrs. Jan Ford, housewife, 128 Hampshire Road:

"I wish it was all over. There's been too much mud-slinging for my liking. Why don't they stick to the issues? That's what people want to hear about. They should realize that's what the voters want to know about."

Farmer's Parliament Convenes on Monday

Alex M. Shaw Will Preside for 15th Time At Federal-Provincial Agriculture Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—Silver-haired Alex M. Shaw, one of Canada's greatest agricultural authorities, has been selected for his 15th term as speaker of the farmer's "parliament."

The 68-year-old soft-spoken farm expert Monday will preside at the annual federal-provincial agricultural conference.

Mr. Shaw rose from a Woodburn, Ont., farm boy to dean of the faculty of agriculture in the University of Saskatchewan and chairman of the federal agricultural prices-support board.

He will direct debate as provincial agriculture ministers examine policies affecting the lives and production of Canada's rural folk. At his side will be Agriculture Minister Gardiner and an army of economists and statisticians.

There have been suggestions that a storm may brew at the three-day session, but Mr. Shaw doesn't agree.

"The year has been pretty good for Canadian agriculture. I believe 1954 will also be good. There have been problems, to be sure, but they are mostly external problems — something over which we have litle control. It will take time, but we will gradually work them out."

AGRICULTURAL CAREER

Along with his support board duties, Mr. Shaw is also chairman of the royal commission investigating agricultural possibilities in Newfoundland.

Starting his agricultural career as an agent for the Great Northern Railway, he later turned to the University of Saskatchewan, where he became professor of animal husbandry, superintendent of the university farm and, a quarter-century later, dean of the agriculture faculty.

In 1935, after four years as dean, he became commissioner of the newly-created Canadian wheat board. In that year the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturalists, now the Agricultural Institute of Canada, made him its president.

Two years later he took over the development of a national marketing program for the federal agriculture department, becoming director of marketing at Ottawa. He became chairman of the prices-support board three years ago.

NIGHT-DRIVING GLOVES USED IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new gadget for motorists—reflector-type gloves — has been given the blessing of Vancouver traffic superintendent Gordon Ambrose.

Motorist Bill Rose suggested use of the gloves, made by putting strips of reflector tape on the back of ordinary gloves, to make hand signals clear at night. PS—It works.

B.C. Indian Gets 12-Year Sentence For Manslaughter

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Francis Joe Basil, 21-year-old Indian of the Douglas Lake tribe, was sentenced Friday to 12 years in penitentiary by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood, following conviction of manslaughter in the killing of Chung Fook Sing at Nicola last July 5.

Defense counsel T. G. Bowen-Colthurst said he would appeal the sentence.

Basil was charged with the murder of the aged Chinese along with Johnny Sampson, 45-year-old Indian of the Coldwater tribe. Sampson was acquitted.

Evidence at the trial showed that the Chinese was murdered with an axe.

After Hall and Mrs. Heady had been sentenced to die in the gas chamber on Dec. 18, Mrs. Greenlease declared: "There isn't any form of death that can begin to compare with the suffering my husband and I have endured since Bobby was taken, much less what Bobby endured." Her husband said: "Death is too good for them, but that's all that the law provides." (NEA Photo.)

Socred Debt Claims False, Sun Declares

(Special)

VANCOUVER—The Vancouver Sun devoted its leading editorial today to the dispute which has been raging over the claims about reductions in British Columbia's debt.

The editorial reads as follows:

Here are the real facts about B.C.'s debt.

Premier Bennett's administration is falsely claiming credit for reducing British Columbia's debt by $34,000,000.

Ex-Premier Johnson is vindicated in his protest against his successor's misrepresentation.

Because the public was bewildered by partisan name-calling over this issue, the Vancouver Sun submitted all available data to a prominent local financial institution of unimpeachable impartiality.

To this firm the Sun was just another client with a financial problem.

The Sun asked for an analysis of B.C.'s debt position. Our only stipulation was that the final report should be in a condensed form that anyone without a chartered accountant's training could understand. The figures must speak for themselves. They do and here they are:

Socreds came into power Aug. 1, 1952.

Reduction in net debt:
Net debt, Feb. 15, 1952—$191,100,000
Net debt, June 30, 1953—$157,000,000.
Reduction—$34,100,000.
Where it came from:

(A) Payments made December 15, 1952, allocated by statute and provided for in previous government's budget. Therefore this money could not have been used for any other purpose—$5,000,000.

(B) Payments made from April 1, 1952 to October 15, 1952, and provided for in Liberal budget (all but $200,000 of this amount was actually paid while Liberals still in office)—$2,900,000

(C) Payments made on July 1, 1952, while Liberals still in office—$700,000.

(D) Payments made from February 21, 1952, to November 25, 1952, out of funds allocated by previous government out of amusement tax. Over half of this amount was actually paid while Liberals still in office—$2,100,000.

(E) Payments made up to August 1, 1952, out of surplus and while Liberals still in office—$10,900,000.

(F) Payments made up from August 1, 1952, to December 31, 1952, out of surplus arising from Liberal budget of 1952-53—$7,900,000.

(G) Apparent net payments made by Socreds since January, 1953, some at least of which would have been paid out of funds provided by Liberal budget for 1952-53—$4,600,000.

Total—$34,100,000.

(Note: All of above figures to nearest $100,000.)

The Sun believes that this analysis disposes of the mystery. Any reader using simple arithmetic can reduce the exaggerated Social Credit boasts to proper proportions.

And readers may judge the deceitfulness of implying that Socred economy or efficiency caused the debt decline.

Premier Bennett's charge that Premier Johnson would have borrowed another $28 million—and Mr. Johnson's denial—have no bearing on the dispute. Even if Mr. Johnson had borrowed such a sum he would presumably have the cash to show for it or assets to correspond with the amounts spent.

The conclusion from this investigation must be that there's no magic in debt reduction as such. Any government can do it by collecting more taxes than it spends. And no government with a regard for truth should pose as wonder-workers on the assumption that the public is too ignorant or too poorly served to learn the real facts.

'Englishman' Best Budgie In City Show

The bird competed against 200 prized budgerigars owned by bird fanciers from all parts of British Columbia. The budgie's owner will be presented with the Brock Trophy at the presentation of prizes tonight at 9.

Other prize-winners at the show are: Mrs. Margott Bowden, best opposite; W. D. Davies, best novice; Mrs. M. Bowden, best breeder, 1953; J. R. Lucey of Vancouver, best opposite; Jack Easton, best green; Vern Davidson, best blue; Mrs. M. Bowden, best violet; Mrs. L. Eastman, best opaline; George Willox, best buttercup and best red eye; Mrs. M. Bowden, best yellow face; B. Morgan, best clear wing; Vern Davidson, best any other variety, and Laura Lee Mallek, best pet.

The show is open to the public.

The offense of making false statements to receive national unemployment benefits resulted in a fine of $15 being imposed against Elsie Piper, 4059 Saanich Road, when she appeared in city police court Friday. She pleaded guilty. A. C. D. King, counsel for the Unemployment Insurance Department, told Magistrate H. C. Hall that the accused received the benefits while working as a part-time waitress.

COLDWELL WANTS

$10,000 House For $33.20 Per Month

TORONTO (BUP) — The CCF has a plan that would allow a Canadian to buy a $10,000 house by paying $33.20 a month over a 30-year amortization period, National Leader M. J. Coldwell said Friday night.

He told the Ontario provincial CCF convention that the program called for 10 per cent down payments, two per cent interest on mortgages and 30 years to pay them off.

"The CCF believes that the housing needs of the Canadian people can only be met by reducing interest rates to two per cent and by having Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation solely responsible for the issuing of these loans," Coldwell said.

He said a special fund should be set up for this purpose and money from the fund made available in rural as well as urban areas.

"The Canadian government should increase loans from 80 per cent to 90 per cent of the lending value of the housing project," he said. "This would mean a 10 per cent down payment instead of the 20 per cent demanded under the present housing set-up.

"The expert advice of housing authorities who acclaim the need for extending the amortization period to at least 30 years should be followed."

Coldwell said that if the down payment were reduced the amortization period lengthened, the interest rate should be reduced at the same time.

"In addition," he said, "rental subsidy funds should be inaugurated on condition that only municipal or public housing authorities should receive the subsidy.

"This subsidy would permit a sharp reduction in the present high rents so that low-income dwellers, who cannot afford homes even under the most favorable conditions, would benefit."

Long Service Medals For 128 Mounties

OTTAWA (BUP) — Coronation and long-service medals were presented today to 128 Mounties, ex-Mounties and other persons connected with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson made the presentations in a ceremony at Rockcliffe barracks.

Other officers are S. Bayliss, vice-president; B. Zelzick, financial secretary; Mrs. M. Grainger, recording secretary; F. Adderley, treasurer; B. C. Nickel, educational chairman; J. Grealy, grievance chairman.

Barley Pool Payments Commence on Monday

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian wheat board said today distribution of the final payment on the 1952-53 barley pool to western farmers will start Monday.

All cheques are expected to be in the mail by Dec. 10 in payment of 21,408,000 for 164,886,000 bushels of barley during the crop year ended July 31, 1953. The average final payment is about 13 cents a bushel.

Jail Break Ups Sentence From 2 Weeks to 2 Years

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Four men who made a bold but short-lived break for freedom from the provincial jail here Monday were given further prison sentences Friday.

Delore Gallant, 28, who had already served one week of a two-week sentence for vagrancy when he escaped, was sentenced to two years on charges of assault to prevent lawful detention and unlawfully escaping jail.

The stiffest sentence was handed out to John Hugh Mitchell, 21, who received a total of 2½ years on convictions on the same two charges and forcible seizure of a guard.

Darwin Lavern Sutherland, 21, who is being held on a murder charge, was sentenced to 1½ years for his part in the escape and Lionel Kenneth Martin, 19, received the same term.

The four were recaptured in brush near the highway 18 miles south of Nelson less than three hours after their escape.

5,000 TRAIN WHISTLES WILL CALL FOR RAISE

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese railroad engineers want a raise in pay so badly that they just have to let off a little steam.

They decided to do it all together at noon next Wednesday. They will blow the whistle of 5,000 locomotives for one full minute.

The National Railway Workers' Union said this will cost the government the equivalent of $1,500.

Allies Accuse Reds Of Holding Back PWs

Communists Warned to Turn Over Immediately 'All Those Prisoners They Still Retain'

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies today accused the Communists of holding back some prisoners of war and told the Reds to turn over to Indian custody immediately "all those PWs you still retain."

Maj.-Gen. J. K. Lacey told Communist members of the Military Armistice Commission that three Korean soldiers who sought refuge at an American sentry box Thursday were South Korean war captives who had been forced into the Red army.

The Communists asked for a recess to study Lacey's statement.

The chief Allied member of the armistice commission told reporters that the Korean soldiers provided evidence that the Communists "have forcibly retained prisoners after they had certified that all prisoners had been turned over to the NNRC (Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.)"

Lacey also told the Communists to "cease delays" and get on with the job of interviewing Chinese and Korean war prisoners who have refused to go home.

EFFORTS CONTINUE

Only about 3 per cent of the approximately 2,500 prisoners interviewed so far have elected to return to Communist rule.

Meanwhile, Allied and Communist diplomats continued efforts to arrange a Korean peace conference — without apparent progress.

United States envoy Arthur H. Dean accused the Reds of delaying and making a farce of the preliminary negotiations.

Dean rejected a Red suggestion that neutral powers attend the peace conference to regulate the debate of belligerents. He said the suggestion was merely a Communist effort to manoeuvre Soviet Russia into a position where it could dominate the conference.

WEEPY MOSSADEGH HAS A LAUGH

TEHRAN (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, facing an army court-martial on treason charges, laughed aside a prosecution suggestion today that he confess alleged past misdeeds.

"I hope this man one day will rise and confess," Prosecutor Hussein Azemodeh told the court. The 73-year-old Mossadegh laughed scornfully and replied "Oh, yes."

"If you stand up and confess to your past deeds, the first person to stand up and sacrifice himself for you will be me," the prosecutor declared.

Mossadegh's reply was an ironic "God help you."

Seattle Man, Wife Found Shot to Death

SEATTLE (AP) — A Lake City couple was shot to death Friday in the family home north of the Seattle city limits.

Police identified the pair as Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams. Mrs. Williams was dead when relatives broke into the home late Friday after getting no answer to phone calls. Williams, still alive, died before arrival at the hospital.

Both were about 40 years old.

A shotgun was found in the bathroom and a revolver on the floor of the bedroom where both were found.

Socred Heavies Take All Comers In Monday Debate

Candidates in the November 24 Victoria by-election are resting this week-end for the final assault on the electorate which will come at general debate of all major parties at the Royal Theatre Monday night.

The meeting, originally planned as a Socred rally, will be turned over, partially at least, to a debate on the government's record under the impartial chairmanship of George Wheaton, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Government debaters are expected to be Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Socred candidate in the contest.

They will be lined up against Liberal George F. Gregory, CCF-er Alfred Matthews, and Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson. LPP (Communist) Mrs. Doris Blakey hasn't received an invitation.

A big rush for seats in the theatre is anticipated by supporters of the different parties.

After the debate, the candidates can only look back on a pretty rough campaign and wait for the voters' decision Tuesday.

Voting will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. under the single choice system of casting ballots.

Returning Officer Alan Macfarlane hopes to name the winner by 9.30 or 10 p.m.

Observers are expecting a heavier turnout of voters than they did two weeks ago. The reason is the additional interest caused by the lively campaign, probably the most spirited by-election campaign in B.C. for years.

More than 32,000 Victorians are eligible to vote. In the last general election 22,500 went to the polls.

Here's a summary of how the first choices went in the June election, averaged over the three Victoria seats:

Social Credit, 8,926 (39.6 per cent); Liberals, 6,824 (30.5 per cent); CCF, 5,024 (22.3 per cent); Progressive Conservative, 1,240 (5.5 per cent); others, 476 (2.2 per cent).

Japan Asked Not to Flood Canadian Mart

OTTAWA (BUP)—Japan is being asked to sign a "gentleman's agreement" not to flood the Canadian market with dumped or inferior-quality goods as a condition to a trade treaty, government sources disclosed today.

The new Japan-Canada trade treaty already has been drafted and is ready for signing, the informants said.

Canada, however, has delayed ratification until Japan accepts an undertaking that the concessions received under its new trade pact will not be used to compete unfairly with Canadian industry.

Canadian authorities are particularly concerned about the textile, electrical appliances, toy, pottery and photographic industries.

As an example of what the government has in mind, a high source mentioned a household electric iron which the Canadian appliances industry puts on the market at around $12. Japan was said to be ready with a similar article at $2.50.

SPECULATION

Did King Write FBI About White

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's link with the Harry Dexter White case in the United States has taken a new twist with speculation that the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King was the "highly-placed" Canadian who questioned White's reliability.

This speculation in U.S. newspapers appeared as it was made known that the Canadian ambassador in Washington expressed to the United States his country's surprise that confidential files mentioning the "highly-placed" Canadian were made public during the controversy over White, accused of being a Communist spy.

Mr. King's name was brought into the case Friday by Isaac Don Levine in an article written for the Scripps-Howard newspapers. He wrote:

"Was President Truman informed by Canada's Prime Minister Mackenzie King almost six weeks before J. Edgar Hoover's first letter to the White House of the crucial fact that a Soviet spy ring with which Harry Dexter White was identified was operating in the inner councils of the United States government?

"This question may well provide the next sensational development in the White controversy."

The story also said: "It is for Mr. Hoover to disclose whether his Canadian source was Mr. Mackenzie King. All the signs point to that fact. . ."

'Smaze' Fazes Dismayed N.Y. Millions

NEW YORK (UP)—Millions of coughing, squinting New Yorkers watched the sun poke weakly through a shroud of smoke and chemical fumes today and resigned themselves to at least one more day of a new-fangled nightmare called "smaze."

Due to a freak standstill in air masses, the polluted cloud has been growing thicker for five days. The weather bureau said today no relief was in sight at least until Sunday.

The condition, a combination of low-lying smoke and haze, was called "smaze" rather than the more familiar "smog." The weather bureau said there had not been any fog in the murky envelope, but rising humidity during the night indicated that the city may get a combination of smog and smaze later today.

Families were improvising dust masks to protect their throats and nasal passages from the noxious fumes. Many cases of nausea were reported and eye-smarting was common. Health officials said, however, no serious illness or death had resulted and probably would not.

STORES MAY KEEP LATE HOURS IN CHRISTMAS RUSH PERIOD

Extra hours of work in retail stores are permitted at Christmas under a special regulation passed by the Board of Industrial Relations.

It allows stores to work their employees two hours extra on each of two days during the Christmas rush.

Workers, however, will have to be paid overtime for the hours worked over their normal eight-hour shifts.

The regulation means stores won't be forced to operate staggered shifts to stay open the additional time.

U.K. Confirms Support Of European Army

Britain Backs Up French Premier Bidault's Announcement; Refuses Troop Commitments

LONDON — The British Foreign Office said today that Britain will tie itself by a formal treaty, to the European defense community. But Britain will resist French efforts, at the forthcoming Bermuda Big-Three conference, to pledge indefinite maintenance of British troops in Europe.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who Friday made a ringing demand in the French national assembly for French approval of the European Army Pact, said he will press at Bermuda for "precise assurances" from both Britain and United States.

The French want U.S. and British troops to remain in Europe as a guarantee that a rearmed West Germany won't attempt to secede from the EDC and make its rearmed forces an independent national army.

A British Foreign Office spokesman confirmed Bidault's announcement that Britain has agreed to a treaty of "close association with the EDC without joining it."

But he said Britain cannot commit herself to maintain troops on the continent at any specified level for an indefinite period.

Government spokesmen emphasized, however, that Britain, which maintains large forces in Europe at present, "has no intention of withdrawing them in the foreseeable future."

The United States also has reassured member nations of the EDC that it has no present intention to sharply reduce or withdraw its forces on the continent.

GOUZENKO CASE

"Of course if he comes out into the open it would prejudice the special security arrangements that have been made for his own protection," Pearson said. "I am not trying to use that as a threat. This man's anonymity has been carefully preserved by special arrangements by this government for a long time.

"Nothing that we've received from him has been ignored and there's nothing that hasn't been made available to the United States."

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram today prints the following statement from Igor Gouzenko, the former Russian embassy clerk, now the centre of controversy regarding his giving evidenec to United States congressional committees:

I read in the official report of the House of Commons debates of Nov. 17 of the Hon. L. B. Pearson regarding my interview to Mr. Griffin of the Chicago Tribune. I read, too, the original story of Mr. Griffin in the Chicago Tribune. I must say that Mr. Griffin did not misquoteme.

It is clear from the interview that if Sen. McCarthy or Sen. Jenner thought that I might help them, I would be glad to see either of them and that I thought a talk with them would be worthwhile. I still think so.

I also stressed that such a meeting should take place in Canada for security reasons. That was also accurately reported by Mr. Griffin. On no occasion did I ever say that I had new information which I did not already give to he Canadian government, and Mr. Griffin did not say that I had.

I can add that I cannot see the reasons why United States officials could not come here and interview me. Anything that might be of help to a friendly nation to clean up the common enemy conspiracy must never be obstructed.

Arabs Want More 'Teeth' in Allied Censure of Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Arab bloc today worked over plans to get more teeth into a proposed Big Three resolution in the United Nations censuring Israel for the recent killing of 53 Jordan border villagers.

Backed by Lebanon and Pakistan in the Security Council, Jordan spokesmen expressed complete dissatisfaction with the Western resolution. They assailed it as too weak, and because it did not demand Israeli compensation for the loss of Arab life and property in the Oct. 14-15 raid on Kibya village.

The United States, Britain and France have asked the 11-member council to vote the "strongest censure" of Israel for the attack, which the Jewish state maintains was in retaliation for a long series of Arab provocations.

The Big Three resolution asks for Israeli guarantees against future assaults and calls for reinforcement of the UN truce observer team watching over the tense Arab-Jewish borders.

Israel also has voiced bitter opposition to the Western resolution as "one-sided and discriminatory."

NOTICE

TO THE TRANSIT-RIDING PUBLIC

FROM YOUR BUS OPERATOR

Due to insufficient co-operation on the part of those with the necessary authority to clear up the problem of bus loading zones becoming crowded with private automobiles and commercial trucks, this Union is instructing its members, effective Monday, November 23, to take the following procedure: When the curb zone is occupied by unauthorized vehicles, leaving no parking space, the bus will proceed along the route to the next bus loading zone without stopping. Courteous explanation will be given to passengers with regard to why they are being overcarried or passed up.

The loading zones, which theoretically are for the sole use of buses and the riding public, are often crowded leaving little and sometimes no space to take care of the number of buses on various routes which are scheduled through one street at the same time. (This condition nullifies to a great extent the desirability of curb loading of buses as opposed to road centre loading of street cars, which was considered an improvement at the time of conversion of our transit system from rail to rubber).

In our efforts to accommodate those who depend on the city transit system, we have often been forced to double-park buses and carry on with loading and unloading in traffic lanes, to the disapproval of City Police. As a group of professional drivers holding Class "A" Licenses, we are opposed to acting contrary to traffic regulations in this way.

We strongly feel that double-parking should not be practised by drivers of vehicles carrying human beings, particularly older persons and little children. It is obvious that the situation lends itself to the creation of an accident, possibly a fatal one, with the subsequent heartbreak to the family of the injured person not to mention the lawsuit, which might involve the driver and the company.

Our problem has been dealt with at several meetings with B.C. Electric officials and with the Public Works Committee of the City Council at which the Police Dept. was represented. The outcome of these meetings provided only for further parking areas designated as truck loading zones. These are also becoming crowded, often forcing truck drivers into bus zones.

Because no further action is in sight for correcting the conditions described, and due to the factors and hazards involved, the above action has become imperative. We regret any inconvenience which may result.

Who Shall Represent Victoria?

MORE THAN HALF OF THE voters of Victoria, we believe, are opposed to the policies, especially the high-tax policies of the Bennett Government. If this be true, the practical question in the forthcoming by-election is how a majority opinion can register its opposition to the Government.

Before calling the by-election Mr. Bennett made as sure as possible that the anti-Government vote would be split. Without public mandate, with the admission that he did not personally believe in the change, he abolished the alternative vote because he knew it probably would defeat Mr. Gunderson in Victoria as it had defeated him in Oak Bay. Now he hopes that Mr. Gunderson can be elected on a minority of the total votes.

That could easily happen if the people split their votes as Mr. Bennett doubtless expects. If opposition to the Government is to succeed the voters must concentrate their ballots behind one opposition candidate or another. Which candidate is it to be? That is the practical question.

Looking at the list on the ballot, the voter will observe in the first place that Mr. Gunderson, the minister of finance, is not a Victorian or, except by brief residence of a few years, a British Columbian. He is a recent import from Alberta. The Government says he is an able financier. That may be so but has yet to be proved. So far his abilities have been expressed only in a sharp increase in taxes and the use of a former government's revenues to reduce the provincial debt.

But even if Mr. Gunderson, so far untested, should turn out in due time to be an able finance minister would he make a satisfactory representative of this city in the Legislature—a man who can know little of Victoria's affairs, history, character or desires? A man, moreover, who cannot escape for a moment, by any kind of double-talk and equivocation, full responsibility for all the Social Credit theories of inflationary finance which no sound finance minister in his senses could possibly approve.

Then there is Mr. Alfred Matthews of the CCF, doubtless a sincere young man but totally inexperienced in politics and, in fact, hardly a serious candidate. The CCF has not won a seat in Victoria in recent times and cannot expect to win now. A vote for Mr. Matthews is a vote wasted so far as the opposition is concerned. It is, in its actual result, a vote for Mr. Gunderson.

The same facts apply exactly to Mr. Finlayson, the Conservative candidate. He is not even a resident of Victoria, he has never been elected to provincial office, he can know little of politics and he is running not in hopes of election but solely to keep his party's banner flying. A vote for him also will be wasted and will only help Mr. Gunderson.

The Communist candidate, Mrs. Doris Blakey, will not be a significant factor, and runs only for the propaganda purposes of world communism.

That leaves the Liberal candidate, Mr. Gregory. He is a Victorian by birth, education and professional experience, a decorated naval war veteran, quite as distinguished in his profession of the law as Mr. Gunderson in finance, and a young man of singular capacity. Certainly he would make an admirable representative of the city in which he has always lived, except during war service, and his family before him.

Above all, he represents the only opposition party with substantial strength in Victoria, as recent elections have proved. He is the only candidate who has any chance to beat Mr. Gunderson and to rebuke the Government for its policies. If the people of Victoria are opposed to the Government it is only through Mr. Gregory that they can make their opposition tell.

Mr. Bennett assumes that the electors will splinter their votes and let his candidate in. It is is to be hoped that he has underestimated their intelligence.

Mr. St. Laurent's Warning

ABOUT A YEAR AGO, IN VICtoria, Mr. St. Laurent said that if the Western world refused to trade with Japan, that nation would be compelled to make its living in the Communist world, with all that involved economically, politically and militarily.

When he spoke it Mr. St. Laurent's warning may have appeared academic. It is so no longer. A few days ago a group of Japanese Diet members negotiated a trade agreement with Communist China by which the two nations will each sell $85 millions worth of goods to the other.

This, no doubt, is only the beginning. Other deals of the same sort may be expected to follow if Japan cannot find a market for its goods in the free nations, for it must export and import in large volume or starve on its crowded islands.

Knowing these facts, Mr. St. Laurent undertook to negotiate an agreement by which Canada's trade with Japan would be expanded, for the benefit not only of Japan but of Canada's export industries. The wisdom of his policy, now under negotiation is confirmed by the latest events in Japan.

Setting the Record Straight

A SOMEWHAT IRRELEVANT and pointless aspect of the current by-election — Mr. Gunderson's record of military service—has been brought forward prominently by Premier Bennett, who introduced the subject into a political meeting at Norway House Wednesday evening. The Premier is quoted:

"I would like to say that Mr. Gunderson served in the First World War as a volunteer."

Just to put the matter to rights once and for all, let us examine the official Canadian Parliamentary Guide for 1953, wherein members list biographical details. On page 465 may be found the following statement:

"Enlisted in R.A.F. in 1918 but saw no active service."

It will be noted that, at the time of the outbreak of First World War, Mr. Gunderson was precisely 15 years old. Clearly, he is one of the "in-between" generation which was too young for service in First World War and too old for service in the Second World War.

As Our Readers See It

HAS ANYONE A PIANO?

The Gorge-Vale Boy Scouts and Cubs, together with the parents group, are a very active group. When they are not out raising money to buy camp or sporting equipment or to help send lads to a far-off jamboree, they turn their efforts to painting, sanding and decorating their scout hall and headquarters house—a job just finished and regarded with justifiable pride.

Yet we need something to add to its completeness—we need a piano, rather badly, too. It need not be anything elaborate, and perhaps it will be badly in need of tuning, if so, it will be remedied. But alas! we have little money to offer for such. In fact, the instrument as a gift would be an ideal solution to our problem. Perhaps, we thought, in one of the countless homes of this beautiful and generous city, there lies, alone, silent and remote, the very piano that will add musical entertainment to physical recreation for our boys.

BATTING FOR CASEY

The baiting of Reeve Casey in the Saanich Council Chamber savors of MacCarthyism, and is unworthy of consideration by any decent thinking ratepayer.

Mr. Casey had sufficient initiative and insight to recognize that special work caused by the strike of last summer had to be paid for in cash and not by "time off." The council authorized the overtime and in authorizing it they inadvertently authorized payment, even if they were remiss to the extent of not entering that authorization in the minutes of that particular council meeting.

Reeve Casey, and all ratepayers were strongly opposed to this undemocratic strike by employees of the municipality—a strike possibly fomented within the council chamber. Since the majority of the council agreed to recognize the strike, the reeve acted accordingly and certainly his actions were not without precedent, thus deserving approbation, not criticism.

D. S. MORRISON.

930 McKenzie Avenue.

IMPROVING HIS RECORD

It is indeed gratifying to note that the iniquitous charges against Saanich reeve, Joseph Casey, were as ridiculous as they were fantastic.

The people of Saanich realize, of course, that the charges were laid as a clumsy effort to belittle the integrity of Mr. Casey and thus set up a smoke screen to conceal the evident shortcomings of those who laid the charges.

However, the action of those men served only to emphasize the courage and ability of Mr. Casey and to draw attention to his very enviable record as reeve of Saanich.

On the other hand, Mr. Casey's opponents have inadvertently exposed themselves as being completely incapable of serving the municipality in any capacity and have, thereby, performed a service to those who will be casting their ballots in Saanich in December.

The re-election of Mr. Joseph Casey as reeve, and the election of other sound, sensible men to serve with him on the council will insure continuance of the remarkable progress Saanich has enjoyed under Reeve Casey.

J. S. WOODSWORTH

At some time in the past I have said that in my opinion Bruce Hutchison is at his best when he talks about nature. His column "The Saint in Politics" is also to be highly commended.

I have heard J. S. Woodsworth many a time since the birth of the CCF addressing meetings and over the radio. I also have a letter from him, which I cherish, with some from a few others, as a precious possession.

What impressed me most was that he never used these opportunities to address the public to make propaganda for what I and many others can only call superstition, though he had been a preacher himself.

It is a pity that the price of his biography, $4.50, is far beyond the means of the large minority who have to exist on a small fixed income, though the wage-earner in general should well be able to buy same.

Where Bruce Hutchison's tribute to this outstanding man has come some 10 years after Woodsworth left us, so it may well be with others, whose influence on mankind as a whole may even be greater.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

An Ancient Case of Libel

IF our courts are not too busy they might usefully deal with an ancient case of libel. I mean the libel against November.

Hutchison

Of all the twelve months, I suppose, November has the worst reputation. It has suffered, like some politicians, here and elsewhere, from a general smear. It lacks the last autumn foliage and garish dress of October, a gay bankrupt. It does not provide the pagan feasts and carnal celebrations of December, its successor. November, in short, is a grim character in a suit of misty grey, but he knows his business and goes ahead with it, careless of his slanderers.

THE business of November, though few people seem to realize it, is to get things under way for the new year, as dates are reckoned on man's unreliable calendar. November is the humble day laborer and foundation builder, who receives no credit for the finished structure. For in November, when man is too busy with the first intimations of Christmas to notice it, the new year already has begun.

According to the calendar, the new year is still some seven weeks off, but no man in his senses pays any attention to the calendar—that is in his natural senses. The trouble with civilized man is that he has usually lost his natural senses, cannot smell, feel or see the seasons and must be guided by some figures on the wall, a pad, changed daily by a secretary, on his desk. The few natural men still left hereabouts are deceived neither by the calendar nor by the superficial outside of November. They look deeper.

SUPERFICIALLY, I admit, November doesn't look much good to the ordinary eye. Only the eye of the artist or the architect is likely to perceive its splendor.

To the artist November is a glorious nude, lovelier in design, proportion and color than the pale conventional human sort. All the gaudy garments of summer and autumn have quietly disappeared, the rubber girdles, padding and paint have been removed and the noble, lavish figure of an oak tree, the delicate limbs and fine tracery of maple and dogwood stand out naked, clean and virginal against the sky.

ONLY the artist, perhaps, can appreciate this highest form of beauty; when nature takes off her outer clothes at the very moment when humans are putting on overcoats or the furs of other animals—the beauty of line, curve and simplicity without ornament or deception.

And what architect could duplicate, even in the arch and groining of a Gothic cathedral, the intricate simplicity, the wayward and yet always symmetrical and perfectly balanced architecture of a tree in its passionless nudity, its virtuous surrender to the cold touch of winter?

THE gardener, not being an artist or architect, must look elsewhere for the secret of November. He grasps it, as always, on his knees, within the earth. There he finds that nature, having paused in its upper growth, has suddenly busied itself in the lower. The trees are naked and at rest, the leaves dead and already in decay. But this is only half, the lesser half, of vegetable life. The larger half below the surface, the mighty, complex and untiring system of roots, toils ceaselessly, gathering the chemicals which will issue shortly in foliage and flower.

Only the gardener can see this labor in November. As he pursues his humble task while other men are cowering in steam-heated caves, heating themselves internally for the profits of the government and somehow preparing themselves for the onslaught of Christmas, the gardener, with cold fingers, is gathering up the last leaves, cutting down the last perennials and immersing himself in the icy soil.

There he stumbles one day upon the first intimations of the new year, which already is under way. The reward of his dumb search is a frail green spear, thrust up by a daring snowdrop bulb, or the first timorous tip of a daffodil, mocking at the calendar, the frost and all the artificial arrangements of man.

These living things know November for they are its children. They laugh at November's fierce winds, his gruff parental voice and freezing touch. They see him for what he is, the father of the spring, like all fathers the provider, the breadwinner and secret toiler, who gets no credit and is soon forgotten, disregarded and forever libeled.

Speaking of Politics

'SMEAR'

Once again the Premier, Mr. Bennett, has issued an outcry against the Liberals and the unfair press and loudly threatens to create a newspaper to his own liking.

Apparently any newspaper, party or persons opposing the Premier and his political machine are diabolically evil to him. Fortunately, for him and for us we have a free press in Canada. The word "smear" seems to be his favorite cry when he is criticised by others. Of course the public is ordered to believe all the smears and other political propaganda put out by the Premier and his Social Credit party. After all, these self-styled Christians claim a monopoly of gospel truth!

The Socred newspaper ads are solemnly warning the voters of Victoria not to be misled by the Liberal political machine. Whether Mr. Bennett or the people realize it or not, we have, in this province, one of the most dangerous party machines ever known; that is the Social Credit party.

This offensive, arrogant, self-appointed and sanctimonious party machine should be taught a lesson in ordinary common political decency.

DISGUSTED.

WHO SHOULD APOLOGIZE?

Mr. Bennett has inferred that myself and others have questioned the service record of Mr. Gunderson.

Mr. Bennett is simply trying to draw a red herring across the trail.

I and others have not by implication or statement said, inferred, or written anything in that connection.

If Mr. Bennett thinks he is entitled to an apology from me for my press letter re his absense from the cenotaph (when in the city) and his substituting of Mr. Gunderson he should ask for an apology from the press for their articles on the matter and from others who have openly expressed themselves is no uncertain terms.

The reasons for the many criticisms are of course rightly prompted by a desire to prevent even a thought that our Remembrance Day service be used for other than the sacred purpose intended.

It is Mr. Bennett who should apologize and, as Premier, he should accept responsibility for the circumstances complained of.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

After hearing over the radio and reading in the press the advertising of the candidates for election of the various parties, the great majority of the electorate is overwhelmed with uncertainty and nauseated to say the least.

One thing however stands out more prominently than any other, i.e., the reckless expenditure of funds by one party to attain their object.

Is it any of the electors' business where these funds originate? It is not if the contribution of these funds is for the ultimate good of the country. But if the contributors demand compensation in concessions or preferences in business, should their candidate be successful, then undoubtedly it is a matter that concerns the electorate.

I feel sure some of the contending parties would not hesitate to make public the source of their election funds. But would the others?

The vast majority of the voters in our elections belong to the great working class, who are unable to make heavy contributions to any election fund, so if elections are unduly influenced by pre-election advertising, then is the result a true expression of the electors' wishes? Is it not a result of heavily financed advertising?

FIGURES

Mr. Gunderson at Norway House Wednesday stated that "the Johnson government's annual expenses were $145,000,000 and that it was extravagant." He was asked what present annual expenses were, he answered "$142,000,000." Add to this the government share of schools capital costs ($3,500,000) which should have been paid in cash to school boards and which Mr. Gunderson forced the school boards to borrow and we get $145,500,000.

Here lies the "meat" of the whole controversy re debt payments. Where on earth did the $34,000,000 come from if not from sinking funds, already there for the purpose, or from general tax revenue? He then proceeded to legislate for new taxation to make up for that taken from general revenue for debt reduction.

Why does Mr. Gunderson say he is not borrowing when he actually guarantees loans of $37,000,000, being $7,000,000 for schools, $10,000,000 for power commission, and $20,000,000 for roads and tolls corporation?

Loans made as above cost more in interest than when borrowed normally by the government. It is government debt nevertheless, and was treated as such by former governments.

The current Social Credit gross budget is $172,980,000, the highest ever known in the history of the province. The truth will finally "out."

R. B. ANDERSON.

DEMAGOGUERY

Mr. Bennett and his ministers seem to be worried, if their constant attendance at Mr. Gunderson's election meetings is any indication. Mr. Gunderson, of course, is not a particularly inspiring speaker, though he is learning fast and will soon be able to produce the kind of shrill defiant screechings we get from the Premier and his more experienced political friends.

There are lots of people in this town who are impressed by noise, as the thunderous applause at these gatherings testifies. Mr. Bennett's technique in whipping up mob hysteria is first rate: the slow impressive voice of sweet reason, the rising pitch, the shrill denunciation—he knows all the tricks, and uses them most adroitly. Everyone but us is totally wicked! We alone embody all that is good! he thunders. In one breath he welcomes criticism and yells "smear!" when he gets it. And the sheep bleat their dutiful agreement.

It is true that this government has done some good things; but this does not mean that no other government could not have done other good things. Demagoguery always attracts the shiftless, the stupid, and the credulous, that inept minority which exists everywhere. But it is a pretty weak foundation for solid government, which depends for its existence upon the fundamental good sense of the electorate. Nothing is more certain than that this silly so-called movement will eventually collapse in the same way that its predecessors throughout history have collapsed. We can only hope that it does not do too much damage to the constitution in the process.

M. L. T. DRAKE.

WHY THE MUD?

Why is it that whenever any election comes up there is so much of this nasty, disgusting mudslinging? Surely when a person has been chosen to stand for election he should feel highly honored and not lower his dignity and self respect by saying nasty things about his opponents.

If it turns out that another wins the election, let him congratulate the winner and wish him well. That is the only real democracy worth having and to be proud of.

When it comes to the question of government and some motion is put forward by a member of the opposition it should be discussed from all angles and without any bias and if really worth supporting, should be passed and not shouted down by the party in power. That is real democracy. To act otherwise is leaning toward that very dictatorship we condemn so much and do not want.

Let us all think deeply on this matter for on how we keep on acting in these rapidly changing and momentous times; depends our future system of government and all it stands for.

Luminescence in the Ebb Tide Dark Betrays Prey to Harsh Night Raiders

BY DR. G. CLIFFORD CARL, Director Provincial Museum

AT THE peak of the flood an almost imperceptible change began to take place. The searching fingers of the sea reached their fullest extent in the upper levels of the salt marsh where they rested for a short time before beginning their slow withdrawal.

Sudsy foam encircled emerging stems of salt grass, glasswort and rush marking the highest level of the water in bands of dirty grey, and bits of bark, twigs and other flotsam became stranded where the water's edge met the land. The current which had been moving along the beach-line slowed to a standstill then gradually began to reverse carrying with it a line of dried sea-weed and bits of clam shell lifted from the shore.

Dr. Carl

The sand-dabs, sculpins and shore crabs that had followed close behind the advancing front during the early evening began to turn seaward working their way toward deeper water; with the ebbing of the tide the major feeding period for the day had come to an end.

The grilse, with Kisutch among them, joined the general exodus from the mud flats finding their way in the darkness by means of the lateral line organs alone. As they passed into the deeper water of the bay they swam through myriads of minute gloublar shapes floating beneath the surface like a cloud. When disturbed by a moving fish each misroscopic animal flashed a pin-point of silvery-green light causing each fish to glow eerily and to leave a wavering banner of flame in its wake.

As if fascinated by the phenomenon the grilse wove a lighted pattern of turns and twists through the swarm of animalicules punctuating the tangle of luminescent trails with bursts of light each time a fish put on a spurt of speed.

Wilding charging through the dark water the young salmon moved along in a leaderless group until they came upon a great school of small herring crossing their course in a scintillating mass.

As the salmon veered away the herring were thrown into panic by the sudden appearance of a school of squids which darted into their flank. The torpedo-shaped molluscs cut through their ranks in a series of lightning-like jabs; the zig-zag course of each attacker was marked by cold-green fire which flamed and slowly died away.

Most of the squids succeeded in capturing a herring on the first rush; these they held in the grip of the suckered tentacles while they tore at the flesh with their bird-like beaks. Silvery scales dislodged from their victims slowly sank through the water in wavering showers.

Most of the squids kept their position in the moving school mainly by the fluttering motion of the lateral fins; the quick darts and sudden stops and reverse motion were accomplished by forcing a jet of water from the mantle cavity, the direction being determined by the position of the tube through which the water was discharged. Those burdened with fish being devoured lagged behind the herring and their pursuers; occasionally some of these dropped their prey, swam quickly to the edge of the school and darted in again to capture another fish.

The fleeing herring still kept together in a large school except for a few stragglers being harried by the squids but as the main group attempted to escape from their pursuers they were scattered by a pack of dogfish attracted to the scene by the scent of blood spreading in the wake of the school. The sharks wove through the mass of fish snapping up those that failed to get out of their path and breaking the school into several groups which dashed off on diverging courses, still lighted by the glow of luminescent organisms in their path. The carnage continued until the more swiftly swimming herring outstripped the slower moving dogfish which then backtracked to clean up the scraps which had sunk to the bottom.

The grilse skirted the disturbed area swimming near the surface in a stratum that would not carry their scent to the predators below them. In this way they avoided the excited dogfish which were still milling around near the bottom and made their way to open water where they spent the remainder of the night.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

By STEWART ALSOP

The White Case---Everyone Loses

IN plain, hard, practical political terms, who has won the grisly battle over the defunct Harry Dexter White? This is the question which the politicians of both parties are asking themselves most anxiously. As of the moment at least, the best answer appears to be "nobody."

Not even the most ardent partisans of the former President argue that Truman, his administration or his party have emerged unscathed. Indeed, if Attorney-General Brownell's charge against Truman is limited to simple "laxity," most Democrats will admit in private that he has proved it down to the ground.

Stewart

If Truman actually had no notion of the evidence against White until it was too late to stop his confirmation, the staff work in the White House at the time must indeed have been "incredible," to use a favorite Brownell adjective. Moreover, it is clear at least by hindsight that Truman chose the worst of the three alternative methods of dealing with White which were proposed to him by his subordinates.

It is also clear that when this alternative—allowing White to take his job in the Monetary Fund but keeping a close watch on him—was chosen, there was no effective follow-up at all. Truman's off-the-cuff statements on the matter have been shown to be dead wrong; no explanation at all has been offered for the warm Truman letter to White when White resigned, and Truman's carefully prepared radio-television defense was woefully weak at several points.

Finally, the whole episode has served to remind the voters of Truman's penchant for second-raters and his habit of making such inexcusable appointments as that of Tom Clark to the Supreme Court. All this would seem to add up to a brilliant political victory for Brownell, the Eisenhower administration, and the Republican party.

WRONG CHARGE, WRONG PLACE, WRONG TIME

Some Republicans claim that it is just that. But others are not so sure. As one observer has remarked, "Brownell made the wrong charge at the wrong place at the wrong time."

The victory might indeed have been brilliant if Brownell had chosen to prove, at an appropriate place and for a serious national purpose, that the Truman administration, particularly in its first years, was demonstrably and dangerously woolly-headed about Communist espionage.

Instead, Brownell made his accusation against Truman on a political occasion, just after the New Jersey Republican defeat and just before the California election. He thus threw himself wide open to a counter-charge of playing an unsavory brand of politics.

Moreover, Brownell did not content himself with charging simple "laxity." What really created the tremendous stir was Brownell's assertion that "Truman promoted a Russian spy and knew it," as the "New York Times" headline put it.

It is obviously silly to hold that a Chief Executive who knowingly promotes Russian spies is merely "lax"—this is like claiming that a man who shoots his wife is merely absent-minded. Moreover, Brownell has failed to prove this immensely grave accusation.

This failure is underscored by Brownell's reported omission of a key statement—to the effect that the FBI could not "prove or disprove" the charges against White—from the FBI report which he summarized in such detail. Truman did not "know" that White was a "Russian spy," and unproved charges cannot legitimately be equated with knowledge of guilt.

The Democrats claim to believe that Brownell's overstatement of his case will boomerang, not only because of the Presidency of the United States is involved, but also because it is simply impossible to imagine Harry S. Truman in the role of condoner of treason. They also believe that Rep. Harold Velde's idiotic attempt to subpoena the former president has left a particularly bad taste in the voters' mouths.

Preliminary soundings do indicate that most voters are writing off the whole business as "just politics." If so, Brownell and the Republicans do not appear to be the real winners of the White battle, any more than Truman and the Democrats.

BLOW TO U.S. PRESTIGE

The country is certainly not the winner. The antics of Sen. Joseph McCarthy and others have caused such a precipitous collapse of American prestige abroad that the National Security Council some time ago undertook a serious study of this matter. The wild accusations and counter-accusations which followed Brownell's first wild charge should just about complete the wreckage of this country's claim to responsible leadership. Most Europeans, including those friendly to the United States, are about ready to conclude that Americans have gone crazy.

One sometimes wonders if they are not partly right. Fear begets madness, and President Eisenhower, as he remarked sadly at his press conference, does not "believe that we can live in fear of each other forever." This remark is worth pondering, even as the practical politicians anxiously tote up the political profit and loss in the White case.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Numbness of the Hands

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A woman writes that she suffers a good deal from numbness of the hands and arms. Her mother and her grandmother had it also in later life. If numbness of the legs had occurred in several relatives when they were young a physician would look immediately for signs of pernicious anemia. In such cases the numbness and tingling is usually more marked in the legs than in the arms. Numbness in one arm on waking in the morning is usually due to the person's having lain on that arm, or having held it in some position which has tended to shut off the circulation. As people grow older, perhaps because their arteries become more rigid, they have more trouble with this type of numbness.

Alvarez

Many a person wakes in the morning with one hand so numb that it can hardly be moved, and then he wonders if he has had a stroke. But if the trouble clears away in a few minutes it is hardly likely to be anything as serious as that.

Quite a few young persons, especially if they are very nervous and tense, can get numbness and coldness in a few fingers due to spasm of the blood vessels. This is called Raynaud's disease.

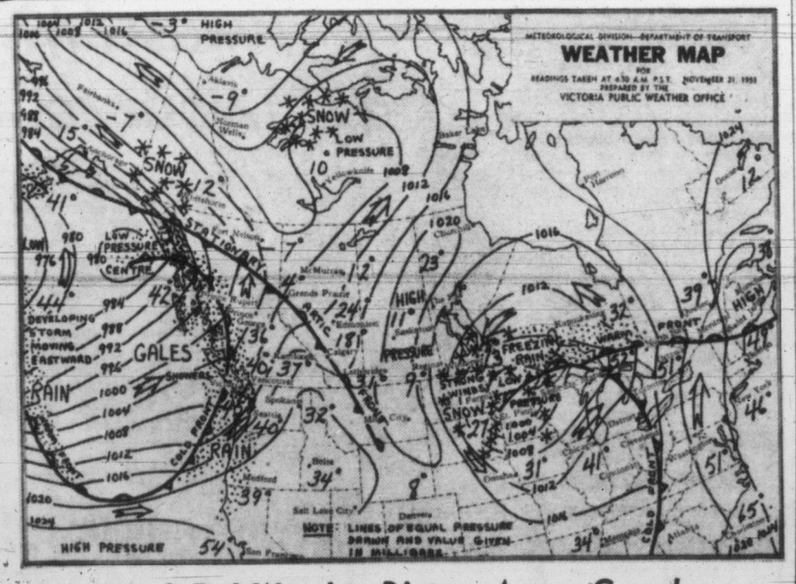
Should a person suffer from numbness in one or both hands or arms for some time he ought to be checked by a neurologist, who will make sure that there is no lesion anywhere along the course of the nerve tracts from the brain down through the plexuses in the neck and the nerves of the arm.

When a person finds his hands becoming weak, tired, cold, and a bit painful and stiff, he must think of a beginning arthritis of a serious type. Then he can be much reassured if his red blood sedimentation rate is normal, and if X-ray studies of the hands fail to show any serious disease.

When a person has pyorrhea the first thing to do is to go to a dentist regularly, perhaps every month for awhile, to have the teeth scaled and cleaned. Then, there will be some chance of the sockets again taking hold of the teeth. The most heavily infected teeth, usually a bit loosened, may have to be extracted.

At home, morning and evening, the person should express pus and food out of the pyorrhea pockets. For this he can use the little rubber cone on the end of a Lactona tooth brush. Some persons clean out the pockets with little bits of soft wood sharpened at the end (Stimudents). Another good device is the Oral B Stimulator; several of this type are now coming on the market.

It is so important to keep the pockets emptied out because otherwise they keep deepening until they loosen the adjacent tooth.



Week-End Weather Picture Across Canada

SYNOPSIS: The storm which was crossing the southern coast this morning battered the north coast with winds of near hurricane force and drenched the west coast of Vancouver Island with over two inches of rain. This disturbance will weaken as it moves inland during the day and will bring showers to the southern interior and snow flurries to the Caribou and Prince George regions.

Another active storm is located about 700 miles west of the coast and should cross the Charlottes tonight and the south coast early Sunday. Southeast gales associated with this disturbance will develop in north coastal waters late this afternoon and will spread to the south coast early Sunday.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE 9 A.M. FORECASTS

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Drys Want Commission Probe Of Liquor Laws in Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba Temperance Alliance wants the provincial government to set up an independent commission to study the present liquor act and related problems involving alcohol.

The resolution was passed at the annual business meeting of the alliance when W. J. McSorley succeeded Rev. M. R. McLuhan as president.

The commission would make recommendations on liquor legislation and administration. The resolution contained a rider that at least one woman be appointed a member.

The meeting also suggested a woman be appointed to the Manitoba liquor commission.

HOSPITALS SHARE $2,000,000

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two Winnipeg hospitals will get a total of more than $1,000,000 in cash and $1,000,000 in stock of John Labatt Ltd. under terms of a proposed sale of the controlling interest in Shea's Winnipeg brewery.

The Winnipeg General and the Misericordia Hospital each received 33,000 shares of Shea's stock under the will of the late Mrs. Frank Shea and have been attempting to convert their holdings into cash.

The Labatt firm has announced it will give $17.50 in cash plus one Labatt share for each share of Shea's voting stock under a plan to buy a controlling interest. The Labatt stock is worth about $17 a share. The hospitals thus would each get $577,500 in cash and about $561,000 worth of Labatt shares if they accept.

JOINS FREE PRESS

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg Free Press announced Friday that T. W. Kent, 31-year-old assistant editor of the London Economist, will arrive in Canada early in the new year to join the Free Press as associate editor.

The announcement was made in an editorial-page item. Mr. Kent, who will take up the post Feb. 1, has been London correspondent for the Free Press for several years.

Mr. Kent was with the War Office and the Foreign Office during the Second World War and joined the Manchester Guardian in 1945. Three years ago he joined the Economist.

DUCKS LEAVE PRAIRIES

WINNIPEG (CP)—The ducks have all but departed from the Prairies and the hunters are putting away their weapons.

Ducks Unlimited said Friday that reports reaching its headquarters "indicate that only isolated pockets of straggling waterfowl remain."

85TH POLIO DEATH

CALGARY (CP) — Alberta's 85th polio fatality this year is a 10-year-old boy from Nanton.

His death boosted to two the number of fatalities not yet recorded officially. The official toll is 83. The previous provincial annual record was set in 1952 when 79 persons died in Alberta of polio.

MORALS CHARGE

EDMONTON (CP) — George Joseph Xoytko of Edmonton was sentenced Friday in Supreme Court to six years in penitentiary plus an indeterminate period of imprisonment after he pleaded guilty to two morals charges involving young girls.

The indeterminate sentence was added by Mr. Justice Wilson after the court ruled that Xoytko was a criminal sexual psychopath.

The sentence was imposed under provisions of a recent amendment to the Criminal Code.

ISLAND DIGEST

COURTENAY—Possible city council candidate this year is Stan Venables, school trustee for the past four years, who has announced he will not seek a return to the school board.

There are enough candidates in the field now to fill all offices on the city council, but not enough to make a contest.

* * *

CHEMAINUS — New officers of Canadian Legion branch No. 191, elected Thursday, are J. H. Beggs, president; Miss Mabel Clayton, first vice-president; R. J. Duncan, second vice-president; C. J. Loughton, treasurer; and W. H. Rice, secretary.

* * *

NANAIMO — Residents of South Harewood will take over the old Canadian Collieries water system at the end of the month, and will commence payments for its operation in December.

Still to be settled is the problem of the water supply to Indian Reserve No. 1, which comes from the old collieries system.

* * *

NANAIMO—A $2,300 respirator used in treatment of polio cases has been turned over to Nanaimo General Hospital and Central Vancouver Island health unit by the Vancouver Island Kinsmen polio committee.

* * *

DUNCAN—Rejection by Cowichan Indians of a Cowichan Agricultural Society offer to buy reserve land occupied by the agricultural hall and grounds is not binding, since only 125 members of the 389 qualified members of the band cast their ballots.

Area concerned is 5.9 acres. A figure of $1,800 per acre was mentioned, but it is understood a government evaluator has placed value of the land at $27,500.

Beaches Polluted

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's beaches are becoming increasingly polluted with sewage and will some day be unfit for human use unless corrective measures are taken says city engineer John Oliver.

It takes a crew of 20 painters six years to paint the Ambassador Bridge between Detroit and Windsor, Ont. When they finish, it's time to start all over again at the other end.

SOUR ABOUT CANADA

Jaundiced View of Vancouver Marks Book by British Author

"A Man and His Country" by Patricia Young. Ward Lock & Co. Ltd., 6 Chancery Lane, London, W.C.2. 188 pps.

Profilic producer of novels that could come under the head of light reading, Patricia Young chooses Vancouver for the background of "A Man and His Country."

The author apparently knows Vancouver well but the picture she gives of it will certainly irritate the residents of that progressive metropolis.

"The city reflected the grim moroseness of the surrounding mountains," she says at one stage.

At another stage she has her hero from England "sick of it all and this provincial town he had been forced to make his home. He hates the crudeness and superficiality of its social life, its beer parlors, pool halls and local political squabbles. Most of all he hates being an Englishman and obviously unwelcome."

ALL-ROUND HATER

As a matter of fact her hero was an all-round hater.

He had been told that in Canada he could expect treatment like Jews and Negroes. He hated Canadians for their smugness, for being happy and secure in a country they called their own, for their tepid allegiance to the Crown, for condescending to accept affiliation they did not really need. He also found young Canadians virile, careless with criticism, arrogant with their new found strength and superiority.

The mighty Fraser is dismissed as just "a muddy river."

"QUEER OLD DUCKS"

Vancouver Island gets a brief mention during a discussion on titles. A Canadian girl is reported as saying "Well, titles are funny out here. I mean you think of them as terribly English and old. There are some titled people on Vancouver Island, retired men and women from Ceylon and India. They're sort of queer old ducks who'er neither Canadian nor English. I suppose you'd call them remittance men."

English people who have been cordially welcomed to Canada, and found industry has absorbed them willingly, readily and without prejudice, will probably be as resentful as any over the author's misleading picture.

Most unfair comment of all is this "Here in Canada it was easy to forget the war. Many had been unaware of it except for the minor inconvenience of food and gas rationing."

Nearly 40,000 bereaved families added to the 68,000 bereaved families of First World War evidently mean little to the author.

To get on with the story the tall dark and handsome hero or heel according to the reader's point of view, who enchanted women by "his profile and the sensitive activity of his hands," eventually learns to love Canada.

By double-crossing in business and love an old family friend, married to a young wife, he gets a toehold on industry.

Through inheritance of a fortune and a title at the psychological moment—a cable arrives while directors are discussing a merger—he becomes a Canadian merchant prince. From then on Canada is his first choice.

One wonders why the author couldn't tell her story without raising so many imaginary issues to disturb amity in the family when amity was never more needed.—F.J.M.

Skating Stars Give Advice to Beginners

SKATING FOR BEGINNERS, by Barbara Ann Scott and Michael Kirby. Toronto: McClelland and Stewart, Ltd., $4.00.

Barbara Ann Scott and Michael Kirby, heretofore partners in rime (ouch!) now turn up as co-authors of a book designed to help youngsters learn how to skate.

"Skating for Beginners" is a handsome volume, profusely illustrated, both with pictures and line drawings of the basic figures. The text is simple and easily understood.

The book also carries a useful index of skating clubs throughout North America. The astonishing number listed indicates that Miss Scott and Mr. Kirby will have a large tailor-made audience for their literary effort.

Murder Mystery, Canadian Scene

EXIT IN GREEN, by Martin Brett; Dodd Mead & Co., 256 pp. $2.75.

We don't very often get murder mysteries whose scenes are laid in Canada, but here is one and a good one at that.

The main character is an American who has come to a little village in the Laurentian foothills for an interview with a famous stage personality who has gone there for relaxation.

The young American soon finds himself plunged into a whirlpool of suppressed passions, malevolence and greed.

The Canadian characters are reasonably realistic and a lively plot builds up an atmosphere of tension and terror to a dramatic climax.

POW Indicts Communists

"I Was a Captive in Korea," by Philip Deane (Norton): Deane, Greek-born correspondent for The London Observer, has written a grave indictment of the Communists in this account of his 33 months' imprisonment in North Korea. It is one of the most lucid records of the bitter, frustrating early days of the war and of the cruelty of the Communists toward American troops on the 1950 death march to the north when hundreds were murdered, starved or simply left to die in below - freezing temperatures along the ice-encrusted roads.

Deane was in a farmhouse with some American soldiers when the North Koreans overran their position. He tells how they died, one by one, how the enemy killed the wounded, how the survivors were stripped of their clothes and marched in the icy cold to the uncertain safety of a prison camp. The prisoners, under forced march, were beaten at every opportunity with guns and fists. The weak were left to die, the faltering were shot.

Deane had it easier than the GI's. He was beaten, too, but when the Communists learned his position they took better care of him and placed him in a compound with other Britons—missionaries and diplomats.

To Help Sufferers From Arthritis

"ARTHRITIS AND RHEUMATISM" by David E. Rodger, MD, and Gwyneth M. Miller; Treatment Publications Ltd., Regina, 72 pp., $2.75.

Reviewed by MARGUERITE LAUGHLIN

Sufferers from the crippling arthritis and rheumatic diseases will find the book written by Dr. David Rodger and physiotherapist Gwyneth Miller of great help and encouragement in alleviating this painful condition.

It is the patient's guide to treatment and is designed to instruct the sufferer by teaching him to use and understand methods of treatment that can be carried out in the home. This useful handbook also serves as a manual of first aid on problems that may arise before and after a doctor's visit.

Rheumatism and arthritis are chronic diseases of uncertain cause and most unlikely to be cured overnight. Recognized early they can be controlled if proper steps are taken. These steps, however, take time, perseverance and patience.

A new approach to the treatment of arthritis which is rapidly gaining recognition is explained at length in this valuable book. To fully cover the subject the book is written in two parts, one by a medical doctor and the other by a physiotherapist.

BOOK TALK

By JAMES SCOTT

Not so long ago the British actor Nigel Bruce died. I am told he was a very warm-hearted man, well loved in the Hollywood colony. But for me his death seemed to prove that, once and for all this time, John Watson, MD, had departed from this earth.

Long after Conan Doyle's Watson could possibly be still alive, Nigel Bruce kept him in flesh and blood in that series of Sherlock Holmes adventures in which Bruce co-starred with Basil Rathbone. Actually they were not very good pictures but I never missed one. I wanted to believe that Sherlock Holmes and Watson were still among us.

The Purists Object

Yet the purists objected. Let a work of literature stand on its own feet, they said. Holmes and his adventures will live as long as man can read. Let it go at that.

Apparently Conan Doyle's son Adrian does not agree for under his name a further series of Holmes-Watson adventures has just appeared in Britain. Causing quite a to-do they are too. The old purists are at work again saying that "Holmes should be left where Conan Doyle flang him"—or words to that effect.

Sherlock Holmes

This is a thorny problem. I have not yet seen the book for it is not due for North American publication until early next year — probably February—but I have read a couple of the stories which appeared in a large U.S. weekly magazine. Every year for some time now I have reread most of the Holmes stories and so it must mean something when I say that I doubt very much that I could tell the new ones from the old ones, of course.

As far as the authentic touch goes, Adrian Doyle's stories sound exactly like his father's. The plots are equal, the setting right, the dialogue letter perfect. What's wrong then?

I think the main trouble is that many folk here and about are objecting because somehow they feel it is not quite cricket for one man to capitalize on the creative genius of another even if the other happens to be his father.

There may be something in this but the plot thickens and all is not so elementary as it looks.

It is no secret that Adrian Conan Doyle had some help in the writing of these new Holmes adventures. The help came from one of the most deft hands practicing the art of detective fiction today—that of John Dickson Carr. In his own right, Mr. Carr has proved that he has an uncanny knack for recreating the people and atmosphere of past days. There is not a doubt in the world that his fine hand has been the dominant one in recreating tales of Sherlock Holmes although it is equally certain that the son of Conan Doyle must have had a great deal of material which no one else could possibly lay his hands on.

Now then, who is guilty? Adrian Doyle for exploiting his father's most famous character? John Dickson Carr for taking the prestige of the Doyle name to promote a re-creation of Holmes? Adrian Doyle again for using a great present-day detective writer to help him in his quest for royalty gold? Or both of them for attempting to capitalize on another man's work?

Readers Will Give Verdict

It is a thorny problem and what can the defense plead?

Well there is this further question to be asked: How long does it take for a fictitious character to get into the public domain? Can any author claim rights on his creation forever? Shakespeare did not keep his right to, say, Juliet or Shylock or Hamlet very long. Does Dickens, in theory, still own Scrooge? Certainly not. Then why can't the same be said for Sherlock Holmes? If the movies could have him, I see no reason why his own son and a very, very good detective writer can't cut their slice too.

Of course it is another matter how big that slice will be. Here the reader is the jury. It will be interesting to know how the large following of Sherlock Holmes reacts to these new stories when they are available. That will be the final verdict.

Rebellion for Children?

Going through the new offerings which come out about this time of year, ostensibly for Young Canada's Book Week but really for the Christmas trade, I was struck by the fact that two of the country's leading juvenile writers picked the 1837 Rebellion as the theme for this year's contribution from their prolific pens. John F. Hayes writes "Rebels Ride at Night" and Lyn Cook, "Rebel on the Trail." Both are right good. I can't help but wonder though why this too-long neglected colorful moment of our history has never yet prompted a first-rate adult novel. Rebellion safe only for children?

Have the same feeling about hockey. Have you ever read a novel with a hockey player for the hero? I can't remember one. Yet Saturday night is still "hockey night in Canada." Lots of juveniles written about it too but that seems as far as it ever goes. Serious writers don't like hockey?

ENGLISH FARM SCENE

Action as Dramatic as Any 'Wild Western'

A STRANGER HERE, by Robert Henriques; 320 pps. Collins Toronto, $3.

As English as any man can be despite his un-English name, Robert Henriques, ex-colonel of the commandoes, with a distinguished war record, follows two prize-winning novels with another of the same category.

Like his previous novel "Through the Valley" the action of "A Stranger Here" takes place in the Cotswold country of England where the former soldier has settled on his farm to write.

It is a story of country life and country characters including the successful farmer and magistrate, the wealthy business man with a country home in the area, their sons and daughter, the typical country solicitor and other farmers. It is far from being, however, a placid story of farm life.

It is a gripping story that holds the reader in suspense to a dramatic climax. At times the action is as great as any "wild western" as the writer tells of the romances, disappointments, frustrations and adventures of the people he so realistically depicts.

It appears strange that a man who has served in the Sudan and Egypt, who served in the commandos, helped plan the Normandy Invasion and has traveled extensively in the United States should have chosen the farming area of England for the background of his books.

On the other hand readers of "A Stranger Here" will commend his choice unless they are led by the title and setting of the story to expect a pleasant, pastoral story of rural life.—F.J.M.

NAIRNE ON STAMPS

The latest list from the government "Stamp Shoppe" at Ottawa shows quite a number of deletions, when compared with the list issued a month or so ago.

All the stamps overprinted "OHMS" are completely sold out. In the "G" overprints, the 20c "Harvesting," and both the $1 purple and the $1 blue, have also been struck off. The 2c "Polar Bear" is another item that is out of stock at Ottawa, though there are still a few remainders at the local PO wickets.

The blue $1 with "G" went off sale without much warning, which has caused some ecxitement among the dealers, who are reputedly caught rather short. Only 40,000 are said to have been issued, which almost puts it in the class of the OHMS 50c Lumbering, now selling at $7. The market is unstable, one Toronto firm asking $5 for it in mint condition, while a N.Y. dealer is offering it for $1.60.

The "Queen" issues from 1c to 5c are now all available with the "G" overprint. Coils of the 2c, 3c and 4c are also on sale, though you have to take your chance on "centering," at least half of those supplied in a recent order being only fit for postage. No 1c coil will be included in the Queen series, which is a pity, as they were particularly handy at Christmas for mailing cards, etc. Two types of booklets are also available. These are only made with English inscriptions on the covers, which seems odd, as previous booklets have always been obtainable in French for use in Quebec. The French-Canadians will probably have something to say about this!

A new 15c, to replace the present Centenary stamp of the same value, is in preparation, and will be the same size as the current large pictorials. More "Wild Life" subjects are scheduled for next year, also but there is no word of a 24c stamp, though this is badly needed for registered letters.

REVIEWS IN BRIEF

ALMOST AS RACY AS 'FOREVER AMBER'

"The Emperor's Lady" by F. W. Kenyon. (Crowell): Marie-Joseph-Rose Tascher de la Pagerie was a frivolous young colonial girl. The old voodoo fortune teller's prophecy that she would one day be Queen of France was little more than a joke until she met an uncouth Corsican general who renamed her Josephine.

Over the years, Josephine acquired considerable skill at personal and political intrigue, but she never had any sense where money was concerned. After two narrow escapes, she managed to curb her taste for extra-marital adventure, only to be divorced at last because she bore Napoleon no sons.

By calling it a novel, the author has escaped the strait-jacket of formal biography, and has been able to make the life of France's first empress as readable—and nearly as racy—as that of the redoubtable Amber.

MEMORABLE DAY IN DESERT WAR

Patrol, by Fred Majdalany (Houghton, Mifflin $2—Ballantine 35c): The young mess officer in this novelette had a problem. He was an intelligence officer too and the brigadier would expect a briefing on the latest developments. While briefing the general his eye fell on White Farm on a map of Tunisia and he suggested a patrol look into it to see if the Germans had pulled out.

The patrol was ordered and there begins one of the best and most accurate accounts of a single action yet to come from the long line of stories of the last war. The action is in Tunisia in the early days of 1943 when British and American troops had reached no farther than Medjez-el-Bab on the road to Tunis.

THIS AMAZING PROVINCE

Trench Through Rockies

By C. P. LYONS

The thought behind the saying "You can't see the forest for the trees" might be applied to this gigantic groove through the province. There are so many mountains and valleys confronting us at every turn we can't get sufficient perspective to see what has been described as the most continuous gash in the North American continent.

Lyons

It is only from a plane or by the careful appraisal of topographic maps that the significance of this great valley takes form. Most people are firmly convinced that nowhere in B.C. can one see 10 miles in a straight line without a moutain looming up or the gouge of a river valley intruding on the scene.

THOUSAND MILES LONG

Imagine then a mighty trench 1,000 miles long and up to 10 miles wide which, with the directness of a rifle bullet, completely traverses B.C. from north to south.

How it was formed remains a mystery to geologists. Since it closely flanks the Rocky Mountains it is probably related to their formation.

One would theorize that the trench should be occupied by two mighty rivers—one flowing to the south and the other to the Arctic Ocean. Instead there are no less than four separate divides with alternating north and south flowing rivers.

ONE OF WORLD'S MARVELS

Starting from the south these are the Kootenay River, then the Columbia, the Canoe, the Fraser, the Parsnip, the Ketchika and finally near he Yukon Boundary, the Liard River.

The unusual aspects of this strange formation are many and varied—the turning of great rivers to flow out gaps to the east or west, the low elevation of the highest point, Sifton Pass at 3,273 feet. But take as a single unit, the Rocky Mountain Trench is regarded by geologists and geographers as one of the world's outstanding land features.

AUDREY SAYS

Talented Victorians Win Ovations in Old Hometown

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, we are told.

Or, it could be said, it is a wise citizenry that recognizes its own prophets!

Johnson

That last is a bow in the direction of Victorians who have shown such a decided appreciation for your own prophets in the world of music lately. First Irene Byatt, who could never for a moment have been in doubt as to how her townspeople felt about her. Hundreds were in attendance wherever she sang and when she departed she took with her full and practical expressions of encouragement and belief in her future.

Then Robin Wood, whose two recitals and guest appearance with the symphony have brought forth unreserved—and fully deserved—enthusiasm from as big audiences as most artists have attracted in this city.

"MOST IMPRESSIVE"

To those who have heard the young pianist, the comment of the principal of the Royal Academy of Music, Sir Reginald Thatcher, will come as no surprise. In a recent letter Sir Reginald has said:

"I hope Robin Wood's appearance will be a great success. He is a very fine musician and character with a distinguished musical mind. Apart from his solo playing, his ensemble with his wife on two pianos is most impressive and I hope they will get an evening together."

Such has also been the hope of the few Victorians who have had brief glimpses of their wonderful teamwork. And so it is doubly satisfying to know that the Robin Woods have found a sponsor for their duo piano recital in the Cerebral Palsy Association, which is to benefit at the same time as local music lovers benefit.

NOV. 30 AT FIRST UNITED

The concert of Mr. Wood and his Winnipeg-born wife, Winnifred, will take place on November 30 at 8.30 in First United Church and will feature the Mozart D Major Sonata for two pianos and the Rachmaninoff Suite No. 2 in C. minor.

With a very good chance of these two artists becoming an internationally known duo piano team (there is already a possibility they will tour this continent under a New York management in 1954 or 1955), it will be a satisfaction to know that we did not miss the initial opportunity of acclaiming the young couple.

Tonight the Victoria Theatre Guild raises the curtain on its second production of the season, a mystery drama, "The Lady Asks for Help." R. L. W. Ritchie directs and in the cast appear leading Guild actors, Bruce Banyard, Connie Thompson, Jennie May Sawyer and Harold Gelling with newcomers, Charles Martin, Alma Hewitt, Jack Rowe and Len Robinson.

★ ★ ★

There is no doubt about it—Totem Theatre is here to stay as long as Victorians go on showing so unmistakably that they wish it to do so. Excellent audience support continues and two-week runs have been found to be justified.

The successful Noel Coward hit, "Present Laughter," will continue next week with Sam Payne playing the zany, somewhat autobiographical character of Gerry Essendine.

★ ★ ★

Appointment of adjudicators for the Victoria Musical Festival which will take place in late April and the first week of May next year, is now complete. With one exception they have adjudicated here before, with notable success.

Filmer Hubble of Winnipeg will again preside at adult vocal sessions and will be welcomed by many who profited by his analyses last year.

★ ★ ★

Vilem Sokol, so popular with young contestants in instrumental classes for two consecutive years, will return to judge these classes after a year's absence. For speech arts there will be Mrs. Jean Campbell, a hearty encore after her 1953 appearance, and for folk dancing, Mrs. Peggy MacFarlane again.

Newcomer is the piano adjudicator Lyell Gustin of Saskatoon, musician and teacher with an outstanding reputation.

(A) THE WAR OF THE WORLDS (Capitol):—Whereas the cynical millions scoff at flying saucers from outer space I firmly believe in the 'little men'.

And, until today, I would like to meet one. They always seemed such kindly little persons, these residents from other planets.

After viewing Paramount's 'The War of The Worlds', however, I've changed my mind. I don't want to meet them, singly or collectively.

What's even worse, I believe in them now more than ever.

And if you see this one you'll realize this isn't a thing to wish on your worst enemy.

But first of all, a word to the wise.

If you don't enjoy fantastic stories about outer space and Martians who would conquer the world and, no doubt, the universe, and:

If you don't—and this above all—understand the magic of the motion picture camera so you can marvel at the wizardry of Hollywood artistry in the imaginative fields, DON'T GO TO SEE 'THE WAR OF THE WORLDS.'

For this picture won't be your meat. You will be bored stiff and relegate the whole thing to trash.

And you and the picture deserve a better fate.

In 'The War of The Worlds' the rulers of Mars, their planetary resources quite exhausted, look to our world for conquest for their survival.

So down they come in their flying saucers to establish a beachhead in California.

These flying saucers, in turn, release awesome machines that themselves look like saucers. From their ugly bodies writhe cobra-like all-seeing eyes which, in an instant, can obliterate anything in their path by deadly rays. Even worse to think about these machines of the Martians can protect themselves from our deadliest offensive weapons by enveloping themselves in impenetrable atomic sheathes.

For a film of this kind there is a subtleness in direction that has been missing in all those which have gone before. Glimpses of the creatures inhabiting the machines are terrifyingly brief.

The actors and actresses in the fantasia play secondary roles to the machines and the fiery Martians. There is scientist Gene Barry; his sweetheart, Ann Robinson; a U.S. general, Les Tremayne, who watch their little world and ours, England, the continent, Asia, Russia, all fall to the three-fingered ones. Until, in the end, there seems nothing human can stop them.

When the theatre carries the sign, 'Adults Only', it's not kidding. Otherwise the moppets would be hiding under the bed until they're old enough to vote.

'The War of the Worlds' is by far the best fantasia film on outer space that Hollywood has done.

ART in REVIEW

By COLIN GRAHAM

In the collection of British masters now hanging at the Arts Centre there are paintings by three members of the well-known Norwich Society of Artists, Cotman, Crome, and Stark.

This society was founded in 1803 for the purpose of exhibiting the work of Norfolk artists. It continued in an active state till 1816. While doing some reading on this period recently, I was pulled up short by the curious and astonishing statement of a Norwich historian that, during its existence, the society had shown about 4,600 paintings by no less than 323 artists—and had sold scarcely a single work.

CAUSE FOR REFLECTION

This obviously is a bone to be chewed on reflectively by Canadian critics like myself who are inclined to harp on the difficulties our own painters meet in making a living from their art. Of course, there were plenty of painters making a good living from the sale of their pictures in the London of Crome's day; but this Norwich situation does throw a vivid light on the uncongenial atmosphere in which the provincial artist must have worked in 19th century England.

CANADIANS MORE FORTUNATE

The contrast becomes the greater when one recalls that last year at the Vancouver Gallery's "Do you own a Canadian Painting?" sale some 80 works were bought within the space of a half day.

A further point inducing piquant thoughts is the fact that of the more than 300 painters exhibiting in Norfolk in Crome's day there are only two — Crome and Cotman — whose work means anything to us now. How many minor artists does a culture require, in other words, before it produces a significant one?

I am reminded in this connection of a fact stumbled across not long ago, that no less than 1,100 painters were active in northern Spain in the 12th century. Who but a specialist could name one of these today?

REVIEW NEXT WEEK

A word by the way. Due to the nature of press arrangements these words are necessarily written several days before the arrival of the British works. Next week this column will have an opportunity to discuss some of the actual works on view.

FIRST-HAND REPORT ON THE COLD WAR

Genghis Khan discovered that he could terrify his enemies by spreading reports of his "limitless hordes" of ferocious "wolf-eating" Tartars. Adolf Hitler modernized the big lie technique and made it an important instrument of conquest. But the propaganda efforts of both of those tyrants were puny in comparison with the Soviet Union's vast scheme for manipulating men's minds which Edward W. Barrett blueprints in his first book, Truth Is Our Weapon (Funk & Wagnalls).

Musical Society Will Play Works Composed By Their Own Conductor

The Sidney-North Saanich Musical Society will present a concert at St. Mark's Church, Victoria, next Thursday, Nov. 26, under the able leadership of conductor Eric V. Edwards, LRSM, ARCT.

This society is fortunate in being able to perform works composed by their conductor, three of which will be included in the forthcoming program.

First to be heard is a choral number, "Song of Remembrance," a hymn to those who fell in battle; the second a violin solo, "Nocturne-Intermezzo," from the cantata "Star of Wonder," originally scored for orchestra and later arranged as a violin and piano duet. The final work on the program will be the stirring "Glory to God," a choral number with violin and piano accompanient, from the same cantata.

ERIC V. EDWARDS

The program has been carefully selected to give a wide variety of choral works, which will be interspersed with vocal and instrumental solos.

Among the soloists will be Mrs. F. D. Till, LRAM, GRSM, pianist, and Grace Beswick, violinist, both of the musical society, and guest artist Mrs. Peggy Walton Packard, soprano.

The concert is being sponsored by the committee of St. Mark's Church, and is in aid of the church funds.

GRUBER CONDUCTS

Symphony Lists Beethoven Night

The next symphony concert will be an evening of uncompromising and undisputed masterworks.

Three of the foremost compositions of their respective types, all by the same composer, will be heard; since that composer is Beethoven, it is not illogical to say that, therefore, they may well be the three foremost works of their types by any composer.

The overture to "Coriolanus" has not been heard here before.

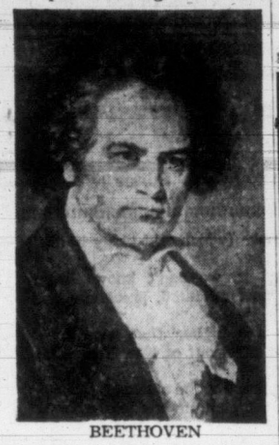
Beethoven has written several overtures that are longer than this one, and, on the surface, more immediately exciting in their drama. We are by no means alone in our opinion that here the master has made his definitive statement in the overture form.

Gruber

While the following bears little or no relevancy to the music itself, it may be of interest to mention that this "Coriolan" was not written as incidental music to Shakespeare's play by the same name. Rather, the occasion was a performance of the play "Coriolan," by Joseph Heinrich von Collin, who, besides dabbling in playwriting, occupied the position of chief secretary to the War Department in the Austrian Government of the day.

Beethoven, in fact admired von Collin's dramatic abilities—so much so that he actually asked von Collin to let him write an overture to "Coriolan."

This overture is numbered as opus 62 among Beethoven's compositions, and the violin concerto which will follow the overture on our programs is the immediately preceeding opus 61. And it, too, has no peer amongst all the violin concertos in existence. It may be matched by the one by Brahms in technical difficulty; but the accepted fact remains that a successful performance of the Beethoven D-major concerto is the highest point to which a violinist can attain.



BEETHOVEN

It is with ill-concealed pride that we feel secure in assigning the solo role to the concertmaster of our own orchestra. By no means every orchestra, I assure you, enjoys the services of a concertmaster who possesses that last mastery of his instrument necessary for playing the Beethoven concerto.

And then there will be the "Eroica" symphony, which will have a column to itself in a week or two.

ROYAL NOW SHOWING

Not This Time . . . But Later

New Westminster Royals' hustling rookie Pierre Brilliant (7) didn't score on Cougar goalie Ralph Almas this time but Brilliant came back later in the game to snipe a goal that helped send Cougars down to a 5-3 loss at Memorial Arena Friday night. Almas sprawls after making the save while Cougar Stan Maxwell (16) races in to steer off the rebound. In centre are Cougars' Joe Conn and Royals' Max McNab.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Cleaning out the bottom drawer (which will likely be full again in two weeks' time).

A letter (how we misplaced it, we don't know) from Victor Drew, which, though by now outdated, proclaims one salient fact:

"Amateur soccer standards are higher than ever."

And in the same cubbyhole a story out of New York that will certainly make Dave Turner smile.

Walker

Long a proponent of the observation that soccer is the No. 1 game in the world, Dave (Canada's soccer player of the half century) can feel pleased that one of the United States' leading columnists says:

"Some day—and it may not be too far off—a smart fellow is going to come along and put high-class organization and promotion into soccer, a sleeping giant in the United States. When he does he'll set off a mapor sports unheaval."

★ ★ ★

. . . and in a magazine there was a gem concerning Sammy Baugh, regarded as one of the greatest forward passers of all time: It was on Baugh's arrival that coach Sid Flaherty of the Washington Redskins said:

"Listen, young feller, in this pro football the pass receivers are particular; they want that ball where they can catch it."

"Yes sir," nodded Baugh.

"I want you to hit 'em in the eye with it," continued Flaherty.

"Yes Sir," said Baugh, "but which eye?"

★ ★ ★

In answer to a querry:

Major league umpires get a minimum salary of $5,000, a maximum of $15,000 (to date) with all expenses.

★ ★ ★

Whatever happened to Ronnie Smith, the Victoria pitcher who lost that heart-breaking 23-inning, 1-0 decision to Salem a couple of years ago? is a question that has oft been asked. And here's the answer:

Smith won 22 games for Bisbee Douglas in the Arizona-Texas League this year and in the latest issue of the Sporting News is credited with seven of the Hermosillo Club's first 12 victories in the Pacific Coast League of Mexico.

★ ★ ★

Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger, is one baseball player who agrees that golf professionals can help a batter out of a slump.

When you get a foul ball in baseball, you get another try. When you only get a piece of the ball in golf, you pick up the tab.

★ ★ ★

And so we leave the Cougars and their puzzling ways for a fortnight. By then they should be firmly entrenched in third place. Coach Billy Reay is a perfectionist at heart, but he may need that one guy to put it across—on the ice, that is. There are a few who could rise to the occasion and have shown signs of doing so. It is to be hoped that they won't deter in their efforts.

★ ★ ★

. . . Or as Kenny MacKenzie, the canny Scot who guides the destinies of the Royals, says:

The league this year?—You can't figure it; anybody's liable to bust wide open, but I wouldn't bet on anyone, it could be that close at the finish.

Injuries May Hurt Als

MONTREAL (CP) — Douglas Peahead Walker, a man not given to loquacity but capable of forthright facing of facts, thinks his Montreal Alouettes "are lucky to come as far as we did."

The silver-haired coach isn't deeply pessimistic over Sunday's second meeting of Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats. His team took a 37-12 trouncing in Hamilton Wednesday and another loss for the Als in this best-of-three series means Ti-Cats will enter the Grey Cup final.

Walker said Alouette injuries are not phonies. The club has gone along with superhuman work or team spirit "but that can't last forever." The situation is "getting beyond a question of physical ability."

Als were hit early in the season with the loss of tackle Jim Stanton. Then, October 18, Walker's second ace tackle, Tex Coulter, suffered a broken ankle. That was the start of the injury cycle.

It is possible Coulter, working out carefully the last few days, may get into Sunday's battle. But he won't be in top shape. Neither will guard Ray Cicia nor end Jim Miller.

Walker must also decide whether to use players who are "50 per cent perfect or go with reserves who are okay."

The Ti-Cats, too, have injured but playable talent. Walker didn't think either the Als or Ti-Cats could be in good shape for the Grey Cup game. He suggested, also, that the Big Four league's playoffs are "too late and too long."

GUARDS ORDERED TO SHOOT

Mexican Race Claims 10 Lives

MEXICO CITY (UP)—C. D. Evans of El Paso, Tex., "the world's safest driver in the world's toughest race," predicted today he will win the small stock class of the Pan-American auto race as 95 survivors set out on the most dangerous leg of the treacherous 1,912-mile route up the length of Mexico to Ciudad Juarez on the Rio Grande.

The death-defying course, which forces drivers to careen down narrow mountain roads at 120 miles an hour, already had claimed a reported 10 lives, including six Mexican spectators. In the two previous races a total of five participants, one spectator and one highway guard were killed.

In addition to the six spectators killed when they crossed the path of an American driver, those who lost their lives on their first three legs of the race were Giuseppe Escotuzzi and Antonio Strangoli of Italy and Oscar Cepeda Mier Teran and Luis Pombo Rivaderenyra of Mexico City.

Numerous accidents, which did not involve fatalities, had also reduced the original field of 167 cars to almost half that size. Mexican highway guards with fixed bayonets lined the course with orders to shoot to kill to prevent spectators and animals from getting in the path of the cars.

In the small sports car class, Jaroslav Juhan of Guatemala took over the lead when Hans Hermann and Kirl Kling of Germany were forced out by accidents, while the international sports class seemed to be a toss-up between Felice Bonetto and Piero Taruffi.

Evans, driving a Chevrolet, covered Friday's grueling course in 9.43.20, well ahead of N. D. Patterson, also of El Paso, Texas with a Ford who had 9.49.23.

Juhan, in a Porsche, led the seven remaining cars in the small sports class with 8.27.18, followed by Hans Hartmann of Germany with 8.28.33 and Manfredo Lippman of Guatemala with 9.21.38.

Bonetto, in a Lancia, held the lead in the international sports class with 7.08.34, followed by Taruffi, also in a Lancia, with 7.15.37.

Chuck Stevens of Lynwood, Calif., in a Lincoln, led the unlimited stock car class with 8.17.55.

HOAD DOWNS ROSEWALL IN AUSSIE NET FINALS

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Lewis Hoad overcame his youthful Australian countryman, Ken Rosewall, to win the New South Wales singles tennis championship today, 8-6, 4-6, 9-7, 10-8.

The tournament was regarded as a warm-up and indicator for the Davis Cup challenge round between the United States and Australia in Melbourne early in December. U.S. hopes were dampened by their standard-bearers' showing in the New South Wales affair.

Hoad and Rosewall knocked out Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert of the U.S. in singles and doubles play. The same players undoubtedly will meet in Davis Cup matches.

Maybe Billy Was Right; Cougars Bow to Royals

Locals Lose Chance to Gain; Play at Westminster Tonight

New Westminster 5, Victoria 3

By BILL WALKER

"You guys were in the office; you heard what I said."

So said coach Billy Reay of the Cougars to those of the press assembled following New Westminster's 5-3 Western Hockey League victory over the Cougars at Memorial Arena Friday night.

(Times readers will know what Billy was referring to; others should be required to buy Friday's edition.)

Ah, but that isn't fair, is it, that last remark!

Billy said Thursday he was worried about the Cougars because they were lackadaisical in this week's workouts and was concerned over the importance of the week-end double bill with the Royals (continuing tonight at New Westminster), which, with a pair of victories would have put the Cougars in undisputed possession of third place.

But not so now. Thus Billy's concern is justified.

Now four points behind the Royals and still in fifth place, the Cougars must shake their complacency and knock off the Royals tonight and the Seattle Bombers Sunday to achieve the goal that Reay set for them. Still they would only be tied for third place.

That's how important Friday night's contest was to Cougars and, for Royal fans, to New Westminster.

However loosely the game was played—and the Cougars did not want for opportunities—referee Ross Morrow was hardly a inspiration.

Coaches are forbidden to comment on the aspect of their activities, suffice to say that both were violently non-committal and with apparent reason.

Still, the Royals were the opportunists; the Cougars, those found wanting.

Big Luke Helped Make Difference

Reay's men outshot the visitors 35-23, big Luke Dechene rising to the heights he is accustomed to occupy at times specifically by handling 19 shots flawlessly in the second period.

And when it is considered that the second period was the frame in which the Royals broke a 2-2 tie to take a 3-2 lead and put the Cougars under the gun "Luke" gets the nod over his counterpart, the Cougars' Ralph Almas.

Yet it will remain a question as to who was neglected the most—Dechene or Aimas? They really were not at fault as much as were others.

For example the contest was eight minutes old when Andy Hebenton tipped home Walter Clune's drive to give the Cougars the lead and until then Almas had done the heavy work at the other end.

A penalty to Sam Lavitt of the Cougars forced a face-off in the Cougar zone at 11.15 and within four seconds Gordie Fashoway of the Royals had two shots, the second one good, to tie the count.

Lavitt was still in purgatory when Hebenton forced the Royals to realize that his 13th point in four games would be the result of lax defensive manouevres if they didn't cover Reay on his rebound, which they didn't, and the Cougars led 2-1.

The next counter was a pretty one, though it belonged to the Royals, and came against the run of play. Jackie Hamilton rolly-pollied his way to the Cougar line, said 'come and get me boys' and, when they obliged, gave the puck to Bobby Love, who was home free and the score was tied.

Then Jackie Went in Alone

And it was the same Hamilton who hefted his bulky frame around Ross Lowe to put the Royals ahead 3-2 in the second period.

Almas managed to keep matters in hand while Lavitt was consorting with the penalty timekeeper again later in the period. And it appeared that his work was not in vain when Colin Kilburn emerged from a melee in front of the New Westminster net at 2.41 of the third period with the third Cougar goal to his credit. This counter, incidentally, cost Dechene a $10 fine, because he objected too strenuosly in the belief that Kilburn had kicked the puck into the net, which Kilburn did, but the puck hit a defenseman before entering the net.

However Dechene need not have been so impromptu in his manner. For less than a minute later teammate Pierre Brilliant banged in a counter that, though earned, was through no physical fault of Almas, undefended as he was.

Now leading 4-3, the Royals took advantage of a holding penalty (of all things after what had gone before) to Doug Anderson to spring Frank Denny loose long enough to tip Bobby Bergeron's long drive from the blue line into the net and the Royals' victory was consolidated.

Tonight the two clubs meet again at New Westminster and, as announced previously, coach Reay of the Cougars plans a platoon of four forward lines and only three defensemen to carry the Cougar burden.

If successful, he may use the same formula against Seattle Sunday. Those are the Cougars' week-end chores.

Future Senior Champions?

It was a big night for some 200 youthful swimmers who took part in the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club-sponsored elementary schools gala at Crystal Garden Friday night. Close to 350 spectators were in attendance. Winners of the boys' relay Hibberson Trophy, Grades 1 to 6, are, left to right, Jack Wormald, Dale McIldoon, Donald MacKinnon and Lorne Poirier of Oaklands School. (See results, picture, Page 9.)

Canucks Nip Bombers, Stamps Trip Flyers

By The Canadian Press

Vancouver Canucks came out of a brief slump to knock off Seattle Bombers 4-3 Friday night and hold their four-point bulge over second-place Calgary Stampeders in the Western Hockey League.

The Stamps, meanwhile, were forced to come from behind before downing the cellar-dwelling Edmonton Flyers 5-3.

The win was sweet for the Canucks, who had just returned from a disastrous tour through the prairies in which they dropped three straight. Canucks are still to be beaten on their own ice this season.

Bombers took the initiative in the first period and grabbed a 1-0 lead on a goal by Mark Marquess. Vancouver took over in the second period after referee Lou Farelli slapped a minor and 10-minute misconduct penalty on Bombers' Joe Bell.

Canucks scored three quick goals in the period, two by Cy Rouse and the other by Larry Popein.

Gordie Kerr increased their margin to 4-1 early in the third period before Vic Loevendahl and Guyle Fielder closed out the scoring for Seattle.

PENALTIES HURT

Two penalties in the second period and another in the third on the Flyers were the deciding factor at Edmonton as the Stampeders erased a 2-0 first-period deficit and went on to win.

The game was tied 3-3 at the end of the second, but Calgary scored a pair in the third, one of them after Flyers had pulled goalie Glen Hall.

Gus Kyle, with two; Frank Ashworth, Ray Barry and Johnny Michaluk were the Calgary goal-getters. Rookie Jerry Melnyk, Steve Hyrmnak and playing-coach Bud Poile tallied for Flyers.

BRUINS BLANK HAWKS

With Max Out Kids Get Try

Boston 7, Chicago 0

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The miseries have returned to Max Bentley's back.

New York Rangers' sleek-haired stick-handling master from Delisle, Sask., enjoying a fine comeback after the aching back sent him into premature retirement last spring when he was with Toronto Maple Leafs, suffered twinges of the old complaint Friday.

Although X-rays indicated no severe damage, Frank Boucher decided to give his 33-year-old spark-plug centre the night off for the Rangers' Saturday fixture against the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

In his place, Boucher will play Billy McCreary, a high-scoring 18-year-old from Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

Up for a one-game trial, he will be reunited with two former teammates from the Rangers' Guelph farm club, 21-year-old Andy Bathgate and 20-year-old Ron Murphy. The three will form one of the youngest lines in the annals of the National Hockey eLague.

Aldo Guidolin may fill in for Bob Chrystal, out with a bruised kidney. Rookie centre Camille Henry, nursing a bruised heel, is another doubtful starter.

HABS MEET DETROIT

In another Saturday night tilt, the leading Montreal Canadiens face Detroit Red Wings in an effort to protect their two-point lead over the second-placers.

The Leafs, another two points back of Detroit, had their lead over fourth-place Boston cut to a similar margin Friday night when the Bruins whipped Chicago Black Hawks 2-0.

In Sunday activity, the Leafs tackle the last-place Hawks at Chicago while the Canadiens visit Boston and the Rangers meet Detroit.

FOR MOM

Boston's victory over the Hawks gave goalie Sugar Jim Henry a chance to shine as his mother watched him perform for the first time since he broke into the NHL 12 years ago. Leo Labine and rookie Doug Mohns fired the Bruin goals in the second period.

Yanks, Cards Battle For Teenage Hurler

NEW YORK (UP)—A roaring new feud between two time-honored baseball rivals was touched off yesterday when the Cardinals signed pitcher Ralph Terry to a contract and the Yankees went immediately to Commissioner Ford Frick hollering "We wuz robbed."

All the time the Yankees thought they had the 17-year-old "pheenom" from Miami, Okla., who had been sought by every club in the major leagues except the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Yankees announced Thursday that Terry had passed up big bonus money to sign with them and that he would report in St. Petersburg, Fla., next spring. Terry is going to St. Petersburg all right, but to the Cardinal camp there—that is, unless Frick rules that St. Louis was out of order in signing the youngster.

What happened, in Terry's own words at Miami, Okla., was that "I just had a change of heart."

"I was confused for a time," he said. "There was some pretty fast talk. But I feel I'd be better off with the Cardinals. I definitely want to play with them."

The Yankees, in no uncertain terms, said that they thought the Cardinal action was unethical, to say the least, and there was also the suggestion that it bordered on tampering. Lee MacPhail, assistant farm director, went immediately to see Frick.

Frick said he had "no comment" on the situation and that he wanted to hear both sides of the story.

Kid-Glove Tactics Killing a Man's Game?

How many times have soccer fans of the old school been heard to remark that present-day football is becoming too gentlemanly—and too nice? Many times we are sure, and their views were recently shared by a leading manager in Britain, who stated the "kid glove tactics" are killing the sport.

British soccer players are becoming "too nice" as many members of English touring teams have found to their disadvantage in Argentine.

Football like most real sports, should be tough. A man's game, it should be played the man's way. But, to be tough, it need not by any means be rough. There is a wealth of difference between a good, clean, old-fashioned shoulder-charge — however healthily robust—and sneaky ankle tapping on the "blind spot" of the referee.

Referees, or at least some of them, are losing their sense of proportion. They are condemning football players for these so-called "kid glove" tactics" through fear of being punished for play apparently considered contrary to the spirit of the laws of soccer. How many times have we seen a player penalized for a perfectly legal shoulder charge?

Soccer fans will remember Dereck Dooley the former who had the unfortunate leg amputation last season. He was always the centre of a storm of controversy regarding his robust play, but all agree that his tactics brought him many goals during his short career. However, one cannot forget that always going for the ball, not the man, he invariably caught the wrong end of the referee's whistle as a reward for the refreshing gust of fresh air his whole-hearted approach brought to the game.

In penalizing the tough player as against the rough player, referees, nowadays, are prone to fall into the trap innocently laid by one simple word — intentional. On this score the official referee's chart has the following to say:

"A thorough knowledge of every clause to this law (relating to fouls and misconduct) is absolutely essential, but its correct application depends on the referee's ability to make up his mind immediately whether or not the offense is intentional."

Sixty or 70,000 indignant fans may not see eye to eye with the award of a penalty against their team, but few genuinely and continually doubt the integrity of referees as a whole.

There is, for example, the "advantage law" which instructs officials, under no circumstances to interfere with the run of play even though a serious offense has been committed, if it penalizes the innocent team.

Admittedly it is a tricky decision to make. Yet how often do we see a forward charging down-field, recover possession of the ball after being fouled, only to hear the "cheep" of the official's whistle for the award of a free kick?

The outcome? More often than not the offending defense is given time to cover up and remuster their forces.

Among the 100 odd professional British teams it would be stupid to deny that there are persistent rough players. But the number is only a tiny proportion of those engaged.

Knocks and bruises are inevitable in this man's game. If accepted in a sportsmanlike spirit they provide one of the game's finest features. They develop character—and men.

The Lull Following the Storm

Youthful swimmers had a good time and made a lot of noise as they cheered for their favorites at the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club-sponsored elementary schools gala at Crystal Garden Friday night. Taking a more serious view of the proceedings after having competed in a race are, left to right, Bernice Timbers, Tillicum School; Karen Davidson, Monterey School; Jane Wheaton, St. Margaret's; Donna Mummery, North Ward, and Jane Davis of Cordova Bay School.

School Swim Champs Named

New champions were crowned at the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club-sponsored elementary schools gala at Crystal Gardens Friday night.

South Park School compiled a total of 17 points to take possession of the VASC Tropny for schools housing from grades one to eight. Lampson Street School, defending champions, placed third with 12 points, two behind runner-up Tillicum with 14.

TIMES TROPHY

Oaklands School captured the Victoria Daily Times Trophy, symbolic of supremacy for schools from grades one to six, with 16 points. Monterey School was second with 11 points and North Ward School followed with eight.

Oaklands School also took the boys' relay Hibberson Cup while Monterey won the girls' relay Hibberson Cup.

Results follow:

50 Yards freestyle, girls under 12—1, Janie Wheaton (St. Margaret's); 2, Marion Noble (Monterey); 3, Marcie Tressier (St. Margaret's).

50 Yards freestyle, boys under 12—1, Stanley Cameron (North Ward); 2, Lorne Poirer (Oaklands); 3, Andy Kerr (Cloverdale).

50 Yards freestyle, girls under 14—1, Judy Mezger (South Park); 2, Rita Scott (St. Ann's); 3, Diane Mezger (South Park).

50 Yards freestyle, boys under 14—1, Bruce Warburton (Tillicum); 2, Malcolm Blyth (Lampson; 3, Gordon Timbers (Tillicum).

50 Yards freestyle, girls 14 and over—1, Sandra Mezger (South Park); 2, Genevieve Whale (South Park); 3, Joyce Schuring (Tillicum).

50 Yards freestyle, boys 14 and over—1, Jim Mathews (Tillicum); 2, Bob Muse (Lampson); 3, Robert Grew (Lampson).

200 Yards, boys' relay, Grades 7 and 8—1, Tillicum; 2, Lampson; 3, South Park.

To Join Canucks

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Frank Kuzma, starry Trail Smoke Eater right winger, has been picked up on a Vancouver waiver which stipulates he may be recalled to Western Hockey League club without notice.

The Canucks, at present leading the WHL standings, recently suffered a three-game losing streak due to injuries.

WIN OR LOSE

Trafton Said 'On Way Out'

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram said in a dispatch from Winnipeg written by staff writer George Dulmage that "even if Winnipeg Blue Bombers win the Grey Cup, George Trafton looks like a dead duck as a coach in this football-mad city."

Dulmage added:

"The talk of Trafton and his future is almost as incessant among the fans as the talk of the chances of the Bombers to win the Canadian classic at Toronto Varsity Stadium November 28.

"Some say that if Trafton's team wins the Grey Cup, it will save his job for 1954. There are just as many others who insist that, Grey Cup honors or not, Trafton is definitely out.

"And what is more if he should "blow his top" against the Bomber executive before the Grey Cup, the said executive has plans to drop him at once. Plans, in fact, have been made to take care of just such a case.

"Bert Warwick, long-time Bomber associate, booster and Reg Threlfall's assistant coach in happier football days in Winnipeg, will be called in to take over if Trafton overplays his hand. Also, it is said, that if Trafton's team should lose to Toronto Balmy Beach in the cup seni-final at Winnipeg Saturday, the coach will be out instantly. If they win, the dismissal will come later, after the executive meets, and the new board for 1954 is named."

Dulmage said that Trafton was ordered by Ralph Misener, former Bomber president, to put Indian Jack Jacobs in at quarter in place of Joe Zaleski after half-time in the last game of the western conference final at Edmonton last Saturday night "and this was done . . .

"The Blue Bomber executive has met since the game and decided that Trafton will go immediately if he steps out of line again, and, as said, have gone so far as to name Warwick as the man to take over should such a situation arise.

TPAFTON DENIES

"Trafton naturally denies the whole thing and says all he knows is that he still has another year to go on his contract and hasn't been informed differently.

" 'We are going to win the Grey Cup for this great town' is his current cry. However, in his more pensive but jocular moments, he hints he will be the first coach in Canada to win a Grey Cup and his walking papers on the same day.

"This seems likely to be true in theory, but it is the general belief that the executive will wait until mid-winter to announce his dismissal — providing, of course, Trafton does not draw down their ire again.

"Trafton said he had feuded for most of his time out here with executive members who thought they could run the football club better than he could. He also has feuded with newspaper men and broadcasters . :

At Winnipeg, Bombers' president Karl Slocomb said only: "Trafton will be in charge of the club here Saturday and if Bombers win, he'll be in charge of the club at the Grey Cup."

Kits Spoil Vic High Homecoming

The rugby part of Victoria High School's annual homecoming ceremonies Friday was not quite the roaring success that homecomings are supposed to be.

As a matter of fact, the game proved disastrous for Vic High as they were whitewashed, 43-0, by a tremendously strong side from Vancouver's Kitsilano High School.

The Kits, rated as one of the strongest prep sides ever assembled in the province, lived up to their billing as they ran through the Vic High squad for a 20-0 half-time lead and then poured on more coal in the second half, all the time keeping Vic High out of scoring range with deadly tackling.

The victory was the eighth in a row for the Kits, who displayed a polished backfield and an aggressive pack of forwards who continually hounded the ball.

Earl Keeley, a hefty three-quarters, was poison to the local side as he scored two tries and booted five converts and a penalty kick for a commendable 19 individual points. Glen Stover, another shifty backfielder, didn't do so well—he only scored 12 points on four tries.

Martinez 'The Fighter' Turns Tables on Vejar

NEW YORK (UP)—Welterweight Vince Martinez, who left a draftsman's desk to turn the fables on Pvt. Chico Vejar, declared happily today, "I feel a hundred per cent better in the ring, now that I'm strictly a fighter."

Violent Vince of Paterson, N.J., displayed notable improvements in pace and stamina Friday night as he won a unanimous 10-round decision over Vejar of Fort Benning, Ga., and Stamford, Conn., in their return TV-radio fight before 7,319 at Madison Square Garden.

Vejar had won a unanimous verdict over Martinez at the garden on March 13. That was before Vince gave up his job as draftsman and before Chico was inducted into the army. The draftsman's job prevented proper training.

Martinez, favored at 8-5, snapped Vejar's winning string at 11 straight victories and had him on the floor in the second round of their rousing fight.

Chico might have won the bout had he not made the strange mistake of trying to turn southpaw in the sixth round. He turned portsider against an explosive right-hand puncher and got nailed. And he never had the same "zing" after his battering in the sixth. It was a doubly unfortunate mistake because Chico appeared to have command of the fight then, after winning the third, fourth and fifth rounds.

HOW HOUSTON LOVES THIS FOOTBALL FAN

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—A school whose chief benefactor apologetically explained that his gifts had amounted to only $25,000,000, not $210,000,000, has $2,225,000 more from him for a football victory.

The school is the burgeoning University of Houston and the oilman-philanthropist with football fever is Hugh Roy Cullen.

Cullen, pleased with the school's football win over Baylor last week, announced his gift at a campus pep rally for today's game with Texas Tech.

Totems Spank College

Taking advantage of a strong third-quarter rally, Victoria High School Totems continued their winning ways by defeating Vancouver College, 59-49, in an intercity high school exhibition basketball game at Victoria High Friday night.

The teams divided 20 points in the first quarter and Totems held a slight 25-23 half-time lead. Totems then rose to the occasion by hooping 19 points in the third session and coasted to victory.

Totems' lanky Ed Pedersen topped all scorers with 15 points. Tom English netted nine points and Ed Crabbe scored eight in the winning cause.

MEET ESQUIMALT

Totems will be playing their second game in as many nights when they are scheduled to meet Esquimalt High School Dockers in a preliminary contest to the Harlem Globetrotters-Boston Whirlwinds game at Bay Street Armoury tonight at 7.30.

Scorers follow:

Victoria High Totems—Ed Peterson 15, Ed Crabbe 8, Dennis Perry 1, Waldo Skillings, Jr. Ed Kowalyk 7, Gary Fletcher 1, Tom English 9, Bud Rutherford 2, Art Chiko 5, Bill Abbott 5, Ken McCullough 6. Total, 59.

Vancouver College—Ken Mulhern 18, Bill Bailey 6, Ivar Bruhang 13, George Hoak 3, Chuck O'Fallon 11, Eric Griffiths 3, Larry Tidball 2, Paul Savidge, Gerry Leahy 2. Total, 49.

Severson Continues To Pile Up Fan Votes

It is going to take a veritable cloudburst of ballots to prevent Whitey Severson from being named the Victoria Daily Times first Amateur Athlete of the Year.

And the way things are going, it appears that three out of every four sports fans in the city are going to see to it that spectacular blond play-maker of the Victoria Shamrocks adds the Times Trophy to his great list of achievements.

Voting was heavy this week but confined to three contenders—Severson, teammate Arnie Ferguson and boxer-wrestler-gymnast Lionel Speller.

Severson polled almost twice the number of ballots of the other two candidates combined.

He now holds a huge lead over all other local amateur stars who have been named since the contest started last June.

Alley Boss No Slouch, Begg Hits 655 Triple

By RON COULTER

Things were really humming at Strathcona Bowling Alleys Thursday night, and most of the noise was supplied by manager Roy Begg.

Rolling for Dorman's Men's Wear in the men's commercial tenpin section, Roy fired single games of 211, 211 and 233, in racking up a new league season triple record of 655. His effort eclipsed the former mark of 606, set last week by Ron Wilson.

Verne Goudall, 569; Harry Moulton, 561; Jim Cambrey, 531; Ron McArthur, 530, and Bill Coates at 521 rolled other leading triples. Goudall and Cambrey, 204; Moulton, 201, and Lou Kamann and Ray Oberg each with 200 tallied high singleton's.

Dorman's had top team single of 1,000 and triple at 2,825.

★ ★ ★

Ed Simmons paced Gibson's senior play with a 571 total. Ken Munn and Andy Palmer both totaled 546.

Jack Ferguson, 223; Simmons, 211; Ron Wilson, 208, and Munn at 204 topped the singles department. Orange Crush turned in team high single, 891, and triple, 2,589.

Alex Quinn, 599; Norm Baker, 579; Harry Holness and Walt Davis, 552, and Roy Bridger and Wilbur Webb with 550 led the commercial section.

Barney Barnswell, 234; Quinn, 206, 223; Ed Simmons, 222; Wilbur Webb, 214; Holness and Baker, 213; Ian McKeachie, 207; Bob Morrison, 205, and Gordie Bamford at 201 tallied leading singles.

Connie McBeth, 557, and Ken Munn, 554, were high in mixed play. McBeth had top single of 235, while Jim Nicol hit for 208. Teddy Smith had a 502 triple to lead the women and also turned in a 187 single, as did Lorna Luney, who picked up a 6-7-10 spit.

Lollie Hughes rolled a 474 triple and 182 single in Strathcona women's competition. Cooper's Plumbing and Heating claimed team high single of 789 and total of 2,257.

★ ★ ★

Hugh Cowan was top man in Gibson's commercial fivepins with an 851 total. Phil Smith, 823; Eric Ware, 783; Larry Griffin, 757, and Howie Butler tallied other high triples. Ware, 343; Griffin, 328; Cowan, 324; Cy Wallis, 323; B. Morgan, 321; R. O'Kell, 310, and E. Smith with 304, 301, trundled high singles.

Jean Campbell posted a new women's triple record of 746 in the mixed league. Art DeGiralamo with 771 and Jack Latham at 761 led the men.

Julie Toller totaled 747 in Capital City fivepin play. Irene Henson led the Wednesday women's section with a 711 triple. Jills took top place the first round.

Bill Cool, 790; Eric Chayko, 772; Bruce Robinson and Wilf Smith, 743; Bud Baldwin, 722 and John Thomas, 702, topped the men's commercial league.

Don Corbett rolled a torrid 881 to pace the classic section, while Doug Spruston, 831; Phil Smith, 816; Ken Smith, 797; Mary Chayko, 792; Gerry Lawrence, 779, and Howie Butler, 763, followed.

LAMINATED BATS APPROVED

Pitchers Growling Again

NEW YORK (AP) — When the rules committee of professional baseball voted to permit the use of laminated bats during the 1954 season, it was the first big change in the specifications of the baseball bat since the first rule was passed in 1876. And it left a lot of fans wondering just what is a laminated bat and what effect it will have on baseball next season.

Instead of being made from a solid piece of ash wood a laminated bat is composed of four strips of ash and one of hickory, glued together under pressure and then turned and sanded into shape like any other bat. That's where it gets the name — from the strips, or laminae.

It's more durable than solid wood, a bit more resilient and capable of absorbing shocks, usually better balanced and has a better "feel."

But so far as producing base-hits, the only difference will be that a hitter isn't as likely to break a favorite stick and have to use one in which he has less confidence. Even so, some pitchers have begun to growl that the manufacturers do everything to help the hitters and nothing for the hurlers.

MARTINI CHAMPS, SHE KNOWS, BUT . . .

Elsa No Baseball Fan

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—There is more testimony at hand today than that supplied by the supreme court to prove unquestionably that big league baseball isn't as world serious as it is supposed to be.

The latest witness is Elsa Maxwell, the international hostess who knows just everybody who is anybody, my dear.

Miss Maxwell, as you probably know, moves in headline circles. Her acquaintances include presidents, kings, ambassadors, movie stars and assorted celebrities. As the lady who introduced the cocktail and canape to French society, she can reel off the names of the mighty with bubbling ease.

But, while she probably could name for you the martini champion of the Rue de la Paix or the ham and rye champions of hollywood, Miss Maxwell doesn't know baseball from borscht.

This became obvious when the lady took the "person-to-person" television show into her home and Ed Murrow, its able interviewer, laid the groundwork by drawing out of Elsa the names of those whom she knew.

Miss Maxwell batted 1,000 in the page one headlines, but when it came to the sports page she took up where Gil Hodges left off in 1952 when he went zero for 21 in the world series.

"Do you know Yogi Berra?" Murrow asked.

Miss Maxwell frowned thoughtfully.

"No," she admitted. "Who's that?"

"Do you know Roy Campanella?" Murrow probed.

Isn't he an Italian singer, or something?" Miss Maxwell countered falteringly.

"Do you know Stan Musial?" Murrow asked with what seemed to be devilish delight.

"Who's he, an Italian gangster or somebody?" Elsa faltered like a lady caught with her celebrities down.

At this point, Murrow relented and supplied the information that they were baseball players. Miss Maxwell brightened and volunteered that she knew a baseball man one time.

"Steve Veeck, I think his name was," she smiled with delight.

It obviously was time to change the subject, and Murrow thoughtfully did.

HOBSON'S CORNER

Table Tennis No Fledgling

By G. N. HOBSON

It is not unusual in the realm of sport for the adherents of a particular pastime to disparage the efforts of others in their chosen fields.

A tough rugger player, for instance, might be tempted to think ping-pong is a game for elderly ladies and pink teas.

The truth of the matter is that table tennis has been a major sport for more than 30 years. Even if it lacks some of the so-called moral and uplifting qualities attributed to rugger and other contact games, it is very exacting upon the players. A list of its devotees would be longer than any fisherman's yarn.

★ ★ ★

Fred Perry, one time English lawn tennis star, was first of all champion of the miniature game and won the world's table tennis championship in Budapest, Hungary, in 1929, before anyone heard of him at Wimbledon. Just a passing example.

Today, enthusiasts are counted in the billions and a table tennis table has replaced the piano in several homes. The Hungarians continue to dominate the sport but the Americans give them a tough time in international contests.

The most expensive part about playing badminton is the shuttle. This delicate feathered bird, at 50 cents a time, has an average life of one game. Several firms have tried to manufacture substitutes but only with very limited success.

It is cheering to note then, that a British scientist—by coicidence? a badminton fan—has invented a fluid which, when sprayed on the feathers of the bird, make it good for about 50 games. Undoubtedly, the shuttle firms will buy him out, but it's nice to know that they are not getting it all their own way.

"Another faggot, boy, and be quick about it . . . now," continued Ernie, casting a malicious eye around the circle of Back Room Boys. "I still maintain that Victoria is not a sporting town. When they go to see a game played, all they want to see is blood."

Now them's fighting words and the fight wasn't long in starting.

"Most people," countered Jim, "pay to see a sport played properly, they don't go for this rough stuff any more." A chorus of "phooeeys" made me decide to withdraw.

For all I know they're still going at it—but nothing they could say would alter my own opinion, given both as a player and spectator—followers of sport in Victoria are the bloodthirstiest lot I've ever come across.

A note just slithered across my desk concerning the game of Squash Racquets. Entirely British in origin, it says, it was first seen played by the debtors in Fleet Street prison. Might be something in that, too. I remember seeing one of the passageways behind Fleet Street called Racquet Court, and, one wall of the prison is part of that court.

How did the game get its name? The squashy sound of the rubber ball as it hit the wall, mes amis. Following this, baseball should be called "Thhwaack."

Brentwood Badminton Club was the only one to field a first-division team in the Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League. The reason as given by officials of other clubs: a shortage of first-class lady players. Recent open tourney of the VLT & B Club proved all over again that age has little or nothing to do with success (in local circles at least) it is condition which counts.

Famous Judge to Honor City Kennel Club Show

The presence of Mrs. Madeline Pickup of London, Eng., is expected to make the Victoria City Kennel Club's winter parlor show at Crystal Garden, Dec. 2 one of the biggest events of its type in local history.

Mrs. Pickup, regarded as one of the most famous all-round judges in England, will be en route to Honolulu to judge an all-breed show and has been appointed to officiate at the German Shepherd Dog Specialty Show in Seattle prior to her departure for Honolulu. She will judge all breeds in the Victoria show.

Provision will be made in the classification for all breeds of purebred dogs from three months of age and includes junior puppies, three months and under six months; senior puppies, six months and under 12 months; novice, any age that has not won a first prize; Canadian bred, dogs bred in Canada; bred by exhibitor and open for all ages. Champions are barred from competition in all these classes.

Judging will begin at 8 and entries will be taken at the door one hour previous to the start of judging. Further information may be obtained from the secretary at E 2536.

Medal Round

Draws for the ladies' 15 and under medal round, to be played at Victoria Golf Club Tuesday, follows:

Bare-Toed Booter Best, Says Coach

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Coach Mance Park of Huntsville high school, who thinks a boy can kick a football farther and more accurately without shoes, not only has a bare-toed booter de luxe this season, but the kicker has an understudy who's just as good.

Huntsville has won nine games without a loss, scoring 451 points to the opposition's 84. The average of more than 50 points a game is considered sensational even in Texas schoolboy football.

Shoeless Ken Coleman has kicked 44 extra points in 48 attempts. Last week against Madisonville, Coleman made schoolboy history when he booted 12 extra points in 12 tries.

Next year, with Coleman graduated, Park will be looking to Ken's stand-in, Tommy Reeves, for barefooted bullseye kicking. Tommy hasn't seen much action this season because of an injury, but his record is 100 per cent — three out of three.

CAGE TEAM STRONG

Dockers Point For Big Year

By DENNY BOYD

The Esquimalt High School Dockers are taking tenders for a mighty big marine job.

The red-and-white-clad Dockers have offered to take any of the other high school senior basketball clubs into drydock, with the guarantee that the opponents will come out with their paint chipped and their hulls scraped.

Third-place finishers in the Vancouver Island High School Tournament at Alberni last year, Bill Reid's basketballers are looking for bigger and better things this season.

Although pre-season practices were curtailed due to the recently-lifted polio ban on school sports, Reid reports that this year's club will be better than last year's "if they hustle like I know they can."

Lanky Bill Dobbie, the huge bucketman of last year's team who broke all existing scoring records in the inter-high tournament, is back at school this year but is not eligible for basketball as he is six weeks too old. Also missing this year is Ralph Bennett, a heady, play-making guard.

STRONG NUCLEUS

Holdovers are team captain Marc Cunningham, Gary Gilbert; a forward switching to guard; Mike Lowery, Wes Umphrie, Al Webb, Gerry Harris, Joe Patterson and Chuck Bennett. Among the newcomers are Ray Bryant, Jon Magwood, a six-foot-six centre; Harry Parry and George Wright.

Gerry Horne coaches the junior hoopers and advises that George McCreadie, Jim Whalen, Dave Shaw and Evan Mitchell are names to remember.

The senior girls' team, coached by Mrs. L. Clark, will rely heavily on the proven talents of Pat Lisle, Bev Ross and Berna Rogers.

On the rugby front, Esquimalt will have teams entered in the bantam and junior leagues and will have a senior team available for exhibition games. There is no senior league this year.

Roy Temple, coach of the juniors, reports he has a brand new squad ready to go and is banking heavily on the playing of five-eighths Sergie Gibson, a fleet 160-pounder; and scrum-half Pat Floyd.

FOR THE GIRLS

Eagerly awaited at Esquimalt High is the Bridgman Cup tournament, a one-day invitational grass hockey tournament that will be played at Oak Bay High this year.

Among the candidates for the Esquimalt team this year are Bev Ross, Pat Lisle, Val Knowles, Anne Quesnell, Yvonne Lezetc and Loraine Roach. The team is coached by C. Ozard.

BRITISH SAD

Lone Olympic Winner Near End of Trail

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The jumping form of a giant bay horse named Foxhunter has aroused apprehension in many Britons who ordinarily wouldn't know a jumper from a milkwagon steed.

If the cagey old show jumper is ready to bow out, Britain must bid good-bye competitively to the horse that won the country's only Olympic gold medal last year. Foxhunter has been with the British equestrian team in the United States shows and this week winds up at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto. Reports indicate he is no longer the great jumper beloved by young and old alike here.

But Foxhunter's fabulous record of 83 international firsts makes him the champion of all time. His closest competitor is Limerick Lace or Ireland, which won 53 international firsts between the wars.

Baseball Lottery Charges Dismissed

TORONTO CP)—Judge Robert Forsyth ruled today that the Toronto Maple Leaf baseball club didn't break any laws by giving prizes to attendance guessers. He dismissed three lottery charges against the club and said:

"In my opinion this type of contest or scheme doesn't come under the section of the code under which the club has been charged."

BILL SPIVEY HERE, TOO

Harlem Won't Hog All Tonight's Show

By DENNY BOYD

It's almost a cinch that three things will happen to Bill Spivey before he leaves town this week-end.

1. Someone will see the seven-footer on the street and think, "Man, what a basketball player he'd make."

2. Spivey will spend a restless night because no hotel in town will have a bed long enough to house his frame.

3. At tonight's game, some eager beaver fan is going to holler, on first sight of Spivey, "That's the guy in the scandal."

Happenings 1 and 2 are the natural results of standing seven feet, one-quarter inch, weighing 210 pounds and having muscles to match the frame.

But No. 3 is the one that probably gripes Spivey more than the sleep he misses on the normal-sized beds while travelling with the Boston Whirlwinds. It's true, Spivey, in his senior year at Kentucky University, was involved in one of the rash of basketball scandals that shook the sporting fraternity. But unlike other stars, Ralph Beard, Alex Groza, Gene Melchiorre and Sherm White, Spivey was exonerated and his name was cleared of all taint of scandal. However, the news of his innocence failed to get around as fast as the word that he had been mentioned in a sell-out.

And so it is that a great basketball player, through no fault of his own, is stuck with a brand that is slow in disappearing. Probably more people know that Spivey was involved in the scandal than know that he was one of the greatest All-Americans of the postwar period.

Spivey will be showing his prowess tonight when as a member of the Boston Whirlwinds, he appears at Bay Street Armories to help the Harlem Globetrotters titillate a large crowd of basketball fans.

And probably Bill will be hoping that maybe tonight people will forget the fact that he had the misfortune to have his name linked with a bunch of guys who sold out the game that he loves.

What's in this bag?

CHEMICAL FERTILIZER—Yes, but that's not all. There's a Canadian natural resource—Sulphur—formerly wasted to the air—a destroyer of vegetation—now used to make fertilizers. There's millions of dollars invested in plant and equipment. There's foresight, planning, technical know-how and the co-operative effort of many minds and skills. There's the increased yield from fertilized crops that are important to our daily living. There are jobs—for the men who make it—for the men who sell it. There's increased income for the farmer who uses it.

Yes—There's more in this bag than meets the eye.

WEEK IN U.S. BUSINESS

Pessimism Is Receding

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—There were new indications this week that the "normal" pattern of seasonal ups and downs was once again asserting itself as a guiding force in United States business.

NEW ADMINISTRATOR of Rest Haven Hospital, Sidney, is A. George Rodgers. Mr. Rodgers, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario-Quebec Conference of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, takes over from Charles M. Crawford, administrator for five years, who has been posted to Washington, D.C. Mr. Rodgers has served the church in England, Palestine, India and the Philippine Islands. He was a prisoner of the Japanese for four years during the Second World War.

Industrial output continued downward. But activity in many basic lines was still fairly close to recent peaks. And hard-headed business men seemed to be betting on an early pickup.

The U.S. Savings and Loan League said: "No sharp business decline is in sight."

The week's economic box score showed these major trends:

1. Scheduled steel production (91.3 per cent of capacity) at a new 1953 low for a strike-free week.

2. Auto output down 14 per cent to its lowest level of the year (chiefly because of model change-over operations at General Motors).

3. Signs of ebbing activity in railroad freight transportation, home building and retail trade.

4. Bank clearings at their highest point in 13 months; loans to business at their highest level since March.

5. Stock price averages showed little net change. Soybean futures skyrocketed. Other commodities failed to develop a trend.

Optimism was encouraged by President Eisenhower's assurance the federal government will use all weapons at its disposal, including its credit management facilities, to ward off any recession.

Taken in stride was the President's admission that there's little hope of a balanced federal budget in fiscal 1954-55.

Oats-Import Controls Recede

Appointment last week of a joint Canadian-U.S. commission to study commercial relations between the two nations has considerably lessened the chances the U.S. will impose import-controls on Canadian oats, according to James Richardson & Sons Ltd.'s weekly grain market letter, issued at Winnipeg Thursday night.

Oats continue in fair demand from U.S. interests, Richardson's letter reports. Shipments of Canadian oats cleared to American destinations totalled almost 29,000,000 bushels on Nov. 11 compared with 13,840,000 in the same period last year.

The market letter says there "have been no official advices from Washington regarding the request for oat-import controls by U.S. department of agriculture, but unofficial reports indicate" that "the chances of any controls being imposed in the near future" have "considerably lessened."

Separation of Husky Oil & Refining Ltd. from Husky Oil Ltd., U.S. firm that owns 60 per cent of HORL shares, is contemplated. Details of the "spin-off" transaction were mailed today to shareholders by HORL's president, Glenn E. Nielsen, Calgary.

Jet Oils Ltd. shareholders will meet in Calgary next Thursday to consider an offer by Canadian Ashmont Oils Ltd. to purchase their company by an exchange of shares . . . The Powell River Company will pay an extra 30 cents along with the usual quarterly dividend of 25 cents, due Dec. 15. This boosts Powell River's 1953 dividend payment to $1.45, compared with $1.15 last year.

INSURE DRIVER, NOT THE CAR

"Insure the driver, not the car."

That's the core of realtor Milton King's "new approach" to B.C.'s automobile insurance problem—and one of his half-dozen suggested ways to cut the price of car insurance.

"Present accident rate is costing the insurance companies—and you who pay the premiums—about $150 per minute. That makes motoring an expensive luxury," Mr. King says.

Today's auto insurance system is "outmoded and needs drastic overhauling. . . . It was conceived when cars were few, speeds low, and has failed to keep pace with the times."

"We should write auto insurance on an honest basis. A car parked in the driveway is no great hazard—but when a driver takes it out on the highway, anything can happen."

It's about time, says Mr. King, "that we insured the driver and not the car." Actually, he contends, "that's what car insurance companies are doing today, but they don't admit it, even to themselves."

"You can own a brand-new car, but if you are accident-prone, keep bad company, or have excessive drinking habits, try to get insurance!" The car "has nothing to do with your inability to get proper and reasonably-priced coverage," Mr. King argued.

Mr. King believes cost of auto insurance also could be cut by internal efficiencies within the business. For instance, streamlining of the handling of application forms and the issuing of policies would effect considerable saving. So would discarding of the traditional one-year car insurance policy and adoption of two-year or three-year coverage.

Mr. King emphasizes there's no saving, real or otherwise, to be made in agent's commission. Many agents now lose money in the handling of auto insurance, he declares. Any further reductions "might drive him out of the business—which would be to the detriment of the companies and of the great bulk of the motoring public."

CONDUCTOR of Victoria Sales Executive Club's "Sales Refresher Clinic" next Thursday and Friday will be Donn Mason, internationally known sales counsellor. The two-evening course of instruction for retail sales people will be held in S. J. Willis Junior High School. Enrollment forms, fee $6, are obtainable at Cec Fletcher's Men's Shop, 755 Yates Street.

Comstock Midwestern Will Pay Debts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Comstock Midwestern Limited, which built a large section of the 718-mile Trans-Mountain Oil Pipeline, announced Friday that it will pay off all its creditors.

The announcement was made by C. C. Rathgeb, company president, as Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson approved transfer of the company's winding-up proceedings from the Ontario Supreme Court to B.C.

Vancouver contractors, Campbell-Bennett Ltd., one of 425 creditors, claims $2,000,000 under a sub-contract. In Toronto they asked leave to file a petition claiming bankruptcy against Comstock Midwestern and also opposed transferring the case to B.C. Both applications were refused.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE REVIEW

Most Prices Quietly Slip Lower

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

This week's stock market trading saw most price groups move slightly lower in quiet trading.

Industrials and western oils had the biggest losses on the exchange's Friday-to-Friday indexes, followed by golds. Base metals were a little higher. Uraniums and Bathurst, N. B., area base metals, not represented by index figures, were lower.

Brazilian Traction twice reached new lows for the year early in the week, but strengthened toward the week's end.

In refining oils, Trans Mountain moved lower, down almost $1.50 Thursday for another new low for the year.

METALS ADVANCE

Strong senior issues led base metals advance. Noranda, down in trading for almost a month, showed strength in mid-week.

The commodity market for copper and lead showed signs of future strength on indications of increasing demands from Europe.

Gold losses were not as great as in previous weeks. Trading followed an irregular pattern, with two gaining sessions and three losing.

Thursday, within an hour of the market close, golds showed a wide list of moderate rises. This coincided with reports that Premier Frost of Ontario might intervene in the Porcupine gold strike. By Friday, the trend halted.

OILS HESITANT

Western oils were lower in mixed trading as oilmen, investors and traders waited for news from Edmonton or Ottawa on a decision regarding the eastern gas pipeline to Ontario and the export question.

The Montreal market showed banks up .18 at 35.27, utilities unchanged at 49.30, industrials down 1.60 at 179.20, combined down 1.10 at 150.90, papers up 6.72 at 764.69 and golds down 1.22 at 50.12.

The Toronto stock exchange's Friday-to-Friday closing indexes showed industrials down 1.23 at 308.56, golds down .73 at 68.19, base metals up .42 at 146.66 and western oils down 1.11 at 88.84.

Jobs Keeping Pace With Applications

Jobs are available in Victoria for certain classes of skilled tradesmen and salesmen, the National Employment Office reported today.

Number of jobs reported has kept pace with the number of applications for work, said C. A. Mudge, office manager, to keep the number of unemployed near the same level as last week.

Finlayson Invades Socred Gathering

Challenges Gunderson With Ready Questions For All-Candidate Debate Monday Evening

For a few moments Friday night is began to look like a partial coalition between Social Credit and Progressive Conservatives. But not for long.

Deane Finlayson, Conservative candidate in the November 24 by-election, turned up at a Socred rally for Finance Minister Einar Gunderson . . . and addressed the 75 persons present.

His remarks: "I accept the invitation you have extended to me to attend your meeting at the Royal Theatre, November 23, at which time you advise I will have the opportunity to present my views in fair hearing.

"In fairness to you and because you (Mr. Gunderson) declined an earlier invitation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to appear at an impartial meeting, I now challenge you to be prepared to:

1. "As finance minister . . . tell the people where the money came from to reduce the debt of this province by the amount of $34,000,000.

2. "Tell the people . . . what legislation was enacted in the last session of the Legislature empowering the borrowing of money, the repayment of which is guaranteed by the province of B.C., and further, the amount so guaranteed.

3. "I challenge you . . . to reveal your estimates of the revenue the new tax measures will produce, and how you propose to apply the revenue so derived.

4. "I challenge you to state precisely where your party has eliminated 'patronage'."

Mr. Finlayson spoke during the question period following speeches by Mr. Gunderson, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

COPY FOR MINISTER

When Mr. Finlayson had concluded his remaks, Mr. Gunderson asked: "Could I have a copy?" The Conservative leader passed one over.

Several persons present attempted to ask questions of Mr. Finlayson, but he said, "This is your meeting and you pay the rent," indicating it was not the time or place for questions to be asked of him.

C. J. H. Holms, Saanich, asked of Premier W. A. C. Bennett: "If you had achieved leadership of the Conservative party, would you be with Social Credit today?"

The premier replied: "Even if the party machine had been clean, I'd have walked out anyway."

He pointed out that when he joined the Socreds "there were only 500 of them in the province," and prospects were limited.

Social Credit today, he said, had more members than all the other parties put together, though the party was, "always worried about the little sparrows that fall."

'STRAIGHT FALSEHOOD'

Concerning Liberal leader Arthur Laing's statement that more than 13,000 members had quit the party since last May, Mr. Bennett said the statement was "a straight falsehood. The opposite is true. Mr. Laing's party has not that many in it."

"We pull the false mask off the Liberal party," he said.

Concerning Liberal advertisements in the newspapers, Mr. Gunderson said, "I could almost cuss. It is utter falsehood."

Where does the money come from to pay debts? He asked rhetorically. "We save money and apply it on debts the same as individuals. It's as simple as that," he explained.

Of himself, if elected, Mr. Gunderson said, "I'll do my very best."

In speaking of Mr. Gunderson, Attorney-General Bonner termed him "quietly competent."

Premier Bennett said B.C. was fortunate in having a man with the finance minister's qualifications.

Among other points made by Premier Bennett: The old line parties haven't a chance in getting back in B.C. for another 50 years; of criticism of the 10 per cent logging tax by the government, "Ontario has had it for years. But they (the opposition) don't mention it; that school bonds in B.C. were the highest in Canada because the government guaranteed them.

Chairman of the meeting, held in Oaklands School, was Gerry Cross.

Court of Revision Deletes 66 Names From Voters' List

No private citizens attended when Mayor Claude Harrison, Ald. William Pinfold and Ald. Arthur Dowell sat at a court of revision Friday on the city's 1953-54 voters' list.

The list closed October 31. The court sat for the purpose of correcting any errors or for considering any challenges to name on the list.

The court added 17 names of property owners to the list, when it was explained these persons had acquired property in the city before October 31 deadline, but that the Land Registry Office had not listed them as such until this month. At the same time, the court deleted names of 16 persons listed as property owners, persons it was shown by Land Registry records, who had disposed of their holdings prior to October 31.

Four names, deleted in error from the list, were re-entered.

At the same time, the court ordered that the names of 50 persons, listed as either householders or licensees, be struck from the list. This was done when city officials testified these persons had failed to qualify either through moving to another city; not paying road or poll taxes, or not paying their current year's license fees. In other cases, it was shown persons formerly listed as householders had acquired property and because of this were listed twice.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT GRANT PROVIDES JUBILEE EQUIPMENT

A federal grant to secure new equipment for Royal Jubilee Hospital was announced in Ottawa today by Dr. Frank T. Fairey, Victoria MP.

He said the Department of National Health and Welfare has approved a grant of more than $7,800 for Royal Jubilee and Vancouver General Hospital. The grant includes provision for the purchase of two incubators and eight microscopes.

Fireboat Purchase Decision Tossed Back to Area Councils

The question of whether or not a fireboat is needed here has been referred by the Civil Defense Control Board, which met Friday, to the 1954 municipal councils of Greater Victoria following a general discussion of the subject.

Members had agreed that a fireboat was required for waterfront protection, but to date no decisions had been reached on either purchase, cost or maintenance.

It was felt possible, however, that cost might be shared by the Federal government under the civil defense budget.

Gregory Pleads for Hospital: To Save Lives, Not Dollars

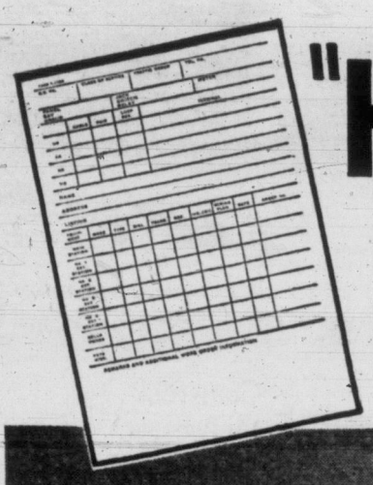
Freeze orders affecting costs in B.C. hospitals were attacked at length by Liberal candidate George Gregory in a by-election meeting held at Quadra School Friday night.

"Jubilee Hospital is desperate," he said. George Masters, Jubilee administrator, he said, had told him that wage-bargaining is under way and the hospital can give no increases while budgets are frozen at the 1952 level.

The recent polio outbreak cost thousands and thousands of dollars. There is one kind of polio that many doctors in the east don't bother to fight, so slim is the hope. They let the patients die, Mr. Gregory said.

But, at Jubilee they have saved three-quarters of this type of patient. He quoted Mr. Masters as saying: "It is not our job to save money but to save lives."

"The government has lost the respect of the hospitals as well as the people" by its false economies, he added.



"HEALTH CHART" for your telephone...

In maintaining a service as near certain as possible, your telephone company keeps a close watch on the almost 300,000 telephones under its care. As part of its program of maintenance the company charts the "health" record of every one of these thousands of telephones.

These records are kept on special cards—one for each telephone line—at central offices throughout the province. At a glance these cards tell the history of the telephones on the lines with which they are concerned. They tell the type of telephones used, the details of installation, the past performance and exactly where the wires for those telephones are located amidst the maze of cables and switches that make up your telephone system.

When trouble occurs, this ready reference speeds repairs by providing essential information immediately. It supplies a complete history of your telephone within a moment and assists in bringing you the best possible telephone service.

JACK BEASTALL SAYS

Keeping Garden Diary Helps To Avoid Costly Mistakes

My great respect is for those people who are able to keep a diary, entering faithfully at the close of each day the pleasures, tribulations, people met and things accomplished during the previous day.

As a keeper of a diary I am an utter failure. To me, the hardest part of gardening is making records in the garden notebook.

Beastall

Yet, I know well the value of such records. Each year I wish they were more complete, because it is impossible to remember all the minor details about each plant and each job, no matter how obvious and unforgetable they may seem at the moment.

Garden notebooks are amusing, too. Many a winter evening can be pleasantly spent reading of one's past difficulties with certain plants which now, due to knowledge gained by experience, seem as silly as childhood's problems of puppy love.

Between the notes which bring smiles and sighs, there is always found a little wisdom. Some advice, maybe, given by an experienced gardening friend, which has been forgotten. And because it was forgotten has been the reason for recent failures.

Going over an old garden notebook I found a few items worth passing along. They originated with men and women who were, and some still are, authorities in the branch of garden of which they spoke.

This note was the advice of a recognized leader of cabbage growers. He attributed his success to planting cabbages, sprouts and kale in the hardest undug ground he could find. He would walk on it, roll it, and pack it in any way possible, and then make a small hole for each plant and firm the soil around the roots. His plants were always healthy, strong, of tremendous size, and devoid of disease or pest. I tried his advice, and no crop of cabbage or sprouts, either before or since, have equalled the results of that season.

SHRUB PLANTING

A talk with nurseryman disclosed a good tip regarding the planting of trees and shrubs. I wrote it down at the time, and have followed it faithfully ever since. The rapidity with which plants become established when his method is used, proves the wisdom of his words.

When digging a hole for a tree or a shrub, always make it at least twice as large as you feel is necessary. Dig it two spades deep, keeping the top soil and lower soil in separate piles, and fill in by putting the good top soil at the bottom and around the roots, using the poorer lower soil on the top.

PRUNING

This note on pruning caught my eye. It came from a lady whose garden was one of those dreams come true. She said her success was due to pruning with common sense, instead of hacking with a knife. Pruning, she claimed, is permissible only when, and if, the plant needs it. Her golden rule was never to pick up the pruners until she had decided what should be done, what the results of doing it would be, and whether the effect she desired could be obtained in some other way.

At one time I was having a little trouble with a greenhouse crop. The temperature was right but the plants were sickly, so I sought the advice of a successful greenhouse operator, duly recording it in the garden notebook. Others may find this hint as useful as it was for me.

Ventilate your greenhouse daily regardless of the weather, was his advice. A greenhouse temperature five degrees lower than recommended with the air fresh, is better than the correct temperature with foul air. Maintain an atmosphere in which it is easy to breathe and pleasant to work.

KEEP A NOTEBOOK

Every winter I resolve to keep a full and accurate record of the coming season's work, and every spring the entries fade away as work becomes more pressing. But I still advise gardeners to keep a garden notebook, no matter how brief and spotty the record, for it can provide advice, warnings, timely reminders, and the inspiration to greater effort and better results.

Unpretentious, but with an air of dignity that ensures its suitability for construction in any location, here is a 1½-story house which will appeal to many families intending to build this year.

Architect M. G. Dixon of Ottawa has designed the house along simple, unbroken lines for construction economy, while a modern treatment of the front windows and door is the highlight of the pleasing exterior appearance. The interior layout is planned to the last detail for living convenience. Note especially the generous supply of closets on both floors, the handy dining area off the kitchen for ease in serving meals and the distinct separation of the sleeping section from the remainder of the house. An open fireplace spells the difference between a house and a home for many families.

The exterior finish of the house is horizontal wood siding with vertical wood siding on the gable ends of the roof.

Dimensions of the house are 30 feet by 24 feet, four inches, the floor area is 1,130 square feet, and the cubic measure is 16,425 cubic feet.

Working drawings for this house, known as Design 402, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

FIX-IT FORUM

Most homes have far too few outdoor storage facilities. Outside of the garage—which soon becomes three-deep in garden and lawn tools, bicycles and wagons—there is practically no room for storage.

Some home raftsmen have appreciated the inconvenience in the situation to the extent they have designed and built their own outdoor storage units. For those who don't feel up to designing their own, the Douglas Fir Plywood Association has come along with four new plans to help them out.

For want of better identification, the association calls the units an outdoor storage wall, a carport storage unit, a garden cabinet and a set of demountable furniture that includes another cabinet. But these units are readily adaptable to other uses besides those named.

The outdoor storage wall is particularly interesting, for it doubles as a summer dining centre and an out-of-season storage unit. It can be built free-standing or attached to house or garage.

Nothing else can transform a room quite so completely as wood paneling. And part of the beauty of it is that it's so easy, and takes so little time, to install. Saw, hammer and nail-set are the only woodworking tools needed.

The home handyman who picks tongue-and-groove lumber for paneling has a great variety of woods and widths to choose from. Narrow widths are becoming popular in modern settings, and are an advantage in that they can be "blind nailed" through the tongues so that no nail heads show on the faces of the boards.

The simplest way to panel with tongue-and-groove lumber is to fasten the boards horizontally. No furring strips are needed on plaster walls, for the boards can be nailed directly to wall studding. Windows and other openings in the walls create no problem, because the paneling, being flush on the wall, can be butted against door and window trim.

Q—What is done when nails won't go into hardwood?

A—Try rubbing them with, or pushing them into, paraffin or soap before hammering.

Q—Is there an easy way of applying putty when reglazing windows?

A—Try rolling putty into strips about the size of a pencil, press them into place and smooth down with a putty knife. This beats applying putty lump by lump.

Turkey Bluebloods Parade Drumsticks For Fanciers Here

Some of the finest turkeys in Canada will be put on display at the annual show of the Vancouver Island Turkey Improvement Association at the Crystal Garden next Thursday.

The show, the largest of its kind in Canada, attracts to Victoria turkey raisers from all parts of Vancouver Island and the mainland. The birds represent the largest and best developed turkeys produced this year by the Island's $750,000 turkey industry.

Mayor Claude Harrison will open the show. The show committee is composed of E. A. H. Mitchell, chairman, C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, vice-chairman; Mrs. N. McCulloch, secretary-treasurer.

One of the big attractions of the show will be the giving away of turkeys every hour as door prizes. The show will be open from 10 a.m. to 5.30 p.m.

HOUSING PROBLEM

LONDON (CP) — The Lambeth council has rehoused 5,600 families since the end of the Second World War. But there are still more than 10,000 families on the waiting list.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

The branches of a monkey-puzzle tree have been getting more brown for the past three years, until now there is no green at all. What should be done?

The tree is probably dead now. If the browned portions had been removed as they appeared it may have been possible to save it. By cutting a branch or two you can determine if there is any sign of life. Should new growth appear in spring, the dead wood may be cut out in August.

Chrysanthemum plants bought last spring produced very small flowers and were quite disappointing. Do they need any special culture?

There are large and small-flowered varieties of chrysanthemums, but chrysanthemum culture is an art easily learned, although its details are beyond the scope of this column. The Victoria Horticultural Society conducts a chrysanthemum group, and there are two specializing organizations, the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society and the Oak Bay Chrysanthemum Society. Names and addresses will be gladly supplied on request.

When is the correct time to prune an old walnut tree which has grown so large it obstructs a particularly pleasant view?

This question suggests that drastic pruning is contemplated in order to open up the view. Removing large branches from a walnut tree is never advised because the tree will bleed and usually dies. If the view is considered of more value than the walnuts, have the tree completely removed.

NOBODY'S WILL UNBREAKABLE, LAWYERS ARGUE

The conception of one's last will and testament being inviolate is wrong, though according to a dispatch from Toronto, a retired butcher with an estate of $256,000 tried to make his will unbreakable.

The will read: "If any beneficiary named herein commences action or taxes any proceedings to avoid, question or set aside my will on any ground whatsoever, then I revoke all gifts and devises made to such a beneficiary."

Nonsense, said lawyers here. They pointed out that such wills are not uncommon, but they don't hold water.

In Ontario and B.C. the immediate next-of-kin can always make an application to have the terms of a will revised, no matter what is in the will.

The oft-told tale of a husband leaving his wife one dollar just doesn't work out.

"You can't contract yourself out of the law," said one local barrister.

Misconduct Charge In Arbitration On Expropriation

Alleged misconduct on the part of one of the arbitrators in expropriation of an acre of land by the B.C. government for construction of the new Island highway, will be aired in Supreme Court chambers Monday.

The compensation recommended by the arbitrators was $1,310, to John Hensen Jr., owner of the land.

However, the attorney-general's department alleges that arbitrator H. M. Hall was in contact with Hensen prior to the hearing, and that Hall had already made his decision on the dispute before the hearing in "secret conference."

Hall had testified that his inquiries were carried out before there was any mention of arbitration. "I did not consider I would sit as an arbitrator if arbitration was held."

Gerald E. Gould, an assistant in the public works department, said he saw Hall and Henson "closely engaged in conversation, alone, in a remote corner of the court room."

Alberta Steer Wins

TORONTO (CP) — Alberta won the grand championship steer award of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Thursday when Killearn Conquest was chosen over 23 other class winners for the premier cattle prize.

The 18-month-old shorthorn brought Ed Noad of Claresholm, Alta., his second royal grand title and Alberta its fourth Alexander P. Westervelt memorial trophy.

WEEK'S WORK

FLOWERS — Plant gladiolus nanus in pots or boxes for flowering indoors during April and May.

Plant anemone coronaria, single and double forms, outdoors for spring flowering.

Continue watering, and give weekly feeding of fertilizer in liquid form, to the Christmas flowering cactus.

Bulbs which were potted in mid-September and buried for rooting may now be brought into a 55 to 65 degree temperature. Shade from direct sun for a few days.

VEGETABLES — Draw earth around fall planted peas which, due to mild weather, are making extensive top growth.

Check vegetables in storage and remove any showing signs of rot.

Broad beans and peas may be sown in sheltered, well drained bed or border.

Lettuce and spinach in cold-frame need good ventilation to prevent fungus diseases. Use bait for slugs.

SHRUBS—Continue the planting of trees, shrubs, conifers, roses and perennials, planning to complete the work while the weather is suitable.

Tibet is the highest country in the world, averaging 16,000 feet above sea level.

LPP Says Trade Policy Leads to Depression

A depression because of Canada's present trade policy was seen by Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party candidate in the Victoria by-election, in her final campaign appearance Friday night.

Mrs. Blakey spoke to about 45 persons in Williams Hall, Broughton Street. LPP leader Nigel Morgan and Tom McEwan, editor of the Pacific Tribune, also spoke.

On the subject of trade, Mrs. Blakey asserted Washington was dictating Canada's trade policy and was responsible for the loss of markets in sterling countries.

She submitted, too, that China was crying out for trade with this country, but, because of U.S. control, business between Canada and China was prohibited.

Mrs. Blakey said the real issue in the current election was employment.

"We are facing the threat of a depression," she said. "The signs are unmistakably clear."

AN OPEN LETTER FROM

The Hon. W. A. C. Bennett

PREMIER OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

TO THE ELECTORS OF VICTORIA:

Dear Elector:

On Tuesday, November 24th, you go to the Polls to elect a Member to represent you in the Provincial Legislature.

This is the most important By-election ever held in British Columbia.

In the General Election of June 9th last, you entrusted the affairs of the Province to the Social Credit Government.

In Victoria you elected three Social Credit members. One of these, Mr. Percy Wright, resigned his seat to make way for Mr. Gunderson, because he realized that for good Government in British Columbia it was necessary for the Finance Minister to be seated in the Legislature to present the Government's budgets and explain the Finances of the Province.

This made a by-election necessary in the City of Victoria.

Mr. Gunderson is an outstanding Chartered Accountant who has a wealth of experience in both Government and business financing. Mr. Gunderson's qualifications are outstanding and his appointment to this most important position as Minister of Finance has met with approval on all sides throughout British Columbia and Canada. Mr. Gunderson made a very large personal sacrifice in accepting the appointment.

It is clear to all that a Government needs the Finance Minister on the Floor of the Legislature to present the Budget, to explain all income and expenditures, and to answer questions from the Opposition parties.

This is the time for every citizen to rise above petty partisan politics, and I ask you for the good of the Province of British Columbia, and the Constituency of the City of Victoria, to vote for Einar Gunderson on November 24th and give Victoria real representation in the Cabinet.

Thanking you, I remain,

Yours very truly,

W. A. C. Bennett

Premier.

YULTIME MAIL FOR BRITAIN CLOSES TODAY

Today is the deadline for mailing regular delivery Christmas parcels and letters to Great Britain. The last day for continental Europe mail and parcels expired earlier this week.

Last day for Europe-bound airmail parcels is December 12 and for Great Britain December 14, at which date air mail letters for Europe should be in the mail. For Great Britain, air mail letters must be posted by December 16.

For navy men in the Far East, parcels and ordinary mail should be received in Victoria by November 25 to ensure Christmas delivery.

Decision Reserved On Youths in Gang War Hearing

EDMONTON (CP) — Magistrate Lloyd Hudson reserved decision on two youths who appeared in police court Friday on charges arising from a teenage gang fight here Oct. 25.

About 25 charges were laid following the fight which erupted in the north-central section of the city and sent one youth to hospital with a gash from temple to chin. One charge was dismissed Friday and one withdrawn.

"I have never seen such disregard for the truth from witnesses testifying under oath," the magistrate said. "At least 50 per cent of the evidence in these cases is being submitted under perjury."

Weary Liberal Still Ready to Take All Comers

Admits to Doubts Of Poll Majority

Liberal candidate in the Tuesday by-election, George Gregory, wound up his scheduled campaigning at a small, quiet meeting at Quadra School Friday night.

"I am a long way from being convinced that I'll be elected. I'll wait until ten o'clock Tuesday night," he told a startled audience.

Mr. Gregory said he was fighting a cold and the fatigue of a fast-moving campaign.

But he promised he would "take on the whole Social Credit party" if need be when he appears Monday on the platform of the final Socred rally at the Royal Theatre.

"I am advised in a letter from Mr. Gunderson that a seat is reserved for me at the execution bloc—I mean the speaker's table," he added with a laugh. He stated he would be "pleased to see some friendly faces" and warned that the theatre doors will be shut when the seats are filled.

A questioner asked Mr. Gregory for an opinion on what he said was the contention of an MLA that Percy Wright expects a full sessional indemnity for four years in spite of his resignation from the House. The questioner said he was assured that the continuance of salary, $3,000 a session, for the balance of a possible four-year period, was customary under the circumstances.

Mr. Gregory hadn't heard of the proposal and promised that if it were true, he would look into the matter.

World Salvationist Speaks Here Sunday

World traveller and 50-year campaigner with the Salvation Army, Commissioner William Booth Davey conducts public meetings at the Salvation Army Citadel Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. A worker in Korea, Japan, Indonesia and many other sections of the globe, the commissioner has also served as International Public Relations Commissioner. He was among the last of the British forces rescued from Dunkirk in Second World War when he served as a welfare organizer for the troops. He is shown with Mrs. Davey.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

What do you think the mailman brought me the other day?

You'd never guess, so I'd better tell you.

He brought me a letter from the Premier of British Columbia!

Imagine that, the Premier writing a letter to poor little old me!

And when you receive a letter, it is only common politeness to answer it. Of course, I can't answer it on nice, expensive paper such as the Premier used. All I can afford is newsprint. But I'm sure the Premier would be offended if he didn't get an answer to his letter right away, so here goes.

Dear Premier:

It was such an unexpected pleasure to receive your letter Wednesday, and I was SO thrilled. I bet all the other people in Victoria you wrote to were thrilled, too.

And it was nice of you to remind me, in the first paragraph, that on Tuesday, Nov. 24, I go to the polls to elect a member to represent me in the provincial legislature.

Mind you, I was a little confused at first, because I thought the citizens of Victoria (including little old me) went to the polls on June 9 for that purpose, and that the citizens of Victoria (not including little old me) chose Mrs. Arsens and Mr. Chant and Mr. Wright to represent us in the provincial legislature.

But you were good enough to explain everything in paragraph four, where you said Mr. Wright resigned his seat, so Mr. Gunderson could be seated in the legislature.

I can understand this, because Mr. Wright is much younger than Mr. Gunderson, and therefore could not be expected to remain seated while Mr. Gunderson was standing.

(Incidentally, next time you write me, would you tell me what Mr. Gunderson stands for? Does he stand for Social Credit, by any chance?)

To get back to your letter, Premier, old pal, you then advanced the theory that Mr. Wright's resignation made a by-election necessary in the city of Victoria.

I was most happy to have this explanation, as I have been wondering for a long time why there is a by-election at all, when you have so many no doubt brilliant MLA's in your party (excuse it, movement) who could be appointed finance minister.

I was so glad to read in paragraph six of your letter that Mr. Gunderson's appointment (not election) to the position of minister of finance met with approval on all sides throughout British Columbia and Canada.

It just goes to show how dumb voters can be, when they don't elect a man who meets with approval on all sides. Silly people, voters. Some of them still hold the quaint belief they are entitled to express their choice at the polls.

I agree with you, Premier, when you say a government needs the finance minister on the floor of the House. Most taxpayers will agree with you, especially those who realize they, too, will soon be flat on the floor.

I especially liked the opening of your last paragraph, Premier, where you said "This is the time for every citizen to rise above petty partisan politics."

I only hope, Premier, you have made the same suggestion to the men who write your ads, and especially to the Anonymous Voice of Social Credit on the radio.

Hoping you have time to write me again soon, I remain,

MONTE ROBERTS.

PS: It would be nice if all the other voters you wrote to could answer your letter, but I imagine many of them are pretty busy. However, they'll no doubt answer you at the polls on Nov. 24.

Lieutenant-Governor Visits SPCA

Heidi and Zebbie, the daschunds who live at Government House, took their master and mistress to the SPCA Small Animal Shelter Friday, to extend best wishes for success of the annual campaign for funds which opens Monday. Here Heidi is introducing Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace and Mrs. Wallace to one of the homeless dogs "in residence" at 111 Wilson Street. Lieutenant-Governor Wallace expressed the hope that "The citizens of Victoria will respond generously to the society's appeal for funds, as it is only with aid of their donations the society can maintain and extend their excellent service." SPCA is seeking $10,000. (Times Photo.)

Gale-Driven Vessel Afire off Cordova

Fred Ramsdale Confirms Report Of Candidature

Murdoch Definitely In Council Contest

Fred V. Ramsdale, retired garageman, today confirmed a Times' report of a week ago, saying he would be an aldermanic candidate in December.

Ramsdale

"Victoria has been pretty good to me," Mr. Ramsdale said in announcing his candidature. "Now I've got the time, I'd like to try and do something worthwhile for Victoria."

In the meantime, Ald. Brent Murdoch has announced definitely that he will be seeking re-election to council in December.

Mr. Ramsdale was born in England but came to Victoria as a boy. He served overseas in the First World War with the Army Service Corps and 29th Battalion. Upon his return from overseas he was employed by by the city and for a short time was president of the City Employees' Protective Association.

Murdoch

He opened Red's Service Station in 1921 and sold the business only recently.

He believes aldermen should sit as a board of directors, rather than try and run the various departments at the City Hall. He is in favor of the city manager plan and thinks City Manager Wyatt is doing a good job.

He is interested in developing playground facilities throughout the city. He thinks too much money has been spent on Beacon Hill Park and not enough on district parks.

Mr. Ramsdale is a member of the Salvation Army and plays in the Citadel band.

Ald. Murdoch said his campaign platform would include strengthening of the Union of B.C. Municipalities so it becomes "a real sounding-board of public opinion." He also believes in amalgamation of essential services.

Ald. Murdoch is a past president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Comerce and a past vice-president of the Junior Chamber of B.C.

TURKEY TARGETS

Cadets Shoot For Sponsors' Xmas Dinners

Anyone want some turkey?

There's 360 pounds of the bird available, with average weight of 14 pounds per bird.

How to get some? Just enter the Imperiol Order of Foresters cadet corps shoot to be held Friday, Nov. 27. And the good thing about it is entrants don't even have to do their own shooting. Cadets do it for them.

This is how it will work:

Thirty-five targets will be fired on at Work Point barracks at 1925 hours (7.15 p.m.) with about 35 boy sharpshooters taking part. Behind the ordinary targets will be special targets marked into 20 sections, like a piece of pie. On each special target the slice having the most hits wins a turkey . . . and a 50-cent piece buys one slice.

All proceeds above the cost of the turkeys will be used for the corps.

The cadets, ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, have been trained the past few weeks by Lieut. Fred Fotheringham. Orderly cadet at the shoot will be Cadet Robert Burns.

Anyone wishing to try their luck at a turkey can phone E 1486, leave name and address, and a cadet will call around.

Firemen Check Fishboat Blaze

Winds that reached 40-mile velocity and heralded a stronger, approaching storm, drove ashore a 35-foot fishboat at Cordova Bay Friday night.

Owned by Severts Severtson, 4987 Cordova Bay Road, the vessel dragged its anchor and washed on to the beach about 300 yards from McMorran's pavilion.

As it rolled on its side on the beach a small oil heater burning in the vessel spilled and spread fire.

Prompt action by a resident, John M. Wyper, who happened to see the fire at 4.40 a.m. and called Saanich fire department, was credited with keeping damage to a minimum.

GALE WARNING

Weatherman William Mackie said today that gale warnings have been issued for all coastal waters.

Winds will climb to a steady 40-mile gale from the southeast after midnight, he said, then will veer to the southwest at 25 miles Sunday afternoon and will fall off to light in the evening.

Mr. Mackie's record of this morning's wind showed wind first approached gale force at 2.55 a.m. It did not fall off until 6.30 a.m., he said.

There will be rain overnight and Sunday, he said, and temperatures will range between 44 and 48 degrees.

Brackman-Ker Warehouse to Cost $36,250

Permit Issued for Douglas St. Block

A permit has been issued in Saanich to cover the erection of a new warehouse and office for Brackman-Ker Milling Co. Ltd. on Douglas Street at Boleskine Road for $36,250.

It is the largest taken out in the municipality to date this month.

Reid Construction Co. Ltd. of Vancouver is general contractor for the job.

Pouring of concrete foundations has been completed. The building will be of asbestos wall construction with a tar and gravel roof.

The company hopes to have it ready for occupancy early in the new year.

Architects Whittaker and Wagg are preparing plans for an extension of the Royal Jubilee Hospital nurses' dining room that will give an additional 2,000 square feet of space.

Work is expected to start in the sprin.

Working drawings for a 20-suite apartment for J. L. Quinn and R. J. Quinn, to be built in the city on a site yet to be announced, are being prepared by Patrick Birley, architect. Cost of the project is expected to reach six figures.

Shell Oil Co. Ltd. is erecting a 129,000-gallon fuel storage tank on Songhees Road, Industrial Reserve, at a cost of $10,500.

RUDOLPH AND BLUE-NOSED PAL TO ENTERTAIN TIMES READERS

Santa Claus is here (the department store variety, that is). The mayoralty election is upon us, another sign of the season.

So what's the next thing? Why, of course, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer. He starts Monday in the Times with his Christmas story for the kiddies. This year there's something different because Rudolph turns up with a Blue-Nosed Reindeer.

Reeve Casey's Rival Refuses to Apologize

Book Falsification Never Alleged, Says Cummins in Saanich Embroilment

Denying that he had made any charge of falsification of municipal books, Ex-Councillor E. P. Cummins accused Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey today of making "political hay" of statements made at a stormy council meeting last Monday.

Mr. Cummins, who is contesting the reeveship in the December elections, also said he will "definitely not apologize" to Reeve Casey for anything said or done at the council meeting.

"What have I got to apologize for?" he asked. "It is my democratic right to question anything at a council meeting."

The reeve said Friday he would ask Mr. Cummins and Thomas Nixon, a police commission candidate, to make a "public apology" for allegations he had allowed illegal payments of overtime pay to certain inside employees.

BOOKS IN ORDER

The reeve's announcement was made after auditors Ismay, Boiston and Dunn reported that the municipal finance books were in order.

Mr. Cummins challenged the reeve to prove that he had accused him of making illegal payments.

"I questioned the reeve with regard to a financial statement which was produced by Mr. Nixon at the meeting," said the councillor. "I made no charge and I did not ask the accounting firm to make an audit."

Mr. Cummins said the reeve at the meeting admitted that overtime pay had been made to certain employees, but made no effort to deny the charges made by Mr. Nixon.

"It is just part of a smear campaign," said Mr. Cummins. "I have nothing to apologize for. The reeve knows this, but is making full use of the situation for election reasons."

SECOND POLIO VICTIM FOUND IN SIDNEY WITHIN TWO DAYS

Sidney continued to be the only area of lower Vancouver Island affected by active poliomyelitis today.

A nine-year-old boy was taken to isolation at Royal Jubilee Hospital this morning. A Sidney man was admitted Friday.

Otherwise Greater Victoria is entering into a third week without a new case being reported. There have been 98 cases reported in the Greater Victoria area this year and 117 on Vancouver Island as a whole.

New Entry in Esquimalt Council Race

Sawmill foreman at Manning Timber Products, Roy Simmons, 948 Esquimalt Road, announced today he will seek election to Esquimalt council in December elections.

He is the second non-councillor to indicate he will enter his name. Ralph Meakes, who last week resigned as president of the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association, announced his candidacy at the same time.

Mr. Simmons stated that he has "no axe to grind," but is vitally interested in the growth and development of the municipality, where he has made his home for four years.

Forty-one years old, Mr. Simmons is married with no children. He is a Mason and a member of the Canadian Travelers' Association.

TWO SEEK RE-ELECTION

Three members of the current council end two-year terms in office next month, but only two of the incumbents have announced they will seek office again.

Councillors G. R. Guillemaud and G. F. Argyle both will appear again before the electors at a pre-election rally December 10. Clr. W. H. Dallaway will retire for reasons of health.

For the reeveship, present Reeve A. C. Wurtele will be opposed by former Liberal MLA Andrew Whisker.

Carpenters Ask Seven-Hour Day To Spread Work

Carpenters and Joiners Brotherhood (TLC) has made its first step toward reducing hours of work to distribute employment by asking a seven-hour day at Kitimat.

The union's eventual aim, as outlined here Wednesday by Victor Midgley, international representative, is a six-hour day.

Provincial Council of Carpenters is conducting negotiations with Morrison-Knudsen Company of Canada Ltd. and Kitimat Constructors Ltd., employed on the Alcan project.

Union locals affected are those at Prince George, Burns Lake, and Prince Rupert.

Demands include a 15-cent hourly wage increase, free room and board, all overtime work at double pay, and three paid statutory holidays.

The West Coaster MV. Princess of Alberni was brought into Inner Harbor at 3.30 a.m. today, under tow by Island Sovereign of Island Tug & Barge Ltd.

Alberni's engines broke down at Nootka after she had been storm-bound at Chamiss Bay for several days.

While the 140-foot coaster is under repairs here, her run will be taken over by Union Steamships' Island King, which will provide a freight and mail service only.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

Simple Simon is a terrible trial to his parents; he always does things wrong. Late one Saturday afternoon, last winter, he was sent out to buy some fruit. He returned home in due course, but with the news that he'd lost his purchases on the way. When questioned by his irate father, who foresaw that he'd have to go out himself to the store, Simon tried to make light of his stupidity. He told them he'd bought some oranges, some bananas and some grapefruit, at 5 cents, 8 cents and ten cents each respectively, and had spent $1.98 altogether. "I'm sorry," he grumbled, "but it's only some fruit, and there's lots more in the store." "I don't know what you mean by 'some' fruit," growled his father, "but you must have bought at least —— altogether." What was that "least number" mentioned by his father?

Thanks for the idea, to: Mrs. M. C. Thompson, Victoria.

Friday's answer: Mrs. Morgan is 24.

Three Cars Crash, But Riders Escape

No one was hurt but considerable damage was done to three cars in accidents on the city streets early today, city police reported.

Police said that a car driven by Helmar Anderson, room 316 of the YMCA, climbed the curb of an "island" on Blanshard at Pandora at 2 a.m. and knocked over a traffic sign.

A car being driven west on Gorge by Charles F. Watkins, 621 Sims, at 3.25 a.m. collided with the rear of a car parked in the 600 block of Gorge. Parked car was owned by William J. McMurdo, Goward Road, Prospect Lake. Damage to both vehicles was typed as medium, police report.

Poultrymen Urging Federal Subsidy At Producer Level

Establishment of federal price support for eggs at producer level would stop retail costs from rising to extreme heights, Vancouver Island poultrymen claim in a resolution to be submitted to the B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention meeting in Victoria next week.

At present there is price support on eggs at wholesale level.

Poultrymen claimed that if this is changed to producer level it would prove beneficial to both farmers and consumers.

The federation is meeting at the Empress Hotel next Thursday and Friday. Over 200 farmers from all parts of British Columbia will attend the meeting to discuss current agricultural problems.

Mounties Rule Car Off Road In Interests of Safe Driving

RCMP officers weren't fooling when they warned motorists of a crackdown against poorly-equipped cars and bad drivers.

They proved this in one day this week when the Colwood detachment:

1. Stopped 100 cars and trucks and gave them a thorough check in co-operation with the provincial motor carriers' branch.
2. Ruled a car off the road completely.
3. Issued several summonses for offenses.
4. Cautioned 40 motorists.

The "spot checks" will be repeated at unstated intervals in a campaign to make highways safer.

The car police ordered off the road was an old model which had no front fenders or bumpers, no grillwork, no rear-view mirror, and brakes that would not work.

"Some of the drivers of the vehicles we checked had vehicle defects which will bring them before the magistrate," an officer of the detachment said, also pointing out that 40 of them were warned about their driving habits or improvements needed for their vehicles.

RCMP highway patrols throughout the province are involved in the general crackdown on motorists who disobey traffic laws.

Local police officials said the drive would continue for an indefinite period. They did not reveal the days when the "checks" would be made, but said that check-points would be at various places in the area under their jurisdiction.

Dr. Francis W. Gray One of Canadians For Germany Parley

Dr. Francis W. Gray, one-time president of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, leaves Victoria Sunday night to participate in the fifth meeting of the Coal Mines Committee of the International Labor Organization, to be held in Dusseldorf, Germany.

Dr. Gray is one of two Canadian employer delegates to the coal mines committee.

The committee will sit from November 30 to December 12. Dr. Gray will return to his 759 Mount Joy Avenue home in mid-January.

At the committee's fourth meeting, held in 1951, 12 countries were represented. Every country is invited to participate and send representatives of employers, employees and government.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Is there a nudist organization in Victoria? If so, to whom would one forward a letter of inquiry? I have just received an inquiry from Uruguay and I am at a loss to know to whom I should forward it.

—Mrs. N.B.

A.—Earlier this year persons desiring information about the Victoria association were advised they should write to P.O. Box 1251.

Q.—The tug Hope, of Victoria, sank a number of years ago. Can you tell me the date and where the vessel went down?

—A.B.

A.—The Hope, with 28 longshoremen and six crew members on board, was approaching the Ss. Salvage Queen, alongside the Holland-Amerika liner Eemdyk, ashore at Bentinck Island, about 7.55 on the evening of Oct. 17, 1925, when the strong current of an ebb tide carried her against the salvage vessel and against a cable which ran from the Eemdyk to a kedge anchor. The tug's funnel and mast were torn off and she was carried under the counter of the Eemdyk, capsized, filled and sank in less than two minutes. Those who were rescued or saved themselves totaled 27. Lost were seven, all longshoremen.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

HEADLINES OF THE WEEK . . .

By STAN DAVISON

THE CHURCH PAGE

By LANCE WHITTAKER

A group of Roman Catholic young people have given a lead in a project which will enlist the active or moral support of a great many people; it is a campaign to put Christ back into Christmas.

The St. Ann's Alumni Association and the Christophers Speakers' Club sparked the organization of a "Christmas Committee" for this specific purpose and are now busily engaged in making their aim known to all and sundry.

To individuals, they are suggesting the nativity scene as the centre piece of home decoration; the reading of the Christmas story at the fireside; the selection of Christmas cards with a spiritual significance and family attendance at church.

Whittaker

Community and fraternal organizations are being urged to plan a special program in keeping with the real spirit of Christ and to impress upon the membership the need for individual observance of the spiritual aspect of the day.

The committee is making a particular effort to get the co-operation of business and professional people.

It is hoped that business advertising can be enlisted to put Christ back into Christmas. Appropriate art copy for newspaper Christmas messages, billboards, bus cards and even postage meters is advocated.

There is evidence that the committee's suggestions will be welcomed. Merchants are showing a noticeable reluctance this year to push the Christmas season so far forward that it takes on the appearance of a garish merchandising promotion.

Reports of Christmas card sales bear out the notion that there is already a steady tendency to return to the scriptural type of card.

Efforts of the Chamber of Commerce committee to make our entire city Christmas conscious in a community way bear the stamp of thoughtful men, concerned that the real spirit of the holy day be maintained.

These are signs that the plan to put Christ back into Christmas is far from hopeless.

Those who have other suggestions, or who seek help or advice in assisting the project, can get in touch with the Christmas Committee by phoning or writing Jim Pickford, B 3592, or 366 Foul Bay Road.

DESPITE NEW CLASSROOMS

St. Aidan's 59th Birthday Marked by Space Problems

St. Aidan's United Church Sunday celebrates its 59th birthday with only one pressing problem . . . enlarged accommodation for both congregation and Sunday School.

New growth has made more room imperative despite the construction of seven classrooms and an assembly area in the basement of the church hall last year.

Special preachers for the anniversary services will be Rev. Frank Johnson of First United at 11 a.m.; and Rev. T. G. Griffiths, formerly of St. Aidan's at 7.30 p.m.

St. Aidan's has a long history.

The work was started by Rev. Simon McGregor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here in 1873 with services and Sunday School in Cedar Hill School House.

The congregation was named St. Aidan's when the church was built in 1894. The manse was built in 1911 and the church hall in 1925.

Present minister is Rev. J. Lyn Clerihue who commenced serving in 1951.

Miss Margaret Irvine, who now lives at 3920 Cedar Hill Road with her grand-niece, Mrs. Gilbert Brown, attended the Sunday school when it was held in Cedar Hill School, and is able to tell many interesting stories of those early days. Four other people who were connected with St. Aidan's at the time the church was built and who are still residing in Victoria are Mrs. R. C. McRae, Miss Julia Glendinning, Miss A. E. Somers and Mrs. James Taylor. The latter two are still regular attendants at the Sunday services.

St. Aidan's congregation carries on a well rounded program. The rapidly growing Sunday school has an excellent staff of devoted teachers. Mr. Douglas L. Gilbert is general superintendent and has been connected with the school for more than 20 years. Mrs. Gilbert is the pianist for the upper grades and also the Bible class leader. Mrs. J. L. Gayton is superintendent of the beginners' and primary department, and Miss Margaret Richmond the organist. Mrs. Ross Sturgeon and Mrs. George Berger are the leaders of the CGIT, and Miss Florence Clearihue the leader of the Explorers. Mr. K. W. Brown is president of the AOTS Men's Club. The presidents of the women's groups are: Ladies' Guild, Mrs. W. D. Davies; WMS, Mrs. R. J. Beattie; Margaret Irvine Evening Auxiliary, Mrs. A. E. Burkholder; Mount Tolmie Circle, Mrs. W. C. Stone. The choir under the very proficient leadership of Miss Margery M. Vaughsn has a high musical rating and is greatly appreciated by the congregation. Mr. Percy Boorman is the secretary of the congregation, and Mr. K. W. Brown the treasurer. Mr. J. F. Ritz is clerk of session and Mr. A. E. Burkholder the chairman of the stewards. Mr. W. D. Davies is leader of the Men's Glee Club and Mr. C. P. Ennals the envelope steward and M & M treasurer.

First United Fellowship Hall Plan Approved

Decision was reached this week by First United Church board to proceed with the construction of the proposed Fellowship Hall to be erected on Balmoral Road, immediately adjacent to the chuch.

Sketch plans have been approved by the provincial fire marshal and working drawings have been prepared by the architects, Sharp and Thompson, Berwick, Pratt and Charles E. Craig. The building, of reinforced concrete, will fully comply with the city fire by-laws, will have an over-all measurement of 60 x 90 feet, with a 24-foot ceiling.

Feature of the hall will be movable partitions for Sunday school classrooms, while on weekdays the auditorium will be devoted to church social activities.

Cost of the building is estimated at $80,000.

Sharing Social Spotlight!

The engagements of the two popular young couples announced on this page today share the spotlight with a Friday evening wedding and the pictures of well-known young people who were married within the past two weeks.

Arranged By ELIZABETH FORBES
Women's Editor

WEDDING DAY IS ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stanley Moore, 1823 Beach Drive, Victoria, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Corinne Adele, to Mr. Robert Bruce Hutchison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce Hutchison, 810 Rogers Road, Victoria. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Dec. 19, at the Oak Bay United Church at 8.30 p.m. The bride's attendants will be Miss Marilyn Olson, maid of honor; Mrs. John Olson, bridesmatron, and Miss Joan Hutchison, bridesmaid. Mr. David Owen, Vancouver, will be the groom's best man. Miss Moore is a BA graduate from University of British Columbia and affiliated with Delta Gamma. Mr. Hutchison is a BA graduate in Economics from the University of Washington and affiliated with Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. (Photo by Halkett.)

FORETELLS A MID-DECEMBER WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Angus McKay, 24 Olympia Avenue, Victoria, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann Isabelle, to Michael Walter Elliston Allen, son of Major Walter E. Allen, RASC (Rtd.), St. Alban's, Herts, and Mrs. M. J. Allen, Brent Eleigh, Suffolk, Eng. The marriage will take place at Brentwood College Chapel on Dec. 12 at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Norman A. Lowe officiating. (Photo of Miss McKay by Robert Fort and her fiance by H. U. Knight.)

HONOR GUARD FOR POPULAR COUPLE—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robert Severson were met by a guard of honor formed by Victoria Girls' Drill Team, when they left First United Church following their wedding. They are preceded by little Miss Diane-May Outtrim, the demure little flower girl. Mr. and Mrs. Severson have now returned from honeymoon and are living at 536 Selkirk Avenue. (Photo by Alexis.)

NEWLYWEDS SMILE HAPPILY—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Louis Ketterer are caught by the photographer in a happy pose following their recent wedding in St. Andrew's Cathedral. Mrs. Ketterer is the former Miss Mary Joy McCormack, daughter of Mrs. Carson McCormack, Foul Bay Road and the late Col. McCormack, OBE, ED, and her husband the son of Mrs. Louis Ketterer, Unity, Sask., and the late Mr. Ketterer. (Photo by Paul Joncas.)

Irene Andrist Married in St. John's Church

A lovely Friday evening bride, gowned in filmy nylon net over satin with redingote of nylon Brussels lace, exchanged vows in St. John's Anglican Church with Carmon Leon Dobson. She was Mary Irene Andrist, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Andrist, 117 Superior Street. The groom is the son of Mrs. M. Dobson and Mr. G. Dodson, both of Calgary, Alta.

Canon George Biddle performed the double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and guest pews were marked with nosegays of the same flowers. Frederick Chubb played organ music. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bridal gown was styled with a mandarin collar and tiny buttons to the dropped waistline. The redingote featured back fullness, and swept from the waistline into a semi-train. The bride's chapel veil of net, edged with Brussels lace, clouded from an Elizabethan pearl coronet. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and freesias.

Mrs. Barbara Jean Munn, matron of honor, wore a gown of orchid nylon net with lace inserts. The strapless bodice was topped with a lace jacket and she wore a net headdress, en tone. Bridesmatron, Mrs. Patri Brown, and bridesmaid, Miss Shirley Saggers wore similar gowns in blue. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centred with pink carnations. Other attendants carried bouquets of pink chrysanthemums centred with white carnations.

Gary Layton was best man. Del Brown and Allen Hayes were ushers.

Reception was held in Terry's Rose Room, where mothers of the couple received guests. Mrs. Andrist wore ice blue nylon net with black accessories. Mrs. Patricia Dodson wore an after-five dress of fawn and brown with pink accessories. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bridal table. Toast to the bride was proposed by David W. McDonald.

From out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. George Dobson and daughter, Maureen, Calgary; the bride's grandfather, John Andrist, and the bride's uncle, Hilton Andrist, both of Duncan.

Mrs. Dobson chose a suit of red velvet with matching hat, black accessories, Crombie topcoat and gardenia corsage for traveling. After a honeymoon on the mainland, the couple will return to Victoria to live at 117 Superior Street.

DEBUTANTES MAKE

Excited debutantes, Miss Marilyn Bassett, Miss Gillian Bridgman, Miss Clare Collison and Miss Roberta Crombie, line up for presentation ceremony. Before each girl made her curtsy to His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace, her name was announced by Wing Cmdr. J. D. D. Campbell, ADC. Standing with the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace were Cmdr. Ronald Jackson, vice-president of the United Services Institute, and Mrs. Jackson, and Miss Ruth McLean.

Getting ready for the big moment are Miss Beth Martin and Miss Katharine Riddle, two of the debutantes. Both girls carried dainty nosegay bouquets of pink and white flowers.

Here's A Book What Am! Learn to Think Dynamically

By PENNY SAVER

I pounced on it as soon as I spotted it! Being a (pardon the expression) writer, I thought.

"Aha! Just what I need!"

Then I began to absorb the contents of my newly-acquired pocket book. Having finished the first chapter, I realized that there are, very likely, hundreds of people in the city who would be keenly interested in reading this little book, and so I've decided to tell you about it. If you want to increase your vocabulary, broaden your mental horizons, speak and write with confidence and think dynamically, you should read, "Word Power Made Easy," by Norman Lewis.

It's written in the form of a course with review tests at the end of each chapter. And remember this: Successful people in all walks of life have superior vocabularies!

For just 39 pennies and several hours of concentrated study, you can place hundreds of interesting words at your fingertips.

* * *

With the coming of the Yuletide season there are always parties, parties, parties! Why not make yours different! There are lots of ways of doing this . . . one being the use of a tape recorder. Hidden behind a chesterfield or chair ,you can record conversations of your guests. Will they laugh when you play it back to them, as you can do, immediately, with a tape recorder.

Don't go 'way, now! I'm not trying to sell you a tape recorder . . . I'm supposed to deal with pennies!

But did you know that you can RENT a tape recorder? Not for pennies, I'll admit, but for just $2.50 you can have the use of a modern, up-to-date, easy-to-operate tape recorder, for 24 hours! Now what do you think of that?

* * *

As always, folks, by calling me at B 3131, you can find out where to buy (or rent) the above-mentioned articles!

'Bye now!

Miss Sheila Murchie, University of Washington, will return to her home in Duncan.

Group Goes to Nanaimo

Headed by the president and two vice-presidents, Mrs. Bessie Smith, Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin and Mrs. Ruby Masters, 50 members of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club will travel to Nanaimo on Sunday to attend a luncheon meeting with members of clubs from Courtenay-Comox, the Albernis, Duncan and Nanaimo. Guest speaker will be national president, Mrs. Margaret Campbell, Vancouver, who will address the meeting on her recent trip to Sweden where she attended meetings of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Shower for Mary Spence

Honoring Miss Mary Spence, whose marriage takes place in December, Mrs. Percy E. George gave a kitchen shower at her home on Moss Street. A corsage of pink carnations was presented to the bride-elect, and one of chrysanthemums to her mother. The gifts were presented in a suitable container daintily decorated and brought in on a small wagon by Miss Joan George, junior bridesmaid. Contest games were played and later refreshments were served. Other guests were Mrs. F. E. Clarke, Mrs. C. H. Porter, Mrs. H. C. George, Mrs. R. A. Willoughby, Mrs. J. Harper, Mrs. D. A. George, Mrs. H. W. R. Hazzard, Mrs. A. C. George, Mrs. W. A. Blair and Mrs. H. P. George.

Bid Farewell

Mrs. H. J. S. Reynolds was guest of honor at a tea given by her friends at the home of Mrs. W. Ronald, Cordova Bay Road, Thursday afternoon. On behalf of the group, Mrs. K. M. Lewis presented Mrs. Reynolds with a toilet case. Among the guests were Rev. and Mrs. D. C. O'Connell, Mrs. N. A. Thomas, Mrs. E. Hayden, Mrs. M. Clack, Mrs. A. Taylor, Mrs. R. Renfrew, Mrs. H. Wilmot, Mrs. F. Wilmot, Mrs. D. Lotzer, Mrs. J. Lester, Mrs. F. Wilcock, Mrs. F. McDonald, Mrs. A. Miller, Mrs. H. Stevenson, Mrs. Morgan Hobbs, Mrs. J. M. Kidson, Mrs. J. J. Hutton, Mrs. N. Westwood, Mrs. D. J. Dyer, Mrs. F. Pottage, Mrs. C. Hill, Mrs. V. Field. Mrs. Ronald was assisted in serving tea by Mrs. Lester and Mrs. Wilcock.

Mrs. Reynolds was honored also Wednesday evening when members of the choir of St. David's-by-the-Sea met at the vicarage, Cordova Bay Road. Mrs. R. C. Creech presented Mrs. Reynolds with a set of ornaments. Rev. O'Connell expressed regret of the choir at the loss of a valued member. Mrs. O'Connell was assisted in serving refreshments by ladies of the choir.

A Week-End Visitor

Miss Nan Clark, a nurse at Royal Columbia Hospital, New Westminster, arrived in Victoria on Friday to spend the week-end with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark, and her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards, 596 Oliver Street.

Mount St. Mary

Announcement is made that the annual sale of work sponsored by Mount St. Mary will be held on Wednesday, commencing at 1 a.m. It is hoped all friends will attend this affair.

TODAY'S RECIPE

GENOISE

Beat one cup (about 5) eggs until light and fluffy. Gradually add 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat until thick and lemon colored. Fold in 1¼ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 tablespoons at a time. Fold gently but thoroughly.

Pour into two 2-inch round layer pans, well-greased and lined with waxed paper on the bottoms. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in pan. Split to form four layers. Spread cool creme au beurre between layers and on side of cake.

CREME AU BEURRE

Combine ¾ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch in saucepan. Mix well. Add 3 eggs (or 6 egg yolks:) Beat until light and fluffy. Stir in 1½ cups milk; cook over medium heat until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cool. Blend in ½ cup creamed butter or margarine.

CHOCOLATE ICING

Cream 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Blend in 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar. Add 1 small egg; beat well. Blend in 1 square (1 ounce) melted chocolate and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Beat until smooth.

Miss Margaret McNiven makes her curtsy to His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Wallace. At right is Mrs. Wallace, wearing a gown of white brocade patterned with roses in pastel pinks and blues outlined with sequins and styled with draped skirt en train. She wore a glittering tiara in her hair.

Debutante Miss Patricia Turner, and her escort, Mr. Daryl Gray, twirl in the debutantes' waltz. Miss Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Turner, wore a gown of filmy nylon net with lace panels.

Mr. Jeff Turner, Miss Veronica Hummel, Second Lieut. Gordon King and Miss Norma Greig chat in the lounge following the debutantes' waltz, which took place after the presentation ceremony, last evening at the United Services Institute Annual Ball in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

Lt.-Col. J. Nelson Gibson gives last-minute instructions to escorts of debutantes, Cadet Paul Segers, of Belgium, and Cadet Spencer Volk, of Ottawa. Both are students at Royal Roads Canadian Services College.

Joyce Roberts Is Bride In an Autumn Ceremony

A picturesque fall wedding was solemnized this afternoon in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, when Mary Joyce Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor G. Roberts, 1321 St. David Street, became the bride of Lieut. Douglas Rainsford Learoyd, son of Mrs. D. R. Learoyd, 985 Oliver Street, and the late Dr. Learoyd. Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the charming dark-haired bride wore a gown of fluted nylon net in cascading tiers with overskirt of Chantilly lace. It was styled with fitted bodice, Elizabethan collar and lily point sleeves. A soft crescent of pleated net formed the headdress which framed her face. From it clouded a finely etched veil of illusion net, slightly en train. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and feathered carnations.

Maid of honor, Miss Betty Browne, and bridesmaids Miss Gwynne Roberts and Miss Sally Learoyd, were gowned alike in waltz-length dresses of irridescent gold taffeta. To complete their ensembles, they wore hair bandeaux fashioned from tiny gold leaves and seed pearls, and they carried cascade bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Best man was Lieut.-Cmdr. C. Medley, RCN. Ushers were Lieut. S. C. Cowen, RCN and Lieut. H. Ellis, RCN.

A guard of honor was formed for the happy couple as they left the church, by Lieut.-Cmdr. R. Orton (R), Lieut. M. Considine, Lieut. A. Henley, Lieut. W. Taylor, Lieut. H. Andrews, Lieut. E. Francis, Lieut. (S) J. Gormley, and Lieut. (L) J. Cohrs.

Reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother, wearing a grey-blue taffeta dress embroidered with pearls, and pink rose corsage, and the groom's mother, wearing a dark corded silk dress with deep red roses en corsage, received guests.

C. G. Heisterman proposed the toast to the bride. Rooms were decorated with cedar boughs and white chrysanthemums. A cutwork lace cloth covered the bride's table which was centred with a wedding cake set in illusion tulle and flanked by white candles.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. Carlyle, Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. K. Cutler, Vancouver.

For a honeymoon trip to California, the bride donned a traveling suit of softly tailored imported French poodle cloth in taupe shade, a misty pink imported velour coat, brown silk braided hat and brown lizard accessories. The couple will live at 422 St. Charles Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Evans are entertaining after five tonight at their Cedar Hill home.

Miss Mary Allman of the department of fisheries will be in Victoria for several days the beginning of next week, staying at the Empress Hotel. During her visit she will speak to the Doreen McLeod (Alcyone) Group of the Women's Association of First United Church.

Cats' Annual Tree And Christmas Tea

The Cats' Protection League is holding its annual cats' Christmas tree and tea party on Nov. 28 at 3 p.m. in Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street. Gifts on the decorated tree will be entirely for cats and will consist of tins of cat food for pensioners' cats. Pensioners who would like their cats to receive a gift have been requested to mail their names and address to the secretary, Cats' Protection League, 646 Niagara Street.

There will be home-cooking and superfluities stalls and afternoon tea will be served. Conveners are Miss O. Bossi and Mrs. D. Farmer. This affair will be opened by Mrs. Claude Harrison. Piano selections will be given by Miss R. B. Chisholm.

Decorating Stones, Moss, Trees Unusual Hobby Described by Pender Island Woman as Distaff Dabbling

BY A. DICKASON

The interior of the home of Mrs. Georgena May Dickason is unique. She lives in a heavy-eaved, dark-panelled house on Pender Island, B.C., midway in the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Visitors on entering her home feel immediately that it is different. They are right. This difference lies in the many unusual types of decorations gracing walls, mantels and room corners — dainty yet startling blends of sea shells, tree branches, bits of moss and other flora from swamp, field and forest.

Far from being an essembly of cacophonous trash, these little products of the outdoors have been skillfully blended into objects d' art which add distinctive modernistic touches to the inside of a home built some 25 years ago.

A gentle sweet-faced woman of "over 60," Mrs. Dickason started "dabbling" approximately two years ago. Today, and several hundred "dabbles" later, the living room in the comfortable bungalow is so rich in diversified, cleverly constructed ornaments, visitors prowl and peer from one item of interest to another, unleashing complimentary adjectives of envy.

MRS. G. M. DICKASON

BEAUTY IN THINGS

As Mrs. Dickason puts it: "So much beauty goes unnoticed in the ordinary things which grow around us. I like to take commonplace subjects —stones, shells, branches, sheaves of barley, or any growing thing for that matter—and put them in a completely new environment. This way their individual attractions become more pronounced."

While this is borne out in many pieces of work Mrs. Dickason has accomplished, perhaps the most visually startling is an old pear tree branch, black, twisted and stark. It stands in a Chinese-red vase in the centre window of the living room. Whispy-green whiskers of lichen hang from the branch to the sill. In this setting the queerly shaped branch radiates an appeal which leaves the observer wondering exactly why he likes it.

A dead branch in a vase? How come?

"They've just never seen a branch, of this kind, in a vase, in a window before," explains Mrs. Dickason. "That's why it seems so attractive."

In her basement workshop—which consists of a bench, paint brushes, pots of paint and glue —originate the eye appealing offerings. Some of the items enhancing her home are in the natural state, like the pear tree branch; others are painted and decorated.

While painted sea shells are found at many seaside resorts Mrs. Dickason goes this several steps better; she decorates oyster and clam shells with small cones, dried painted pods and wisps of tinted barley or oats.

The result is a brilliant assembly of subjects and color. There are hanging shells with willow handles suitable as pots for small "drape" plants; elongated shells with plaster bases which make neat niches for small china statuettes. The piece de resistance is a large oyster shell jewel case, the side hinged and the two perfectly fitted corrugated halves painted a soft yellow shade.

In deep vases resting on the floor "bloom" other strange and intriguing nests of color. One group of weird but appealing flora consists of onion stems four feet high, topped by thousands of tiny pods gone to seed. The seed cluster are painted a mottled silver; the stems a deep red. Poppies which have gone to seed are treated similarly; stems painted a brilliant green and pods a vibrant orange.

On a wall by the piano hang two half-shells, silver-colored. Motifs of bass and treble clefs are painted on these in black. In the centre of the kitchen table are three large joined barnacles with a utilitarian purpose: one barnacle opening is for unused matches; one for spent matches and the third for ashes from cigarettes.

The most minute work of this artisan of the outdoors is in her broaches, made from small pods, miniature cones and shells. Exquisite in appearance and painstakingly difficult to make they are nonetheless durable. Witness to this fact are her three grand-daughters in Montreal who wear them on their little-girl frocks.

Long branches of dried delphiniums, painted in royal blue, purple and rose form arresting boquets in her bedroom.

But don't all these things become dust collectors?

"Oh no, not really," says Mrs. Dickason. "I just take a deep breath and blow hard!"

She sees her productive hobby as perhaps giving a lead to housewives elsewhere with the time to spare. "They can decorate their homes in a similar way, with whatever grows, so often unnoticed, around them."

The cost? Just the time and the paint!

Discomfort in Television
The ideal viewing distance for television is seven or eight times the height of the screen. This works out to be six to twelve feet for the most popular sets.
Practically no occupation except televiewing requires continuous visual attention to an object at eye level six to twelve feet ahead. Most of those who experience some discomfort following their first few evenings at televiewing will quickly acquire the necessary new visual skills and their discomfort will vanish.
Only those who have definitely subnormal visual skills, which should have received optometric attention anyway, will find it necessary to seek professional attention before being able to fully enjoy televiewing.

THE VICTORIA AND DISTRICT ZONE COMMANDER OF THE CANADIAN LEGION REPLIES TO THE SMEAR CAMPAIGN.

A reprint of a letter to the Editor of The Victoria Daily Colonist of November 14th, 1953.

OUR "POLITICS"

Sir,—While there may be some ex-service men who approve of your editorial in this morning's (Saturday) paper in connection with Premier Bennett's absence from the service at the cenotaph on Remembrance Day, I think I can speak for the majority when I say that the Canadian Legion resents your efforts to drag the name of the Legion into a very low attempt to play politics on such a solemn occasion.

The Legion annually arranges the service and parade and issues invitations to various bodies to send a representative. The government naturally receives such an invitation.

This year three ministers attended and the senior of them deposited the government wreath.

The Legion was satisfied and certainly does not feel that this was just a political stunt as your editorial seems to suggest.

R. B. LONGRIDGE,
Victoria and District Zone Commander,
Canadian Legion.

CHRISTMAS CHRONICLE

Behold the wondrous Christmas tree
That Santa brought for you and me.
Come, let us  in to see
The gifts left for all the family.
For David a drum and a rocking-horse,
A box of candy, too, of course.
While Santa fulfilled mother's wishes
With a new set of china dishes.
Dad had a dozen ties before
And now he finds he   more.
Oh! This belongs to me. Just look!
I have an empty pocket-book.

The asterisks stand for the letters of three missing words. The last two are joined to spell the first word.

Solution: Manger, hay, ten are the words.

RING THE BELL

Hang a bell from the ceiling on a red ribbon or cord. Blindfold contestants. In each one's turn, start him out from a corner of the room by spinning him three times and then letting him go. Object is to find and ring the bell, which is not as easy as it may seem.

Engineers Rush To Finish Plans For Haney Prison

A new B.C. prison farm that will cost several millions of dollars will be built soon on a 220-acre site at Haney, the government said Friday.

In a joint statement, Attorney-General Bonner and Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said engineers are rushing to complete plans, and construction will start as soon as plans are finished.

The new prison will be capable of holding 400 prisoners.

Mr. Bonner said the prison farm was being built as a rehabilitation centre and was not primarily intended for detention.

"It will embody every modern feature necessary to facilitate advanced penal reform," he said.

The farm is designed to relieve the serious overcrowding at the Oakalla prison farm. Originally intended to handle 400 prisoners the farm now houses more than 1,000.

The proposal for the new farm was made by a prison investigating committee in 1950 after an extended tour of the province's penal facilities.

Province Short 1,000 Teachers Says Federation

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia will need at least 1,000 new teachers in the 1954-55 school year, the B.C. Teachers' Federation said Friday.

At the same time the federation told delegates attending the fifth annual western conference of the Canadian Teachers' Federation here that the West Coast's three teacher training centres will turn out fewer than 600 teachers at the end of the current school year.

The forecast of a shortage of 400 teachers in B.C. was matched by Manitoba delegates, while Alberta reported a shortage of at least 180 teachers.

The B.C. federation estimated that 650 teachers will resign or retire from the profession at the end of the current year. New school construction will provide openings for an additional 400.

Delegates said better working conditions and salaries, especially in rural areas, were required to make the profession more attractive.

Philip Not 'Royal Moron' Critics Told

LONDON (Reuters) — A church newspaper has supported the right of the Duke of Edinburgh to express his views on controversial topics and said it finds no reason why he should have to act like "a Royal moron."

British Weekly, a 67-year-old Liberal religious journal, was replying to criticism of a speech made by the duke two weeks ago. Several Socialist papers said his praise of military service as a "character-building experience" violated the traditional neutrality of the Royal Family on political issues.

British Weekly said "We look forward to Prince Philip's next venture in public speaking." Its editorial, headed "Philip the silent?" added: "We have a prince who has opinions, the intelligence to justify them and the ability to express them.

Dance Club Names New Set Officers

James Wickens was elected president of the Let's Dance Club at a meeting this week.

Others elected were Ernest Protheroe, vice-president, and James Funk, treasurer.

The club specializes in folk, round and square dancing. Plans are being made for a full program of dances, new and old, for the coming year. The club is a member of the Greater Victoria Folk Dance Council.

Regular dance meetings are held each Tuesday at 8 p.m. at 1012 Douglas Street.

The club will hold a Christmas party December 15.

The club is open to new members and inquiries may be made at B 7865.

SOCIAL WORKERS

CALGARY (CP)—Forty-nine per cent of the social workers in Canada are men, it was reported here by R. E. G. Davis of Ottawa, director of the Canadian Welfare Council. Previously, he said, this field was considered mainly the responsibility of women.

'WHEELBARROW, WHEELBARROW, MY TRUE LOVE'

NICE (AP) — Spanish surrealist painter Salvador Dali said today he is going to make a motion picture next year in which Italian actress Anna Magnani will be in love with a wheelbarrow.

"The film will be called 'The Wheelbarrow of Flesh' and she will find in that instrument all the qualities and charms of a human being," said Dali, with a straight face.

Ottawa Urged to Give Indian Legal Counsel

British Columbia will ask the federal government to provide legal counsel for native Indians on all major criminal charges.

An order-in-council, approved by the cabinet this week, asks the provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs to press the matter with the Indian affairs branch at Ottawa.

The order noted there is no definite, consistent policy on the matter.

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavia elects a new Narodna Skupstina, its "people's" Parliament, Sunday. The ballot will be secret, but rigid rules make the election a one-party primary and assure President Tito's administration a whopping vote.

Sammon Flies East to Talk On Pay Boost

Salary adjustments granted federal civil servants will be discussed in Ottawa next week by regional vice-president of the DVA Employees' National Association, G. K. Sammon of the Veterans' Hospital here.

He is flying to the Dominion capital today to meet with delegates of the association from every province. Following association talks, group will meet with Veterans' Affairs Minister Hugues Lapointe.

Mr. Sammon is the only B.C. delegate.

Referring to salary increases announced Friday, Mr. Sammon stated that they represent a 10 per cent hike for 70 per cent of the DVA employees.

"Several technical categories have still to be settled as well as groups who received interim increases some months ago but are still underpaid," he stated.

He inferred that DVA technical employees are forced to desert the department to seek higher wages in industry, under present salary scales.

"Only 38 per cent of our members are so far enjoying the five-day week," he added. "That is another matter we will discuss."

Mr. Sammon is currently midway through a two-year term as councillor in Esquimalt.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Like its famous mother, Snookie's baby was too stubborn for its own good.

The 75-pound, three-day-old hippopotamus died of malnutrition Thursday after spurning Snookie's feeding attempts. It—Snookie wouldn't allow caretakers close enough to determine sex — was Snookie's third baby. One was drowned. Mama — all 4,000 pounds of her—sat on the other.

Snookie became famous a few years ago with an eight-day sit-down strike while being transferred from Chicago to Columbus zoo.

Expanded Red China Trade Possible for U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is giving "active consideration" to the expansion of trade in non-strategic goods with Communist China, Trade Minister Peter Thorneycroft said today.

He was replying to questions from Labor members in the House of Commons on reasons for restricting trade in such items as antibiotic drugs.

Labor member Barnett Stross complained Thursday that Chinese orders for pharmaceuticals and other non-strategic goods were going to other countries, while Britain was doing little about it.

Family Food Budget Totals $6.78 Per Person Per Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Family food expenditures in the metropolitan areas of five Canadian cities in the first six months of this year averaged $6.78 a person a week, the bureau of statistics reported Friday.

The report was the second release of a continuing sample survey of urban food expenditures in Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

The first release, issued September 11, covered results for the last four months of 1952 and showed an average of $7.52 a person for that period.

Times Crossword Contest
$150 in Cash

NO WINNER OF LAST PUZZLE

THE RULES

Solve the clues as you would any crossword puzzle. Clip out the dotted form and mail it to The Times Crosswords, c/o The Victoria Daily Times.

You can send in as many entries as you like, in one envelope, but they must be on the form printed in the paper. Facsimiles will NOT be permitted. The puzzle will be printed on Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays.

All answers must be received by the morning mail of Wednesday.

Be sure to clip on the dotted line. This is for the convenience of tallying entries.

EARLY MAILING WILL BE APPRECIATED

The answer will be printed in Thursday's paper each week. It will be a good idea to keep a record of your solution and compare it with the answer.

PRIZES

Anyone may enter with the exception of employees of Victoria Press Ltd. and their families.

A prize of $25 will be paid for solving the puzzle. If there is more than one winner the prize will be divided.

BONUS

If the winner is a regular daily subscriber to The Times by carrier or mail a special bonus of $50 will be paid in addition to the regular prize. When there is no winner, this bonus will increase at the rate of $25 per week until a winner is found. When there is more than one winner the current bonus will be divided.

This week's prize is $25, plus a $125 bonus.

Study the clues carefully before you write down your answers. There is always one answer which is best. The decision of the judges in the contest will be final and all contestants taking part agree to abide by their decisions.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1953

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — Getting right down to brass tacks in all financial, emotional concerns shows right solution to which you can bend your determined efforts for long time to come.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Making it a point to be very direct in stating your aims for future gives all associates real understanding of just what you want. Then you get worthwhile support in partnership matters.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Getting down from the idealistic, imaginative perch from which you have been operating gives you chance at last to make real progress of practical nature. Work hard for real results.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Making definite arrangements to market your creative talents, special capabilities brings you at long last that chance to impress others with your genius. P.M., entertain, be happy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) —Get your home in good condition again by quietly sidestepping temptations to go off for pleasures. Make every repair to last a long time; be considerate of all at your residence.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Taking this first day of the week to calendar your time intelligently produces really worthwhile system that brings your aims more readily within your orbit. Good friends gladly assist.

LIBRA (September 23 to Octobar 22)—Showing one in power, authority you come from background to practical abilities releases money, benefits for which you have been studiously applying yourself. Keep steadfast.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)—This is your day to put into immediate execution all advanced, streamined arrangements that have been wanting to get into your shrewd mind for long time. Be dynamic.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)—Doing for others shows you how to avoid pitfalls that brought them to their present state; be understanding. Then get at your own material needs; arrange collections, bills, taxes, etc.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Telling friends of your affection and devotion clears up some tension caused by your apparent preoccupation with your own problems. Cement ties with others. Make contract.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Forego fun and use this Monday to do what all in authority expect of you; following rules and regulations you sometimes ignore brings you real credit and popularity.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Surprise invitation, favor gives you that chance you've been waiting for to get off to inspiring, desirable ideas in educational, scientific avenues of expression.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN MONDAY . . .

Monday's child is highly aware of all material matters and can be a great success in big business interests, especially where foreign securities and delving into viewpoints and matters concerning traveling, unknown philosophies that need to be brought up-to-date and which can be utilized to aid man's progress at this time. Never try to keep anything away from your offspring, for a highly personal awareness brings all to his or her knowledge.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

"South's leap to six hearts was sensational but not too bad," writes J. C. Stablein in describing today's hand. Stablein, Seattle expert, is one of the best analysts in the country.

"West's overcall in South's void suit must have encouraged the belief that North had some high cards which would fit nicely wih declarer's holding. If the ace of clubs were exchanged for the spade ace or for the diamond king, the slam would spread.

"West led the king of clubs. Prospects for success are not bright. The ace of spades must be lost, and a successful finesse of the spade ten will permit only one discard.

"After some time, declarer played a small club from dummy and ruffed. Two leads of hearts picked up the adverse trumps, and it was time out for more reflection.

"Declarer then led the six of spades. After some thought, West played low. Dummy's queen held the trick, and the spade king was discarded on the ace of clubs. A diamond trick was given up, and South's two losing diamonds were ruffed in dummy.

"West declared that he should have gone up with the ace of spades, but it was soon discovered that that play wouldn't have helped."

Opening lead—♣ K

Very true. If West puts up the ace of spades, nothing can stop South from cashing the king and queen of spades. This drops the jack, so dummy can then cash the ten of spades. These spades give South two diamond discards. The ace of clubs gives him a third discard, which is all he needs.

The point about ruffing the opening lead is that South doesn't know at that stage what he wants to discard on the ace of clubs. It all depends on what West does when the first spade is led.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Tenders are invited for the Construction of Additions to Milnes Landing High School and Metchosin Elementary School for the Board of Trustees, School District No. 62 (Sooke).

Plans and Specifications are available to bona fide General Contractors from the office of the Architects, Wade & Stockdill, 1020 Government Street, Victoria, B.C., on payment of the sum of Twenty-Five Dollars ($25.00) for each set which will be refunded upon the return of the Plans and Specifications in good condition within one month of the receipt of tenders.

Tenders must be good for thirty days.

Tenders must be accompanied by a surety bond in the form prescribed, a copy of which will be attached to the Specifications, which binds the tenderer and the surety in an amount equal to 10% of the tender and a total of 50% of the tender if accepted. A definitive surety bond must be delivered within ten days after the award of the contract to the successful tenderer and the surety must be approved by the Owner. Bonds will be returned to unsuccessful bidders as soon as possible after tenders are opened.

Tenders must be made out on the forms which will be supplied, addressed to Patrick G. Strachan, Secretary-Treasurer, Board of Trustees, School District No. 62 (Sooke), and delivered to the office of the Architects not later than 12 noon on Tuesday, December 8th, 1953.

DEPARTMENT OF CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION
INDIAN AFFAIRS BRANCH

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Director, Indian Affairs Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, will be received until noon (E.S.T.), on December 10, 1953, for the construction by contract of:

1. Superintendent's Residence, Index No. 1106, Alert Bay, Kwawkewith Indian Agency, B.C.
2. Agency Office Building, Index No. 1107, Alert Bay, Kwawkewith Indian Agency, B.C.

Contractors shall tender in complete accordance with the drawings, specifications, and tendering documents supplied by the Department for that purpose. Contractors should tender on both projects, but separate tenders must be submitted for each building.

The drawings, specifications and other documents will be exhibited at the following points from November 20, 1953, until December 8, 1953, inclusive:

1. Indian Commissioner for British Columbia, Federal Bldg., Vancouver, B.C.
2. Superintendent of Indian Agency, Alert Bay, B.C.

General Instructions to Tenderers, Drawings and Specifications are obtainable at the above offices upon deposit of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each set of documents in the form of a certified cheque made payable to the Receiver General of Canada. This deposit will be refunded upon return of the drawings and specifications in good condition to the Chief, Engineering and Construction Service, Indian Affairs Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, within two weeks from the date on which tenders close.

To receive consideration, tenders must be submitted on the tender forms provided and must be accompanied by a certified cheque drawn on a chartered Bank in Canada, payable to the Receiver General of Canada in an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the tender price or Bearer Bonds of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, as specified in the form of tender.

The Department reserves the right to reject any or all tenders and the lowest tender will not necessarily be accepted.

LAVAL FORTIER,
Deputy Minister.

Canadian Poll Shows White Collar' Workers Have Greater Financial 'Staying Powers'

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE PUBLIC OPINION

If you lost your job tomorrow, how long could you get by without earning? A week? A month—or a year? How does your financial situation compare with Canadians living in other provinces? With other men or women? Are you in about the same position as others in your age group?

The Gallup Polll has made a special study on this question which was put to a scientific cross-section of employed men and women throughout the country:

"IF YOU LOST YOUR JOB TOMORROW HOW LONG COULD YOU GET BY WITHOUT EARNING?"

This is the picture of the nation as a whole.

Up to one week	15%
Up to one month	29%
One month to three	17%
Three months to six	11%
Six months to a year	8%
Over a year	16%
Don't know	4%
	100%

There's a considerable difference between the way employed Canadians feel in the eastern provinces, and the rest of Canada. In the Maritimes and Quebec, for instance, more than half the workers (52 per cent) say they could manage without income only up until a month's time. In Ontario and the West, this drops to 38 per cent. In the same way only 20 in a 100 who work in the eastern provinces could live for over six months without earning. This rises to about 28 in a 100 in other regions.

Despite the fact that there are more married men in business and industry, than married women, there's very little difference on the whole in the length of time men could manage without a pay envelope as compared to women.

Younger people have less confidence, on the whole, in their ability to live without income than those who are 40 and over. For instance, while nearly half of those between 21 and 40 say they could only manage for anywhere up to a month without their job, 36 per cent of those over 40 think they could. When it comes to living for over a year without earning, more than twice as many over 40 (25 per cent) can boast of this, compared with those under 40 (10 per cent).

Of particular interest is the contrast between employed men and women who are in professional or "white-collar" jobs, as compared with those who are in skilled or unskilled labor. Again the "staying power" shows up dramatically when the possibility of living without income for over a year is considered.

	Professional & White Collar	Skilled & Unskilled
One week or less	10%	21%
Up to one month	27	22
One month to three	16	19
Three months to six	11	11
Six months to a year	11	6
Over a year	22	9
Don't know	3	2
	100%	100%

In a study released last week the poll reported that while almost half the public believed that there would be more unemployment during the next few months, this was largely due to seasonal fluctuations. The outlook for employment, says the poll, is not considered too serious by the general public.

OPTIMISTS PLAY IT SAFE

Reflector Tape Safeguards Boys on Times Paper Routes

Three hundred Times carriers will enjoy additional safety on winter-darkened streets, thanks to generosity of city Optimists.

"Friend of the Boy," motto of the service club was exemplified today in the gift of hundreds of yards of Scotchlite safety tape, a brilliant red reflector that will make the boys' bikes stand out within a quarter mile of a car's headlights.

Optimist president Fred Tanner helped the youngsters install the tape on bikes this morning under guidance of city police Sergeant Brooke Douglass.

He pointed out that installation of the tape does not mean a bike can be without standard reflectors on the rear mudguards.

The goodwill gesture of the club is made possible through returns from two Optimist sales campaigns conducted throughout the year, house-to-house sales of peanuts and at Christmas, sale of Christmas trees.

The club currently operates a well-equipped hobby centre for city youths on Fairfield Road where regular classes teach boatbuilding, art, woodworking and oratory to about 50 boys.

In the near future, Optimists hope to start a mouth-organ band and whittling classes.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Tenders, marked "Tender for Trans-Canada Highway: Burnside Road-Goldstream Section" will be received by the Minister of Public Works, Douglas Building, 617 Government Street, Victoria, B.C., up to 12 o'clock noon, Pacific Standard Time on Friday the 4th day of December, 1953, and opened in public at that time and date. Only Contractors, or Contracting Firms, that have been incorporated and carrying on business in Canada for a period of at least one year, prior to the date of Tenders, are eligible.

Plans, specifications and conditions of Tender may be obtained from the Public Works Office, 635 Burrard Street, Vancouver 1, B.C., or from the undersigned, on deposit of a sum of Ten Dollars ($10.00) which will be refunded on their return in good condition within a period of one month of the receipt of Tenders, except in the case of the successful Contractor where the plan deposit is not refundable.

No Tender will be accepted or considered that contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions, and the lowest or any Tender will not necessarily be accepted.

N. M. McCALLUM,
Chief Engineer.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "TENDER FOR BREAKWATER, STEVESTON, B.C.", will be received in the office of the Secretary, until 3.00 p.m. (E.S.T.), WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1953.

Plans, form of contract and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of the Chief Engineer, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, at the office of the District Engineer, Post Office Building, New Westminster, B.C., and at the Post Offices, at Steveston, Vancouver and Victoria, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on or according to these printed forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, or Bearer Bonds as specified in the form of tender, for 10% of the amount of the tender.

NOTE: Upon application to the undersigned, the Department will supply blueprints and specification of the work on deposit of a sum of $50.00, in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works. The deposit will be released on the return of the blue-prints and specification within a month from the date of reception of tenders. If not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

Prominent North Pole Citizen Arrives

With a "Ho, Ho, Ho!" and a "Ha, Ha, Ha! "The Old Gentleman himself arrived in Victoria today, his cheerful grin and beaming face shiny through the drizzling rain which failed to dampen the excitement of hundreds of youngsters who mobbed him on city streets. Santa Claus will be in residence here until the Big Day comes, checking on the records of good little boys and girls, and listening to their requests for Christmas.

He turned up first at 8.45 a.m., and at 11 a.m. visited City Hall, where he was introduced to Mayor Claude Harrison by Uncle Ed Farey. (The Mayor said Santa needed no introduction). Later, in his sleigh pulled by six reindeer, the jovial saint toured the city, with two small guests from the Protestant Orphanage, nine-year-old Skipper Ward and Barbara Hudson. Good-behavior graph of boys and girls is rising rapidly.

TRANSIT STRIKE TIES UP MONTREAL

Workers Hold 'Continuous Meeting'

MONTREAL (BUP) — Some 3,000 streetcar and bus drivers quit work today for a "continuous meeting" that tied up public transport for more than 1,000,000 persons on the busiest day of the year.

An official of the city-operated Montreal transportation commission said "there isn't a thing moving, and we don't know when we'll resume operations."

Meanwhile organizers of Montreal's annual Santa Claus parade decided today "the show must go on" regardless of a streetcar strike.

A spokesman for the T. Eaton Company department store announced that the parade, planned almost since the one last year ended, would be held regardless of a strike of streetcar and bus drivers that crippled public transportation in the city.

"WILDCAT"

The MTC called the tieup a wildcat walkout. However, members of the AFL Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees who have been negotiating for several months for a 10-cent hourly pay boost, said it was "simply a continuous meeting." They are forbidden to strike under Quebec law.

ASSORTED METHODS

Montrealers who usually travel by streetcar or bus got to work by assorted methods. Most took taxis. Many teamed in car pools. Some firms announced over radio stations they had arranged for their trucks to pick up employees at designated places. Motorists turned good Samaritans for the day and picked up people hitching rides.

The strike was sparked by a dragged-out dispute over the union's demand for a 10 per cent general pay increase and shorter hours. The commission said that would cost $6,000,000 and it could not provide it without raising fares for the third time since the war. Tickets now are three for 30 cents, or 12 cents cash per ride.

Motormen and conductors now get basic pay of $1.41 an hour.

1,327 MPH Hit By U.S. Pilot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Research pilot Scott Crossfield power-dived the Douglas Skyrocket twice the speed of sound Friday, it was announced today. Crossfield attained a speed of 1,327 miles an hour which the national advisory committee for aeronautics said was actually 2.01 times the speed of sound. This is the fastest man has ever flown.

Only last week it was disclosed that Crossfield flew the Skyrocket 1,272 miles an hour Oct. 14 for a world speed record.

The previous mark was set by the same Skyrocket airplane, with Douglas test pilot William Bridgeman at the controls in Aug., 1951, with a speed of 1,238 miles an hour.

The record set Friday beats the previous mark by more than 50 miles an hour and is almost 100 miles an hour better than Bridgeman's mark.

The needle-nosed Skyrocket, now nine years old, also holds the world's altitude record of 83,235 feet, set by Marine Lt.-Col. Marion Carl last Aug. 21.

Langley Demands Inquiry; Marshal Denies Arson

Harry Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road, prominent district Social Crediter, has filed a writ in B.C. Supreme Court here charging "negligence" of the law firm of Clearihue and Gregory in the matter of disposal of property in which he had an interest.

The writ was delivered to Liberal by-election candidate George Gregory personally by Mr. Langley, 15 minutes after the court registry office closed Friday.

(Mr. Clearihue, former senior partner in the firm, is now County Court Judge Joseph B. Clearihue.)

The action is brought in connection with the sale of the Pemberton estate, located at 617 Foul Bay Road, destroyed by fire March 25 this year.

In a statement delivered personally to the Times today, Mr. Langley also demanded an investigation into destruction of the Pemberton residence by the blaze.

MARSHAL QUERIED

Fire Marshal W. A. Walker of Vancouver today told the Times that the situation "does not warrant further inquiries."

In his statement, the Socred party member said he was not so much interested in "who actually set the fire, but who employed and instructed this man to do the job."

Loss of the house was unofficially estimated at $50,000.

"The police are informed who set this fire, which was described by the fire chief and fire marshal as deliberate arson," said Mr. Langley.

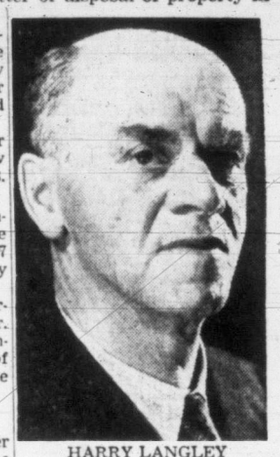
NO EVIDENCE

However, today the marshal said "there is nothing to indicate arson occurred there, but he (Harry Langley) keeps on pestering me."

He said an investigator from his department had come to Victoria and had "got all the facts." Mr. Walker said he could not go into details because his records were in his office and the affair happened so many months ago.

The marshal did say, however, that if Mr. Langley had any information about who started the blaze, he should "take it to the police."

Police Chief Blackstock, when told of the Langley statement, said "of course we don't know who set the blaze. If we did he'd be locked up."



HARRY LANGLEY
. . . sues Gregory

Gregory Replies

Mr. Gregory said when asked about the writ served him by Harry Langley:

1. Mr. Langley had a letter in the paper only yesterday supporting the Social Credit party.

2. I am the Liberal candidate in Tuesday's election.

3. Mr. Langley's claim relates to something that is supposed to have occurred in July, 1949.

4. Mr. Langley apparently could not find even a Social Credit lawyer who saw any merit in his case, for he issued the writ in person.

5. The writ was served on me by Mr. Langley personally yesterday 15 minutes after the Court Registr closed for the week-end.

6. The public can decide whether Mr. Langley issued the writ to obtain justice or political advantage.

Pearson Says Cabinet to Make Decision on Gouzenko Request

OTTAWA (BUP)—The second request of United States Senate investigators for permission to question Igor Gouzenko in connection with the Harry Dexter White case, was tossed today into the lap of the Canadian Cabinet for a decision.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said "everything" the former Russian cipher clerk had told of Soviet spying since he fled from the Russian Embassy here eight years ago "has been made available to United States authorities."

But he said the second request from the Jenner sub-committee on internal security for permission to interview Gouzenko would be "considered by me and my colleagues." He told a hastily called press conference that a reply would be sent to Washington "probably sometime next week."

Pearson's announcement was taken to mean that the case had been lifted out of the hands of the external affairs department for a review by the full cabinet. Pearson and Justice Minister Stuart Garson conferred on the matter this afternoon.

One such request has been rejected by Canada. Pearson warned reporters today against "speculating" on what the decision on the second request might be.

(A news story in the Chicago Tribune today quoted the former Soviet clerk as saying he could not understand "why United States officials could not come here to interview me. I believe I can give advice which, if properly put into effect, would have good chances of bringing the exposure of present Soviet spy rings in the United States in a comparatively short time.")

Pearson pointed ou that Gouzenko is a Canadian citizen "with all the rights and privileges of a citizen." He can go where he wishes and talk to whomever he pleases, the minister said.

MONKEYS OUT OF SCIENTISTS

Prehistoric Piltdown Man Revealed as 40-Year Hoax

LONDON (UP)—The British Museum said today someone used the jawbone of an ape to make monkeys out of scientists.

Museum researchers said most of the skull of the Piltdown Man, long studied in world textbooks as a prehistoric specimen, is the "deliberately faked" jawbone of a chimpanzee or orangoutan.

"The hoax appears to have been so entirely unscrupulous and inexplicable as to find no parallel in the history of paleontological research," the researchers said.

The museum's spokesmen said the unknown pranksters planted the lower jawbone and canine tooth of a modern ape in the gravel pit at Piltdown, England, where parts of a thick, apparently human skull were found in 1912.

"I expect some changes will have to be made in the textbooks now," a museum spokesman said. "It is a major discovery."

Queen, Duke Dance On Eve of World Tour

LONDON (AP)—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh danced until 3 a.m. today in a final fling before their departure Monday night for a trip around the world.

With some 40 close friends, they celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary at a secretly-planned dance in the ballroom of Clarence House, their former home, now the residence of Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. Between dances, the party laughed at cabaret acts by stage stars Noel Coward and Peter Ustinov.

Then the royal couple went off to Windsor for a last visit with their children.

The Queen will leave the fogs of Britain Monday night for sunny southern islands and a trip around the world.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will be away six months on a trip designed to give thousands of her subjects a glimpse of their 27-year-old monarch. It will be the first time a British sovereign has made an around-the-world tour.

They leave London Monday night in the stratocruiser Canopus, piloted by Capt. Anthony Loraine. They will fly through the night via Gander, Nfld., to Bermuda, where they are due at 10 a.m. Tuesday. The next day they fly to Jamaica.

The Queen and the duke arrive in Australia Feb. 3 to spend two months.

Homebound, the sovereign will include in her tour war-famed Tobruk in Africa, Malta, Gibraltar and such tiny outposts as Aden.

Positive Attitude

ROME (AP)—Italy advised the Big Three Western powers today that she takes a "positive and constructive attitude" toward a five-power conference aimed at settling the Trieste question.

30-Mile Trek Faces Man and Wife

Stricken with blood poisoning in her hands, Mrs. Gerry Wellard, wife of the West Coast Carmanah lighthouse keeper, began a 30-mile trek on foot Friday over a rugged trail to Port Renfrew in order to receive medical assistance.

The woman is accompanied by her husband and is expected to reach Port Renfrew this evening.

Tom Morrison, department of transport agent, said the couple will have to cross canyons and ford swift moving rivers to get to their destination. "They will no doubt be exhausted by the time they get to Port Renfrew," he said.

Mrs. Wellard could not be taken out by boat because there are no harbors on that part of the coast.

WIRE BRIEFS

Margaret's Maid Weds

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret's personal maid, Robina MacDonald, 37, and Norman Gordon, 32, a former footman to Queen Elizabeth, were married today.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The board of education has suspended 27 teachers because they refused to answer questions about alleged Communist connections.

Five Inches Of Late Snow Hits Prairies

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Prairie dwellers donned fur coats and snuggled under heavy quilts today as pelting snow took a stranglehold on Manitoba, while lashing blizzards boomed down from the Rockies.

Heavy snowflakes floated down from leaden skies to smother Manitoba and northwestern Ontario under more than five inches of snow early today. It was the first big snowfall listed west of the Lakehead this fall.

The weather office here said an intense cold air mass nudged along by swirling blizzards was moving up from the northwestern United States and would pounce on Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario tonight.

Colorado, Montana and southern Alberta shivered under 10 degree temperatures and were punished by whipping blizzards from the Rocky Mountains.

"The snow's coming down . . . at last," a local weatherman said." Its almost a month behind schedule, and indicates a very late spring."

Bombers Lead

WINNIPEG — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, western champions, led Balmy Beach 8 to 4 at halftime today in their Grey Cup Canadian football semi-final. Beaches ORFU champions lead 4 to 0 at the end of the first quarter.

Winner of today's game will meet the Big Four champions in the final at Toronto next Saturday.

B.C. Airman Killed

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — William Harris Edwards, 29, of Milner, B.C., was instantly killed early today when his car overturned in a ditch 1½ miles south of here. He was believed returning to the air base at nearby Penhold.

Race Driver Killed

SILAO, Mexico (UP) — Italian race driver Felice Bonetto, leader of the Pan-American road race, was killed today when his Lancia roadster struck a lamppost in this central Mexican city.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

Ed Green — Cliff Briggs — Glen Sheane — Mrs. D. Jones — Roy Cameron — Mrs. J. Rowlands — John Palmer — Mrs. J. Ford

With campaigning in the provincial by-election here nearly over, the Times' weekly feature "What's Your Opinion?" today deals with views on the electioneering from the man and woman on the street. What is your opinion of the conduct of the campaign?

★ ★ ★

Ed Green, Del Monte Road, Hudson's Bay Company employee:

"It would have been a better campaign if there had been less mud slinging. We have an intelligent and informed public. They'd understand the issues if they were put to them properly. Resorting to mud slinging loses votes for candidates."

Cliff Briggs, 2705 Cook Street, Mc and Mc salesman:

"It's been a pretty smeary campaign and I'd just as soon not say who is responsible. I think the other parties should have been sportsmanlike and allowed Mr. Gunderson the seat by acclamation. The by-election has put the people to a lot of unnecessary expense."

Glen Sheane, 135 Bushby Street, engraver, Flynn's Engraving:

"I think the campaign has been about normal. They all get a litle hot. The Socreds and the Liberals are making a good fight out of it. They seem to be the only ones really in it. I'm not concerned about the campaign's conduct."

Mrs. Doris Jones, 855 Phoenix Avenue:

"The campaign has been dirtier than usual with altogether too much mud-slinging. They're just pulling each other apart. The people don't want this sort of campaign. The candidates should stick to the issues so the people can vote intelligently next Tuesday."

Roy Cameron, 508 Cecelia Street, retired:

"My ears and head are aching from listening to all that election talk on the radio. There's been a lot of hot air. I wouldn't say the campaign has been so dirty, but it's been more intense than usual. I'm glad I'm not a candidate taking all that abuse."

Mrs. James Rowlands, 2981 Qu'Appelle Street:

"I think it's been a fair campaign. They always get a little heated as election days get close. I think that's to be expected. I'm not alarmed about the conduct of the campaign. It seems fair."

John Palmer, 1221 Lyall Street:

"No, this isn't a dirty campaign. It's a good lively one. It's good to see. We should feel fortunate we live in a country where campaigns like this are held. It's a political game and it's fought right to the end. What's wrong with that?

Mrs. Jan Ford, housewife, 128 Hampshire Road:

"I wish it was all over. There's been too much mud-slinging for my liking. Why don't they stick to the issues? That's what people want to hear about. They should realize that's what the voters want to know about.

Queen, Duke Dance On Eve of World Tour

LONDON (AP)—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh danced until 3 a.m. today in a final fling before their departure Monday night for a trip around the world.

With some 40 close friends, they celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary at a secretly-planned dance in the ballroom of Clarence House, their former home, now the residence of Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. Between dances, the party laughed at cabaret acts by stage stars Noel Coward and Peter Ustinov.

Then the royal couple went off to Windsor for a last visit with their children.

The Queen will leave the fogs of Britain Monday night for sunny southern islands and a trip around the world.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will be away six months on a trip designed to give thousands of her subjects a glimpse of their 27-year-old monarch. It will be the first time a British sovereign has made an around-the-world tour.

WINNIPEG (BUP) — The Winnipeg Blue Bombers fought into Grey Cup competition today by overwhelming the surprisingly strong Toronto Balmy Beach club 24-4 before 16,900 shivering fans here.

The victory gives Winnipeg a crack at either the Montreal Alouettes or Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Toronto's Varsity stadium next Saturday in the annual battle for the Canadian football title.

The Beaches, champions of ORFU, played top-notch ball — sparked by import quarterback Bob Schneidenbach. But the western champion Blue Bombers threw three quarterbacks and all their pro experience against the visitors.

Balmy Beach outplayed Winnipeg, to take a four-to-nothing lead in the first quarter, but never succeeded to score again. Winnipeg went ahead eight-to-four by halftime, and scored another 16 points in the last half.

Neill Armstrong, Ron Kelly, Len Meltzer and Ernie Becker accounted for the Winnipeg touchdowns.

Bud Korchak converted two of the majors, and Buddy Tinsley and Tom Harpley were credited jointly with the safety touch.

For the Beaches, import Dick Gregory booted one field goal, and Canadian George Ellis kicked a single.

Two dozen Winnipeg policemen fought an unsuccessful fight to save the goal posts as the jubilant fans swarmed on to the field and carried them away after the game.

Prominent North Pole Citizen Arrives

With a "Ho, Ho, Ho!" and a "Ha, Ha, Ha!" The Old Gentleman himself arrived in Victoria today, his cheerful grin and beaming face shiny through the drizzling rain which failed to dampen the excitement of hundreds of youngsters who mobbed him on city streets. Santa Claus will be in residence here until the Big Day comes, checking on the records of good little boys and girls, and listen to their requests for Christmas. He turned up first at 8.45 a.m., and at 11 a.m. visited City Hall, where he was introduced to Mayor Claude Harrison by Uncle Ed Farey. (The Mayor said Santa needed no introduction). Later, in his sleigh pulled by six reindeers, the jovial saint toured the city, with two small guests from the Protestant Orphanage, nine-year-old Skipper Ward and Barbara Hudson. Good-behavior graphs of boys and girls is rising rapidly. (Times Photo.)

TRANSIT STRIKE TIES UP MONTREAL

MONTREAL (BUP) — Some 3,000 streetcar and bus drivers quit work today for a "continuous meeting" that tied up public transport for more than 1,000,000 persons on the busiest day of the year.

An official of the city-operated Montreal transportation commission said "there isn't a thing moving, and we don't know when we'll resume operations."

Meanwhile organizers of Montreal's annual Santa Claus parade decided today "the show must go on" regardless of a streetcar strike.

1,327 MPH Hit By U.S. Pilot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Research pilot Scott Crossfield power-dived the Douglas Skyrocket twice the speed of sound Friday, it was announced today. Crossfield attained a speed of 1,327 miles an hour which the national advisory committee for aeronautics said was actually 2.01 times the speed of sound. This is the fastest man has ever flown.

Only last week it was disclosed that Crossfield flew the Skyrocket 1,272 miles an hour Oct. 14 for a world speed record.

The previous mark was set by the same Skyrocket airplane, with Douglas test pilot William Bridgeman at the controls in Aug., 1951, with a speed of 1,238 miles an hour.

The record set Friday beats the previous mark by more than 50 miles an hour and is almost 100 miles an hour better than Bridgeman's mark.

The needle-nosed Skyrocket, now nine years old, also holds the world's altitude record of 83,235 feet, set by Marine Lt.-Col. Marion Carl last Aug. 21.

Langley Demands Inquiry; Marshal Denies Arson

Harry Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road, prominent district Social Crediter, has filed a writ in B.C. Supreme Court here charging "negligence" of the law firm of Clearihue and Gregory in the matter of acquisition of property in which he had an interest

The writ was delivered to Liberal by-election candidate George Gregory personally by Mr. Langley, 15 minutes after the court registry office closed Friday.

Joseph B. Clearihue, QC, former senior partner in the firm, is now a County Court judge.

The action is brought in connection with the sale of the Pemberton Estate, located at 617 Foul Bay Road, destroyed by fire March 25 this year.

In a statement delivered personally to the Times today, Mr. Langley also demanded an investigation into destruction of the Pemberton residence by the blaze.

MARSHAL QUERIED

Fire Marshal W. A. Walker of Vancouver today told the Times that the situation "does not warrant further inquiries."

In his statement, the Socred party member said he was not so much interested in "who actually set the fire, but who employed and instructed this man to do the job."

Loss of the house was unofficially estimated at $50,000.

"The police are informed who set this fire, which was described by the fire chief and fire marshal as deliberate arson," Mr. Langley charged.

NO EVIDENCE

However, today the marshal said "there is nothing to indicate arson occurred there, but he (Harry Langley) keeps on pestering me."

He said an investigator from his department had come to Victoria and had "got all the facts." Mr. Walker said he could not go into details because his records were in his office and the affair happened so many months ago.

The marshal did say, however, that if Mr. Langley had any information about who started the blaze, he should "take it to the police."

Police Chief Blackstock, when told of the Langley statement, said "of course we don't know who set the blaze. If we did he'd be locked up."

Gregory Replies

Mr. Gregory said when asked about the writ served him by Harry Langley:

1. Mr. Langley had a letter in the paper only yesterday supporting the Social Credit party.
2. I am the Liberal candidate in Tuesday's election.
3. Mr. Langley's claim relates to something that is supposed to have occurred in July, 1949.
4. Mr. Langley apparently could not find even a Social Credit lawyer who saw any merit in his case, for he issued the writ in person.
5. The writ was served on me by Mr. Langley personally yesterday 15 minutes after Court Registry closed for the week-end.
6. The public can decide whether Mr. Langley issued the writ to obtain justice or political advantage.

HANDS POISONED

30-Mile Trek Faces Man and Wife

Stricken with blood poisoning in her hands, Mrs. Gerry Wellard, wife of the West Coast Carmanagh lighthouse keeper, began a 30-mile trek on foot Friday over a rugged trail to Port Renfrew in order to receive medical assistance.

The woman is accompanied by her husband and is expected to reach Port Renfrew this evening.

Tom Morrison, department of transport agent, said the couple will have to cross canyons and ford swift moving rivers to get to their destination. "They will no doubt be exhausted by the time they get to Port Renfrew," he said.

Mrs. Wellard could not be taken out by boat because there are no harbors on that part of the coast.

Pearson Says Cabinet to Make Decision on Gouzenko Request

OTTAWA (BUP)—The second request of United States Senate investigators for permission to question Igor Gouzenko in connection with the Harry Dexter White case, was tossed today into the lap of the Canadian Cabinet for a decision.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said "everything" the former Russian cipher clerk had told of Soviet spying since he fled from the Russian Embassy here eight years ago "has been made available to United States authorities."

But he said the second request from the Jenner sub-committee on internal security for permission to interview Gouzenko would be "considered by me and my colleagues." He told a hastily called press conference that a reply would be sent to Washington "probably sometime next week."

Pearson's announcement was taken to mean that the case had been lifted out of the hands of the external affairs department for a review by the full cabinet. Pearson and Justice Minister Stuart Garson conferred on the matter this afternoon.

One such request has been rejected by Canada. Pearson warned reporters today against "speculating" on what the decision on the second request might be.

(A news story in the Chicago Tribune today quoted the former Soviet clerk as saying he could not understand "why United States officials could not come here to interview me. I believe I can give advice which, if properly put into effect, would have good chances of bringing the exposure of present Soviet spy rings in the United States in a comparatively short time.")

Pearson pointed out that Gouzenko is a Canadian citizen "with all the rights and privileges of a citizen." He can go where he wishes and talk to whomever he pleases, the minister said.
